CARRANZA GOVERNMENT IS LIKELY TO BE RECOGNIZED

PAN-AMERICAN CONFEREES DECIDE TO MEET AGAIN IN THREE WEEKS TO DECIDE ON THE DE FACTO GOVERNMENT—TO FOLLOW LEAD OF UNITED STATES.

VILLA STILL HAS A CHANCE

If Ex-bandit Can Show That His Forces Control More of Mexico His Faction Will Be Recognized by All American Nations—Statement Is Issued.

New York, Sept. 18.—Secretary Lansing representing the United States government and the diplomatic representatives of Brazil, Chile, Argentina, Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala, resolved at their meeting here today that the time had come for the extension of formal recognition to a government in Mexico.

Three weeks from today another meeting of the conference will be held in Washington, at which a decision is to be made on which one recognition should be offered.

A formal statement issued by the conference declared that inasmuch as the factions themselves had failed to come to an agreement, recognition would be accorded to the defacto authorities possessing the "material and moral capacity necessary to protect the lives and property of nationals and foreigners."

Each of the several governments, it was announced, would "itself judge such capacity and recognition will likely be extended by each government separately at such time as it may deem proper."

Unless the military situation in Mexico takes a decided turn within the next three weeks, in favor of General Villa, who has concentrated his forces for battle with General Obregon, the Carranza commander in chief at Torreon, most of the conferees were of the opinion that the Carranza government would logically be entitled to recognition.

The several governments will endeavor to learn, however, not only what territory each faction controls but what promise of stability each gives.

The United States will seek to form its judgment through long and exhaustive reports from its consuls supplemented by personal conferences in Washington between Secretary Lansing and representatives of all elements.

They will be heard impartially as to their claims and members of the Pan-American conference can attend such informal conferences or hearings if they desire, but no obligation is imposed on any of the Pan-American governments to join the United States in such a course.

Today's conference lasted nearly three hours, after which the following statement was issued:

Statement Given Out.

"The conference held in New York on the 11th of August in addition to deciding upon the transmission of the telegram addressed to the persons constituted in authority in Mexico inviting them to cease the struggle by the organization of a de facto government by common agreement among them resolved to recommend to the governments represented at it, the recognition without further analysis of the government arising out of such agreement, provided it guaranteed the lives and property of nationals and foreigners' and in the event of such agreement not being possible, 'the recognition of any provisional government with the material and moral capacity necessary to protect the lives and property of nationals and foreigners.'

"In pursuance with this resolution and the impossibility of recognizing a government of all factions, owing to the lack of such agreement, the diplomatic representatives resolved at the last conference to refer to their respective governments, and in their judgment the time has now come to carry out the policy agreed on at the conference of the 11th in case of the impossibility of recognizing a de facto government springing from a common agreement of all the factions. Therefore, the de facto government aspiring to recognition must possess, should this policy be approved by all the governments, the material and moral capacity necessary to protect the lives and property of nationals and foreigners. Each government shall itself judge such capacity and recognition will likewise be extended by each government separately at such time as it may deem proper. Recognition will naturally entail as a result an appointment of diplomatic representatives accredited to the head of the government recognized.

"The American diplomatic representatives hold that in adopting this resolution and in considering the situation of Mexico at previous conferences, as well as in addressing to the persons constituted in authority in Mexico the circular of August 15, last, they merely exercised in the most judicious manner possible the indisputable international right of taking the preliminary steps toward the recognition of a de facto government in case of civil war, vested in all governments, without thereby interfering directly or indirectly in the international affairs of Mexico, an interference which has not at any moment been contemplated. It has always been the sense of the conference that the pacification of Mexico is a question to be exclusively decided by the Mexicans themselves, and it trusts that a government recognized by all the governments of the world will be able to attain that result and assure the welfare of the sister country."

Will Follow U. S.

While some of the conferees may, at the end of three weeks, reach different opinions as to the government that ought to be recognized, confi-

Damaged Yawl Is Picked Up in the Gulf Near Mobile

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 18.—A badly damaged yawl bearing the name, "King Edward," picked up in the gulf today off Fort Morgan, near this city, is believed to be the wreckage of the Russian ship King Edward, which sailed from Sabine, Texas, Aug. 8, for Buenos Aires, Argentina. The vessel has not been spoken or reported since that date and is believed to have been wrecked in the hurricane which swept the Caribbean Sea last month. The King Edward was a ship of 1,657 tons, commanded by Captain Nygard.

Mexicans Wounded by U. S. Troops Are Taken to Matamoros; Citizens Excited

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 18.—Arrival of sixteen wounded Mexicans at Matamoros was reported tonight. It was said that their arrival created much excitement, that crowds gathered about the hospital and made threats. After the arrival of this information, all communication with Matamoros closed for the night. It was said that these wounded men came from the region of the recent Donna fight between American soldiers and Mexicans.

At least six Mexicasn, and possibly nine were killed in yesterday evening's fight with American soldiers across the Rio Grande near Donna, about sixty miles up the Rio Grande from here. Colonel A. P. Blocksom went today from Fort Brown to investigate. His investigation disclosed that two American soldiers, unarmed, went down to the Rio Grande yesterday afternoon to get a drink of water. While there they were fired upon from the opposite bank of the river about six hundred yards up stream. The men shooting at them were concealed behind a point made by a bend of the river. Still further up the river on the American side a squad of ten American cavalry men, comrades of the two under fire, heard the shooting and hurried down the river. They came upon the river bank above the point where the men on the Mexican side were firing. They saw several men on a sand pit in full view and these men were still shooting down toward the drinking place. The cavalrymen opened fire, dropping six of the men on the sand pit. These six never rose again. The others scrambled up the bank and then the band of men, estimated at perhaps forty or fifty, began firing from cover of the brush upon the soldiers. The top of a tent could be seen behind the low trees which sheltered these men. One of the American soldiers climbed a tree from which he opened fire on the Mexicans. Other American troops arrived in the vicinity until there were about twenty-five Americans engaged in the fight which gradually diminished until it stopped altogether. Today three carts were seen to carry bodies away from the place where the Mexicans had fought. Some American observers thought the bodies included three dead not included in those killed on the sand pit.

The third Mexican community on the American side within three days to appeal for protection of the American troops sent a delegation today to Colonel R. L. Bullard at Harlingen, asking for troops at the Asadon ranch which is a community entirely composed of Mexicans, southwest of Sebastian, some distance back from the international boundary. Eight men, which is the regular patrol for such requests, was furnished the Mexicans. These Mexicans said that they were afraid of bandits, that they were American citizens, entitled to protection of troops the same as Americans of this section and that they did not wish to be driven off their property.

The cavalry patrol at Santa Maria, on the river about twenty-five miles above here reported today that last night before dark a man tried to swim across the river from the Mexican side. When he had disregarded several warinngs to stop, soldiers said they fired at him and that he disappeared.

Carranza authorities here today did not issue any statement to reconcile the discrepancy in the statement of their soldiers in the Brownsville fight yesterday, with evidence gathered on the American side that American soldiers were fired on first and that the Americans were forced to shoot in self defense and to save the life of their lieutenant. A Carranza soldier who was wounded in this fight was still alive in a Matamoros hospital today.

General E. P. Nefarrate, Carranza commander at Matamoros, today started to Monterey, where he was called for a conference with General Jacinto Trevino. The nature of the conference was not disclosed. It was reported several days ago that Nafarrate might be sent to some other point in command of another Carranza army.

Can You Find the Queen?

Can you tell the difference between a queen and an ordinary person, when the queen is dressed just like an ordinary person? It'll be hard to do, because with the lights and the music and the merriment downtown tomorrow night, every girl will look like a queen.

Have you the Sherlockian power to look into a face and read the secret behind the mask?

Do you want to be the hero or the heroine of the Style Show Monday night?

If you do, come down and join in the search for the Style Show queen.

She will come upon Austin avenue at 7:30. A giant searchlight from the top of the Amicable building will throw its halo about her as she wanders through the crowds up and down the street. She may be that pensive girl that is gazing longingly at the filmy fabrics in the corner window. She may be that laughing girl right at your elbow that is watching the antics of some of the carnival crowd.

If you find her you will have the honor of escorting her to the director's stand, and will be allowed to present her with a huge bouquet of flowers that will be furnished by President W. W. Naman of the Y. M. B. L. You will also get your name in the papers, and last but not least will receive $25 in gold from the directors.

If you are neither very discerning nor the possessor of the Sherlockian power nor the desire to be a hero, come downtown anyway and watch those more gifted ones in their search.

Of course, that's not the only reason why you should come downtown Monday night.

Monday night is going to be one of the most glorious events that ever set Waco tingling with enjoyment.

Monday night the Style Show opens.

Of course you're coming.

So are we.

SUMMARY OF WAR

Count von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, has been empowered by his government, it is authoritatively stated, to negotiate terms of settlement for the submarine problem with the United States. The ambassador is in possession of complete information concerning the wishes and policy of Germany and it is hoped in Berlin a full settlement of the matter can be arranged in Washington without delay and without further complications.

Foreign Minister von Jagow, in an interview in Berlin, says that while the German government could not well repudiate the report of its submarine commander, the evidence furnished by the United States regarding the sinking of the Arabic would be given careful consideration. There was room for a difference of opinion, he declared.

The foreign minister stated that the whole German government stood behind the policy that passenger steamers of nations at war with Germany would not be attacked without warning if they respected the maritime code and that explicit instructions to this effect had been given the submarine commanders.

He expressed the belief that the possibility of further trouble over developments in connection with Germany's submarine policy had not been virtually eliminated. Germany would gladly enter into conversations, he said, which it might be hoped would lead to a full agreement and bar the possibility of future difficulties.

A joint note has been delivered in Bulgaria by the entente allies asking in effect that Bulgaria define her position, making it clear whether she casts in her lot with the allies or with the central powers. The note is not an ultimatum, but is said to be of such a nature that Bulgaria can scarcely avoid making known her determination one way or the other.

The Russian city of Vilna, which the Russians have held so stubbornly, has been nearly surrounded by German troops and its fall seems not far distant. Field Marshal von Hindenburg's forces have broken through at several points west of Vilna and are driving the defeated Russians before them. German army headquarters declares. Only one railroad outlet, that to Lida, remains to the Russians.

Field Marshal von Mackensen, after capturing Pinsk and clearing the marshes nearby of the Russians, is driving further on and taking numerous prisoners.

In the south, where the Russians still claim to be on the offensive, gaining victories and making important captures, Berlin declares German troops to have begun to drive the Russians back.

On the western front the French war office reports a continuance of artillery engagements. Berlin states that an attempt by French to recapture a trench section recently won by the Germans near Perthes was frustrated.

Workmen on strike in Petrograd factories have been notified to return to work forthwith under penalty of court martial.

A Vienna official statement admits a retirement of the Austrian forces in the section of the fortress triangle of Rovno, Dubno and Lutsk, in Volaynia. In the face of superior numbers of Russian troops the Austrians have fallen back to prepared positions further west.

Russian military experts believe an exceptionally strategic period has begun on the Russian north and west front, according to a semi-official statement issued in Petrograd. It is said everything leads to the belief that the already desperate battle going on in this section will shortly become a general conflict, greater than anything fought since the battle of Warsaw.

FURTHER TROUBLE EXPECTED IN MEXICO

VILLA DISCLAIMS RESPONSIBILITY IN NORTH AND REIGN OF TERROR IS LOOKED FOR.

Washington, Sept. 18.—General Villa's disclaimer of responsibility for the acts of lawless bands in the territory under his control and indications that Chihuahua nd Sonora are to become scenes of renewed military activity, prompted the state department to renew its instructions to consular agents to advise Americans to leave northern Mexico. The correspondence on the subject between Secretary Lansing and Enrique Llorente, Villa representative here, was made public tonight by the latter.

On September 15 Mr. Llorente wrote:

"The provisional government has been unofficially informed that the department of state has instructed consular officers and American citizens in territory controlled by the convention forces in northern Mexico to depart from their ports and repair to the United States. This action is said to have been based upon their alleged inability to secure from local military authorities adequate guarantees. In view of this reported step, which, if confirmed, would seem to indicate a grave apprehension on the part of the department as to the ability of the provisional government to maintain order and give adequate protection to resident foreigners and their interests, within said territory, I am directed by General Villa to respectfully inquire whether the reported action is true, and, if so, to express his deep regret that it should have been taken without affording him opportunity to remedy any wrong act, or to remove any feeling of insecurity that might exist on the part of those lives and properties he considers it his duty to safeguard and protect. I would be most thankful to your excellency for an early reply."

On September 17 Mr. Lansing wrote in reply:

"In acknowledging receipt of your letter of September 15, 1915, regarding the departure of American citizens from Mexico, I beg to inform you that the department on September 11 renewed its instructions to the American consular officers at Ciudad Juarez, Chihuahua, Torreon, Durango, Nogales, Hermosillo and Guaymas, to advise Americans to leave their districts. This action was taken merely as a precautionary measure to avoid indignities such as have recently been suffered by Americans at the hands of lawless bands in Chihuahua and Sonora. Also in view of the fact that the districts mentioned are apparently soon to become the scene of military activity, it was decided to have American citizens withdraw temporarily, so as to avoid annoyances to all parties concerned and to prevent, insofar as possible, serious complications.

"With reference to the state of Sonora the department has received so many complaints of raids of Yaqui Indians in the Kaqui valley and of seizures of the persons of American citizens there and in other parts of Sonora that the withdrawal of Americans from that state was deemed advisable. The consular officers have been instructed to leave their posts fi in their opinion conditions warrant them in taking such a step.

"The department perceives nothing unusual in the instructions referred to in your letter. For example, the department's responsibilities throughout Mexico have been repeatdly instructed since April, 1914, to advise Americans to leave Mexico and the American representative at Mexico City has had standing instructions ever since April of last year to advise and assist Americans to leave that place.

"The consular agent at Los Mochis was recently given similar instructions and not a few consuls in other places have been directed from time to time to advise Americans to withdraw temporarily from Mexico. In this connection I may add that the department was influenced to reiterate its advice to Americans by the receipt of a message from General Francisco Villa in which the latter, in effect, disclaimed responsibility for the acts of lawless bands and bandits in the territory under his control."

Torrean Is Evacuated.

El Paso, Sept. 18.—Torrean has been evacuated by the forces of General Villa, according to official advices received here. General Villa and his staff left on the last troop train early today for Chihuahua City. Inability of the Villa forces to obtain supplies with which to advance against General Obregon's Carranza forces made the position untenable.

Plans for splitting the Villa army into mall bands for the purpose of raiding Obregon's line of communication were reported by refugees who arrived today by the hundreds.

The evacuation of Torreon was was accomplished only after every foreigner who wished to leave had been offered every facility, according to reports.

Generals Felipe Angeles, Roque Gonzales Garza, Raoul Madero, Miguel Lombardo, Francisco Escudero and Enrique Llorente were announced today as the representatives of the Villa government to the Pan-American conference on peace in Mexico. Garza is now en route to Washington. It is semi-officially stated that they will declare the Villa government has been guided in its conduct by the desires of the United States and will ask what is to be its reward.

Gen. Manuel Chao is reported tonight to be en route to Long Beach, Cal., to join his wife. Villa officials, however, declared he was in Juarez. He has not obtained a permit to cross the border, it is said.

Jose Maria Maytorena, Villa governor of Sonora, today officially reported the defeat of the Carranza forces at Santa Barbara, Sonora. The report said:

"Today at 10 o'clock, shortly after we left Mascarenas, our vanguard encountered the enemy's cavalry, which fled and was overtaken in Santa Barbara. There we captured eight and killed twelve. We are still pursuing the enemy."

STILL A VARIANCE OF OPINION ON LOAN

BANKERS WANT BETTER TERMS THAN INVESTORS GET IN ALLIED CREDIT SUM.

New York, Sept 18.—The end of today's brief business session found the situation unchanged with respect to the variance of opinion over the proposed Anglo-French credit, except perhaps that some of the American financiers were adhering more firmly to the idea that banks subscribing to the big loan should receive terms better than those given to the investor.

Over this and the matter of including munitions of war within the scope of the loan's operations, there was still marked difference of opinion between some American bankers and the Anglo-French financial commission. These bankers want to have munitions excluded from the list of exports to be paid from the proceeds of the loan, it is reported, while the commission is said to be of the opinion that munitions should be included.

Notwithstanding many rumors to the contrary there was every indication tonight that an adjustment of difference over these and other minor proposals was still far from accomplishment. During the day it was reported that an agreement virtually had been reached and that the success of the plan would be announced shortly perhaps on Monday. This was too optimistic, in the opinion of those who profess to know precisely what the situation is.

As to the amount of the loan, the commission asked for a billion dollars, while the American bankers had hardly considered more than half that sum as an outside figure. There is good reason, apparently to believe that the commission will be satisfied with $600,000,000 to $800,000,000; and there seemed tonight good reason to believe that they would win on this score, too.

The third detail is the interest rate. Bankers here had thought they would receive something for their services in underwriting the loan. The commission, it is understood, entertained no such opinion. With the exception of a vigorous minority of objectors, the financiers, from what can be learned tonight, had been prepared to surrender that point as well to the British and French visitors.

There is, however, a growing demand that the bankers be afforded better terms notwithstanding the reported declaration of the commission that London and Paris will not pay any more than five per cent. The opposition to this stand on the part of the Americans bids fair, it is said, to stiffen to the same degree as the opposition to having munitions included within the scope of the loan.

In their negotiations with the commission, the American financiers apparently have had in mind continually the blow which might be dealt American industry should the commissioners fail in their work.

At the beginning of parleys, it was said that the commissioners pointed out that the estimate of the loan in their opinion was more vital to America than to either Great Britain or France. Today, nine days after the commission's arrival here, the impression seemed to be gaining ground that, perhaps, this dark picture was painted with a purpose, and that in reality neither Great Britain nor France would let details of minor importance shut to them the door of the only great world market now left open. So far, if reports be true, the commission has hardly budged from its original tentative proposals The time has now come, many American bankers feel, for Great Britain and France to make concessions.

Significance was attached to the drop in sterling today from 4.73 to 4.69½, a loss of three and one half cents over night. This could hardly happen, it was thought, if arrangements for the loan had reached definite form.

The Christian Endeavorers of the Second Presbyterian church will have charge of the service tonight at 8 o'clock. The topic will be "World Ideals, and How Foreign Missions Will Promote Them." Daniel 2:36-45. Leader, Joe Tucker. All active Endeavorers are urged to come. Other Endeavorers and strangers are always welcome.

TEXAS TELEPHONE CO. BUYS SWITCHBOARD

CONTRACT LARGEST CLOSED BY INDEPENDENT CONCERN IN RECENT YEARS.

Work of Clearing Site for New Building Commenced—Morning News Is Thanked.

"In behalf of the Texas Telephone company, I want to thank the Morning News for its editorial last Monday entitled 'A Progressive Corporation,' and for the interest your paper has taken in the arrangements our company has planned for the comfort and convenience of its female employes," said President J. B. Earle of the telephone company to a representative of the News Saturday. "We are proud of the fact that in designing our new building for Waco we have given special attention to the welfare of the women in our service, and also that our efforts in this direction are appreciated by the press, and also, we believe, by the public as well."

Mr. Earle showed to The News representative a two-page advertisement in this week's issue of "Telephony," a telephone magazine, by the Garford Manufacturing company of Elyria, Ohio, in which the manufacturing company announced that the Texas Telephone company has closed a contract with it for the new switchboard for Waco.

"This is the largest contract closed by any independent company in recent years," the advertisement states, "and the citizens of Waco are assured of having the very best telephone service it is possible to give and are to be congratulated on the policy of their company to give them the best to be had."

The contract, as stated in the advertisement, includes the large common battery multiple switchboard, with all late service features, and also a large multiple toll board, information desk, observation desk, chief operator's desk and local and toll test boards. The telephone company has been assured by the manufacturer that work on the new switchboard is proceeding nicely, and that it will be ready by the time the building is prepared for it.

Work of clearing the site for the new building, on North Ninth street, between Austin and Washington streets, was started last week, and excavating for the basement and foundation will be started as soon as the final plans are completed by the architects.

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 18.—E. S. Carell was decreed the father of Roy, "mystery boy," for whom a legal fight had been waged for several months in various Tarrant county courts. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Delo of Quebec, Can., claimed the boy was their son who had been kidnaped many years ago. The court, however, refused to turn the boy over to Carell, saying his roving habits and financial condition precluded it. The judge will care for the boy now until he finds a satisfactory home for him. Later Carell will get him if he improves his mode of life and finances.

Notice to Subscribers.

Delivery routes in the City of Waco are in the hands of independent carriers, who buy their papers at wholesale prices. Subscription accounts are due them, not the Waco Morning News. They are under heavy bond, not only to give the best delivery service, but to pay for their papers each month. Their remuneration is the difference between the wholesale price and the retail price which they receive from subscribers. This margin of profit is such that they cannot afford to extend credit, except month by month. They are not required, and they are advised against, delivering the paper to anyone who does not pay in accordance with the above subscription terms. These carriers are all earnest, hard working men and they will appreciate any courtesy shown them.

The Morning News should be delivered throughout the city of Waco by 6:30 a. m., and subscribers failing to receive the paper at that time will confer a favor by phoning the Circulation Department, both phones 1132, and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of the Morning News will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the management.

LEVITATION.

Levitation is defined in the dictionaries as the act of making light or buoyant, but usage has given the word another meaning—a force operating contrary to that of gravitation by means of which objects may be carried upward from the earth without the use of physical energy. For centuries dreamers and scientists have sought for this mysterious law of nature which some believe was known to the ancients and employed in the building of such stupendous works as the pyramids of Egypt.

If the claims of an Italian engineer are substantiated by demonstration this wonderful secret has been discovered and the world will soon witness aircraft sailing through space without motors for lifting.

The Marstilles correspondent of the Petit Parisien reports that this engineer, Rota by name, has constructed an apparatus which, by the action of electric currents, can be elevated to a height of 2,000 to 3,000 feet and kept motionless or propelled in any direction at a speed of more than 100 miles an hour.

The apparatus is described as being spindle-shaped in form, twelve feet long and two feet in diameter and can carry a weight of ninety pounds. It is said to remain motionless in a wind of considerable velocity, but if the wind becomes very strong it rises automatically until it reaches a calmer region of the air. The invention is based upon reaction obtained from the electro-magnetic forces of the atmosphere.

If this generation had not witnessed the discovery of wireless telegraphy and the invention of the phonograph, the flying machine and other marvels we would be inclined to dismiss the claims of this Italian engineer as the vain imagining of a disordered mind, but in the light of the accomplishments of science in recent years we are not bold enough to be wholly skeptical of any new claim of discovery, no matter how marvelous or improbable it may appear to be. Nor will we indulge in the customary prediction that the perfection of this new marvel will put an end to warfare, for recent months have taught us that new and terrible engines of destruction, far from putting an end to war, have been employed to make war more horrible.

In the last half century man has wrested from nature many of her most closely guarded secrets, but we have no warrant for doubting that others even more marvelous remain to be discovered.

This much may be said for the boll weevil: He's a price booster.

"The Germans have shot their bolt."—Kitchener. The Russians knew it first—they felt it.

It's a safe bet that the American packers will not subscribe any part of the Anglo-French loan.

That's a fine motto of the Waco Y. M. B. L.: Never start anything you can't finish and finish everything you start.

Brazos navigation means as much for other towns along the river as it does for Waco. Now for a united pull.

Give the country women and girls a chance. McLennan county should cooperate with the A. & M. College in placing a woman county agent in this county to assist in organizing Girls' Canning clubs and teaching home economics.

NIKOLA TESLA'S FORECASTS.

The amazing possibilities of electricity are forecasted in an interesting article in the current issue of the Manufacturers' Record from the pen of Nikola Tesla, whose writing in the past have commanded much attention throughout the civilized world because of their dash, daring and brilliance. If one is to believe a portion of what Tesla says in summarizing on the future of the invisible but most powerful current known to the scientific world, he might well feel that the word impossible has no place in the English language.

Going back to the days of the ancients, Tesla declares Moses was a practical and skilled electrician, and he even goes so far as to say that it may be plausibly presumed that the vestal fires of the Romans were electrical. Despite these presumptions on the part of the writer it may be said that there was no progress in practical use of electricity from those early times until in very recent years.

Referring to the telegraph, telephone, incandescent light, phonograph, the Roentgen rays, wireless, radium and countless other uses to which electric current has been applied, in the last century, Tesla dares to say all this is nothing as compared to what the future has in store. One evidence of his confidence in what will be done with the powerful current gives an insight into his ideas of the possibilities. He says hundreds of millions of dollars will be saved annually by a comprehensive electrical plan for the mining, handling, transportation, storage and use of coal, and this applies as well to natural gas and mineral oil.

Tesla, passing by the possibilities of electrical improvements in the process of making steel, says that 4,000,000 horsepower could be developed annually in electrical generators, with new, efficient, extremely cheap and simple thermo-dynamic transformers, by utilizing the heat of the gases evolved in the manufacture of coke for blast furnaces, vast quantities of which are now wasted. Electricity, he says, could be used advantageously in the fixation of atmospheric nitrogen and production of fertilizers, for which there is unlimited demand. Pointing to the harnessing of waterfalls he says so far 7,000,000 horsepower have been developed in America, which is equal to the mechanical performance of 150,000,000 men. He goes further and declares that the time is very near when the precipitation of moisture of the atmosphere will be under control and then it will be possible to draw unlimited quantities of water from the oceans, develop any desired amount of energy and completely transform the globe by irrigation and intensive farming.

Accepting the fact that wireless transmission of power is a certainty, he says it is only a matter of a short time until every household may be provided with refrigeration through electrical ice machines. Vast is the possibility of propulsion of ships by the electric current and also the avoidance of collisions at sea by dispersing fogs with electric force and powerful penetrative rays. He even claims that it will be but a short time until the oceans are illuminated by wireless plants. Even the farmer will come in for a share of the improvements.

Tesla sees ahead and predicts great things in the simplification of telegraphy and telephony, use of the voice, electrically aided, in operating the typewriter, and even municipalities will utilize electric current, according to his analysis of possibilities, through new methods, for sterilizing water, annihilating smoke, absorbing dust and prevention of accidents on streets, elevated roads and subways. Needless to say anything of what he pictures in the way of improved methods, through electric appliances, in warfare, on earth, the sea and in the air.

The writer dismisses as uncertain and inefficient tides, waves and wind for use in the power of the future. Fuel, as now used, is branded by him as a wantonly wasteful method, and, coming down to the actualities, he says water power is by far our most valuable resource and that on this humanity must base its hopes for the future. "With its full development and a perfect system of wireless transmission of energy to any distance, man will be able to solve all the problems of material existence. Distance, which is the chief impediment to human progress, will be completely annihilated in thought, word and action. Humanity will be united, wars will be made impossible and peace will reign supreme."

DOWN WITH HAY FEVER.

The "Ker-chou Association," otherwise known as the American Hay Fever Prevention association, has launched a nationwide campaign against the lowly ragweed which is charged with the awful responsibility of making so many Americans miserable about this time of the year. According to the pamphlets being sent out by the association's president, Dr. W. Scheppegrell, of New York, the goldenrod has been much maligned as a disseminator of hay fever, only 15 per cent of the cases being traced to it. Two varieties of ragweed are the principal causes of the "sneezing sickness." The first variety, the common or wormwood ragweed, is most extensive in the northern states. The second variety, called the great ragweed, is the tallest member of the family and frequently grows to a height of twelve feet in the Southern states.

The irritating principle of both weeds is the spikelike flower, yellowish in color, so abundant that it will stain the clothing on passing through a field, and so light that it blows away upon the slightest puff of wind. The pollen is so abundant that if the weed be struck during the active stage it comes off in clouds. September is the month during which the ragweed is most active.

Thus we have another added to the long list of duties which have devolved upon the citizen. Swat the fly, eradicate the tick, diversify, safety first, starve the boll weevil, burn the ragweed—and come to the Cotton Palace.

HIGHER PRICES PREDICTED.

A representative of a big Eastern cotton mill predicts that both woolen and cotton goods will advance in price this fall. He bases his prediction on the Canadian demand for American fabrics and the short crop of cotton. To a Dallas News reporter this manufacturer said:

"There is a heavy demand for both woolen and cotton goods in Canada. Before the war the United States could not compete with England for the Canadian trade, but now the ad valorem and war taxes on Canadian manufactured goods amount to 40 per cent. This has necessitated such an advance in prices that the United States can undersell Canadian and English manufacturers in Canada. Half-woolen fabrics which are now retailing in the United States at 25c a yard are retailing in Canada at 50c. The United States is now for the first time selling dress goods in Canada. In England it is impossible to secure some of the dyestuffs, such as analine blacks. There is an enormous demand in Europe for duck goods for war purposes. Under the circumstances woolen goods must go higher and if the cotton crop is as short as it is said to be I should think cottons, also, must advance. Few if any of the mills have any accumulations of goods on hand."

If cotton goods are to advance in price, why shouldn't there be an advance in the price of cotton? The crop is short. That is now an admitted fact. The plant is growing, but there is a boll weevil on every limb waiting for the squares to appear.

As long as the price stays above 10c there will be much selling by farmers, but ample warehouse facilities and cheap money for cotton loans is a guaranty that this year's crop will not be dumped. Some of it is being sold, some of it is going into warehouses and many thousands of bales are being stored on farms.

While the crop is short there is no occasion for pessimism in Texas. Abundant feed crops have been made in every section of the state and, for once, cotton is a surplus crop for thousands of farmers.

AN AMERICAN ARMY MOBILIZES.

An army of Americans is mobilizing this week and next. Its members are conscripts, but, though service is compulsory, it is performed with the utmost cheerfulness. It is typically American, says the Cleveland Plain-Dealer. Instead of constituting a threat of militarism, it is one of the best guarantees the country has that militarism will never become an American vice. Some twenty millions comprise the army.

The reference, of course, is to the American public shool. Last year about 19,000,000 boys and girls were enrolled for study. The number increases year by year. Next week it will reach a figure suggestive of the combined forces now engaged in that other kind of war in Europe.

It is an impressive exhibition of peace-loving Americanism and a promise. Millions of boys will be taught those things that will fit them for lives of useful endeavor. The bulk of them will go into agriculture and the trades, helping to produce the world's store of wealth and getting, one hopes, a fair share of it for their trouble. Between twenty million youths in school and the same number of men fighting in trenches for they know not what, the contrast is significant.

Yet no full-blooded American will hope that anything these twenty million pupils may learn at school will make them one whit less ready to defend their honor and the honor of their country, if either is assailed. The last thing a public school should teach is that peace is worth any price that an outlaw individual or nation might choose to demand.

So the school bell rings, and America's great army of peace assembles. The trenches are on the playground. The ammunition will be found on well thumbed pages.

That camp of the prize winning boy corn growers at the Cotton Palace is worth more to the country than the much advertised military camp at Plattsburg, where millionaires played at soldiering.

Walk-Over Boot Shop

617 AUSTIN

History We opened one year ago in Waco and offered for sale the Walk-Over Shoe. Its sale has been exceptionally large and far in excess of expectations. We appreciate this compliment to Walk-Overs and to Waco's most up-to-the-minute Shoe Store.

You'll recall that the Walk-Over Shoe took the Grand Prize at the Panma-Pacific Exposition, the highest possible award for material, style and workmanship.

Waco Style Show Insist on Walk-Overs

For Men In Walk-Overs we offer a real line of Men's better footwear at popular prices. You not only get right prices in Walk-Overs, but the style, quality and workmanship are the best that skilled union labor can produce.

Tans and soft leathers are very popular again this season. Cloth and Suede tops are going to be worn. You will see these materials made up on handsome lasts and they will be fitted the right way—the Walk-Over way.

For Children Our completely new line of Children's Shoes are just what the children need for school time. We carry these in all practical widths and sizes. Our line includes Boy Scouts, patterns for Growing Girls, Play and Dress Shoes for children.

All these Children's Shoes are on Foot-Form lasts. We recommend nothing but Foot-Form Shoes for children. Buy the children's shoes early.

For Women Women's Boots for Fall 1915 are the prettiest footwear ever—Patent leather vamps in cloth tops, in Button, Front and Side Lace. At this time Button and Lace seem to be equally good. Bronze Boots are very good in either lace or button.

Novelties in various colors have a very limited call for better dressed feet, and soft glazed leathers on neat button and lace patterns are growing in popularity.

Future It is already widely known that the Walk-Over Boot Shop of Waco is one of the most conveniently and handsomely appointed shoe stores in Texas. We will carry at all times a complete line of Men's Women's and Children's Shoes in all leathers, styles and shapes.

The International Walk-Over Shoe is sold in over five thousand stores in one hundred and twelve countries and is recognized as the height of shoe perfection.

"Firm has taken out horse as requested.

"Overloaded goat driven by boy, boy promptly corrected.

"Unhitched team caught running away by officer; owner should have been fined, as it was an infringement on the majesty of the law.

"A sick horse killed for relief.

"Officer assisted in recapturing monkey, escaped from Cotton Palace zoo.

"By several owners' going to the cotton fields, many poor animals will have a season of rest, and we hope good grass.

GLACIER PARK ANOTHER ALPS.

Formed, in Dim Ages Before Man, by Shrinking of Earth's Skin.

Many hundreds, perhaps thousands, of people who never heard of the Glacier National park before this spring will visit it this summer. It has been a national park since 1910, but, in a period of uter public indifference to the glories of American scenery, it has passed almost unnoticed. Now that America has suddenly become aware that she possesses the most superb accessible scenery in the world, Glacier is destined to rapid recognition as the one real Switzerland of America. It is in northwestern Montana, close to the Canadian border line.

The park derives its name from its 60 glaciers; but here are more than 90 all told if one classes as glaciers many interesting snow patches of only a few acres each which nevertheless exhibit all the characteristics of true glaciers. Its scenery is strikingly Alpine yet it possesses individuality to a high degree. In ruggedness and sheer grandeur it probably surpasses the Alps while geologically it is markedly different.

It strongly differentiates also from other mountain scenery in America. Ice-clad Rainer, mysterious Crater Lake, spouting Yellowstone, exquisite Yosemite, beautiful Sequoia—to each of these and to all other of our National parks Glacier offers a highly individualized contrast.

Region of Remarkable Beauty.

To define Glacier National park, picture to yourself two approaching chains of vast umbled mountains which pass the Continental Dicide back and forth between them in wormlike twistings, which bear living glaciers in every hollow of their loftiest convolutions, and which break precipitately thousands of feet to lower mountain masses, which, in their turn, bear innumerable lakes of unbelievable calm, offspring of the glaciers above; these lakes, in their turn, giving birth to roaring rivers of icy water, leaping turbulently from level to level, carrying innumerable sculptured gorges of grandeur and indescribable beauty.

These parallel mountain masses form a central backbone for the National park. Their western sides slope from the summit less precipitately. Their eastern sides break abruptly. It is on the east that their scenic quality becomes titanic.

To really comprehend the personality of Glacier one must glance back for a moment into the geographical past when the sea or great lakes rolled over what is now the northwest of this continent. It was water that deposited the stratified sediments which are now these rocks.

Untold ages passed, and the sea or lake botom, under the urge of terrific forces hidden in the interior of the earth, lifted, emerged and became land. Untold ages passed, and the land hardened into rocks. And all the time the forces kept pressing together and upward the rocky crust of the earth. For untold ages this crust held safe.

Result of Titanic Upheaval.

At last the pressure won. The rocks first yielded upward in long iregular wave-like folds. Gradually these folds grew in size. When the rocks could stand the strain no longer, great cracks appeared, and one broken edge, the western, was thrust upward and over the other. The edge that was thrust over the other was thousands of feet hick. Its crumbling formed the mountains and the precipices.

When it settled the western edge of this break overlapped the eastern edge ten or fifteen miles.

This thrusting of one edge of the burst and split continent over the other edge is called faulting by geologists, and this particular fault is called the Lewis Overthrust. It is the Overthrust which gives the peculiar character to this amazing country, that and the inconceivably tumbled character of the vast rocky masses lying crumbling on its edges.

Today the visitor finds this the most wonderful combination of mountain tops in America, bounded by vertical walls sometimes 4000 feet in height diversified by many glistening glaciers and by beautiful timbered slopes leading down by graceful curves to the bottom of deep valleys. Scores of lakes are unsurpassed in sheer beauty by any even of Italy and Switzerland. There are more than 250 lakes in all.

How it Was Discovered.

Nor is this scenic wonderland merely a sample of the neighborhood. North of the park the Canadian mountains rapidly lose their scenic interest. South and west here is little of greater interest than the mountains commonly crossed in a transcontinental journey. To the east lies the plains. This region appears not to have been visited by white men before 1853, when A. W. Tinkham, a government engineer, exploring a route for a Pacific railroad, ascended Nyack creek by mistake and retraced his steps, when he discovered the impracticability for railroad purposes of the country he had penetrated. The next explorers were a group of surveyors establishing the Canadian boundary line. This was in 1861. In 1890 copper ore was found at he head of Quartz creek and there was a rush of prospectors. The east side of the Continental Divide, being part of the Blackfeet Indian reservation, was closed to prospectors, and congress was importuned for relief. In 1896 this was purchased from the Indians for $1,500,000, but not enough couuper was found to pay for the mining. Thereafter it was visited only by big-game hunters and occasional lovers of scenery.

A Curious Mineral.

Perhaps the most curious mineral found in the Unitel States is staurolite, otherwise known as the "fairy stone." This is an iron-aluminum silicate found only in Virginia and North Carolina, the reddish-brown and brownish-black crystals occurring in well-defined single and double crosses. There is some commercial demand for the crosses as curios, which are worn as watch charms or on chains in the maner of a locket or lavaliere—a demand perhaps stimulated by the quaint legend which is told of their origin; the fairies living in the caves of the mountains, on hearing the sad tidings of the death of Christ, fashioned these crosses as mementos of Him.

Splendid Medicine Stomach Trouble

I Suffered for Several Years Peruna Restored My Health

Mrs. Elizabeth Reuther, No. 508 Twelfth St., N. W., Washington, D. C., writes: "I am pleased to endorse Peruna as a splendid medicine for catarrh and stomach trouble, from which I suffered for several years. I took it for several months and at the end of that time found my health was restored and have felt splendidly ever since. I now take it when I contract a cold and it soon rids the system of any catarrhal tendencies.

Over Ten Years Ago.

"I would not be without Peruna. Although it was over ten years ago that I first gave you my testimonial, I am of the same opinion as when I wrote it, and give you the privilege to use it as you see fit. I still use Peruna when I think it necessary. I am recommending it to my neighbors whenever a chance occurs."

I Still Praise Peruna.

Peruna is undoubtedly a splendid medicine for the stomach. A great many people after years of searching for a remedy finally try Peruna and are cured. This remedy is especially helpful in cases of weakness of the stomach. Those who prefer to take tablets instead of liquid medicines can get Peruna Tablets.

GENERAL WM. BESELER, GOVERNOR OF ALL CAPTURED TERRITORY

COPYRIGHT UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD, N. Y.

Riga, Russia's most important port on the Baltic, must be taken at all costs, and the German general staff has assigned General von Beseler, the conqueror of Antwerp and Novo-Georgievsk, and popularly known in the Fatherland as the "Battering Ram," to smash his way through the Russian lines and capture the city. General von Beseler was last mentioned as governor of all Russian territory occupied by the Germans and due to his former triumphs he was placed in command of the campaign against the Russian port.

HISTORY OF SCOUT MOVEMENT IN WACO

FINE NEW CLUB HOUSE PLANNED

City Grants Right to Use Jim Baker Park, Handsome Thirty-eight-acre Tract, for Site.

The history of the local organization of Boy Scouts of America has been prepared by C. H. Machen, ex-president of the local council, and is as follows:

"The local Boy Scouts of America was organized in March, 1914, by Scoutmaster Nat Hays, then a student in Baylor university, working his way through school by running a pressing shop and doing such other odd jobs as came his way. Mr. Hays having made a close study of the local situation and also of the international scout movement, its meaning and advantages, conceived the idea of a local organization. He went out into the city and without help or encouragement induced five boys to meet him in his room where he organized the first patrol and was granted a scoutmaster's certificate by scout headquarters in New York. With this humble beginning Mr. Hays took up the work in Waco and ommenced the teaching of the high standards of the scout movement. From time to time other members were added to his patrol until he had acquired the required number for the organization of the second patrol, and so on he went without encouragement, assistance or pay until he had gathered around him more than half a hundred manly, noble and true little fellows studying the work and helping to exemplify the motto, 'Do a good turn daily' to all with whom they came in contact.

"Many good deeds have been wrought by Mr. Hays and his loyal band of brave little scouts, without notice from the public eye and without assistance or encouragement from any one. The usefulness of the local Boy Scouts first came to the notice of the people of Waco during the Baraca-Philathea worldwide convention, which met in Waco in June, 1914. At this time it was the Boy Scouts who came forward and volunteered to assist in taking care of the immense crowds that came here to attend this convention. They were on duty day and night, many of them spending the entire night on the lawn of the First Baptist church, where the convention convened. Not only did they run errands and give information, but met all trains, both day and night, carried grip baggage and waited on the guests of our city in every conceivable way. This was not only noticed by the Waco people, but many of the leading magazines throughout the United States made favorable mention of their splendid work during this convention. From this time on they began to receive encouragement and assistance from their local friends.

"During the year of 1914, a band was added to the organization, which was composed of scouts only. In the face of many struggles and difficulties this work and practie was kept up and before a great while the Boy Scout band made its debut before the public with much credit. During the summer of that year, thirty-two scouts, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Hays, spent two weeks in camp on the Bosqeu river. These two weeks were spent in the study of the movement and its meaning, together with the many enjoyable sports of camp life.

"The movement continued in its progress unassisted until the cold winter months came on and Mr. Hays had no place to bring his several troups together, but in his untiring search for headquarters he finally got the ear of the Y. M. B. L. After explaining the work and the undertakings of the movement, Mr. Hays got the consent of this organization to assist him by granting the scouts the privilege of meeting in the Y. M. B. L. rooms. Later, through the efforts and assistance of the Y. M. B. L., a local council of Boy Scouts of America was organized on Jan. 28, 1915, with 140 scouts in good standing and 18 members of the council. C. H. Machen was elected its first president, T. E. Hubby secretary and Scoutmaster Nat Hays was promoted to scout commissioner, his duty comprised the supervision of the work throughout McLennan county.

"During the first term of the council's existence, many things were done toward the promotion of the movement. Plans were laid for the future work. From time to time many of Waco's best citizens joined the local council. About three months after the council's organization money was raised to install a gymnasium. The next problem was a place to install the apparatus. A committee was appointed to secure a building to be used as scout headquarters and gymnasium. Through the goodness and generosity of the officers and directors of the Texas Cotton Palace association, permission was granted to use the machinery hall as a headquarters and gymnasium. The council then decided that the membership was too large for the boys to be properly guided and instructed without the entire services of some one capable of handling the work. At this time the council procured the entire time of Commissioner Hays on a regular salary. Up to this time no one had ever received pay for services rendered in the promotion of this work.

"During the month of July, 1915, Mr. Hays headed another band of scouts on a two weeks' camp on South Bosque river, where they were visited from time to time by many citizens of Waco and other places. This outing was considered to be one of the most successful ever had by any organization of boys.

"At the close of the first term of office of the local council, B. C. Nettles was elected president, A. L. Elliott secretary and Nat Hays re-elected scout commissioner.

"Since the organization of the council, up to this time, a regular monthly meeting has been held the second Friday night in each month. On account of the hot weather and many of the scouts being out of the city on vacation, there was no meeting held in August, however, the officers and committees were losing no time in executing the plans that had been made for the future welfare of the organization.

"Recently the council has acquired from the city of Waco the use of the Jim Baker park, consisting of thirty-eight acres, which lies directly west of Cameron park and north of Cameron Park Terrace addition to this city, and are making arrangements to erect in the very near future a Boy Scout club house at a cost of approximately $4,000. In this club house will be installed a library, baths, gymnasium and club rooms to accommodate the entire local organization. This thirty-eight acres of land, which is to be used for the exclusive use of the Boy Scouts of Waco, presents some of the most beautiful natural scenery that can be found in the state of Texas. Within this park there is a good location, and will be prepared, one of the best athletic fields in the city. The park will be divided into twelve sections. Each section will be held for individual use of each patrol. At the present time there are 190 scouts in good standing, eight scoutmasters, one scout commissioner and eighty active members of the local council."

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE RECORD EXPECTED TO BE BIGGEST YET

All attendance records will be broken when classes of the various public schools of the city meet tomorrow morning, is the expectation of the school authorities. The number of students which registered last Thursday was very little short of the entire enrollment last year, and it is regarded as certain that the number of pupils not already registered who will report for enrollment tomorrow morning, when the term opens, will carry the total number far beyond that of last year. There are no new school buildings to be occupied this year, but many of the buildings have undergone repairs and enlargements since school closed last June. Last year two new buildings, the North Waco school and the South Waco school were occupied for the first time.

Classes will meet and lessons will be recited tomorrow just as if it were in the middle of the term. Pupils were required to report at their school buildings last Thursday to be classified, receive book lists and be assigned lessons. No time will be lost getting down to work when the first bell of the year rings.

Principal Genheimer of the high school wishes to notify all pupils that no lunches will be served at the high school tomorrow. It was found that the lunch department could not be made ready in time. Lunches will be served as usual beginning Tuesday. Mr. Genheimer is confident that the enrollment at the high school will exceed last year s by a good margin.

Pat Cleburne Camp Will Meet Today

Will Bring in Good Oil Well at Malone.

I have just received a letter from Mr. G. W. McNeese of Malone, and he says there is a better showing of oil and gas now than it has been.

The news was satisfactory to me and it will be the same to the share holders of the company who are anxious to know if they will get something back for their investment.

I was up at Malone May 11, 1915, to make an inspection of the Malone oil field. Mr. Hunter of Waco went with me up there and Mr. McNeese of Malone went out with us to the well when inspected the oil field. I made my statement to those who were with me and when I came back to Waco also made my statement to Mr. Sam Sanger, Geo. M. Morse and Mr. John C. Collins. My statement was that they had a good oil pool of about 60 acres, and the depth to the oil was 1560 feet and I am not going to miss it more than ten feet. The amount of oil was 500 barrels the first 24 hours.

Equinoctial Storms Mostly Imagination Says Dr. Block

Wednesday is the autumnal equinox. Everybody knows that at that interesting period the days and the nights are equal because the sun "crosses the line," and most everybody expects some freakish weather about that time. Equinoctial storms, you know.

We passed the weather shop of Dr. Block, who is the official meterologist for the Morning News and the city of Waco, yesterday afternoon and there was the weatherman standing in the door and looking up at the sky to see if his instruments inside were telling the truth. We stopped.

"Well," we began, "guess we can expect some weather pretty soon. Equinoctial storms, you know——"

"Huh," snorted the Doc. "There's no such thing as equinoctial storms."

"But, Doc," we remonstrated, "what are you trying to hand us. I've heard all my life of equinoctial storms."

"No matter," says the scientific man. "It happens that we usually have some extra wind at this time of the year, as at certain other times, but the equinoxes have nothing to do with it. The whole significance of the equinox is told in the word itself which is made up of the two Latin words, 'aequus,' equal, and 'nox,' night. It just means that the days and nights are equal at that time. For that reason there are two each year, the vernal equinox in the spring and the autumnal equinox in the fall."

Well, there are lots of people wrong about it, then," we growled, peeved at having such an appealing superstition punctured by the matter-of-factness of science.

"Yes," countered the weatherman, also peeved at our seeming aspersion on his beloved science, "just like lots of people are wrong in thinking that the Liberty Bell was cracked in ringing out the news of the signing of the declaration."

We had no more to say. Now that the Liberty Bell is coming to Waco there has been a great revival of the mistaken idea that the bell was cracked "with the vehemence of its appeal for liberty" when the declaration was signed. Lots of people don't know that it was sixty years later, while tolling for the funeral of Chief Justice Marshall that the crack first appeared.

Pest Plant Turned to Good Account.

Experiments on water hyacinth have been carried on in French Indo-China for the purpose of turning to some profit the growth which encumbers the lower Bekong and other waters of Cochin China and Cambodia to such a degree that it has become a positive menace to navigation. The fibre produced by this plant, according to the London Engineer, has been used in the manufacture of rope, twine, matting, paddy sacks, boxes and chairs, cradles and other articles of furniture. It has been mixed with silk to form a somewhat stiff but durable cloth. Water hyacinth has now entered the commercial field as a rival of rattan rather than jute. It is stated that since April, 1911, the plant has been dried, compressed into briquettes, and used as fuel at Khartum and other points on the Upper Nile. These briquettes can be put on the market at $5.75 per ton, and it is said that tests made on a steamer on the White Nile have demonstrated that heir efficiency as a fuel equals that of the same amount of the best coral.

THEY WANT TO LEND WACO MONEY

Offers to lend the city of Waco $50,000 for five months at 3½ per cent interest were received from two big New York bankers by telegram yesterday by Mayor Riggins. Mayor Riggins was authorized by the city commission at its last meeting to have the note of the city for that amount extended for at least four months, upon his statement that he could get the extension at 3½ per cent.

The city is now paying 3 33-4 per cent on the $50,000 which comes due October 1, and which was borrowed some time ago to care for an overdraft in some of the maintenance accounts of the city government. One of the bankers wiring the mayor yesterday stated that it was probable that his firm could grant even a lower rate than 3½ per cent.

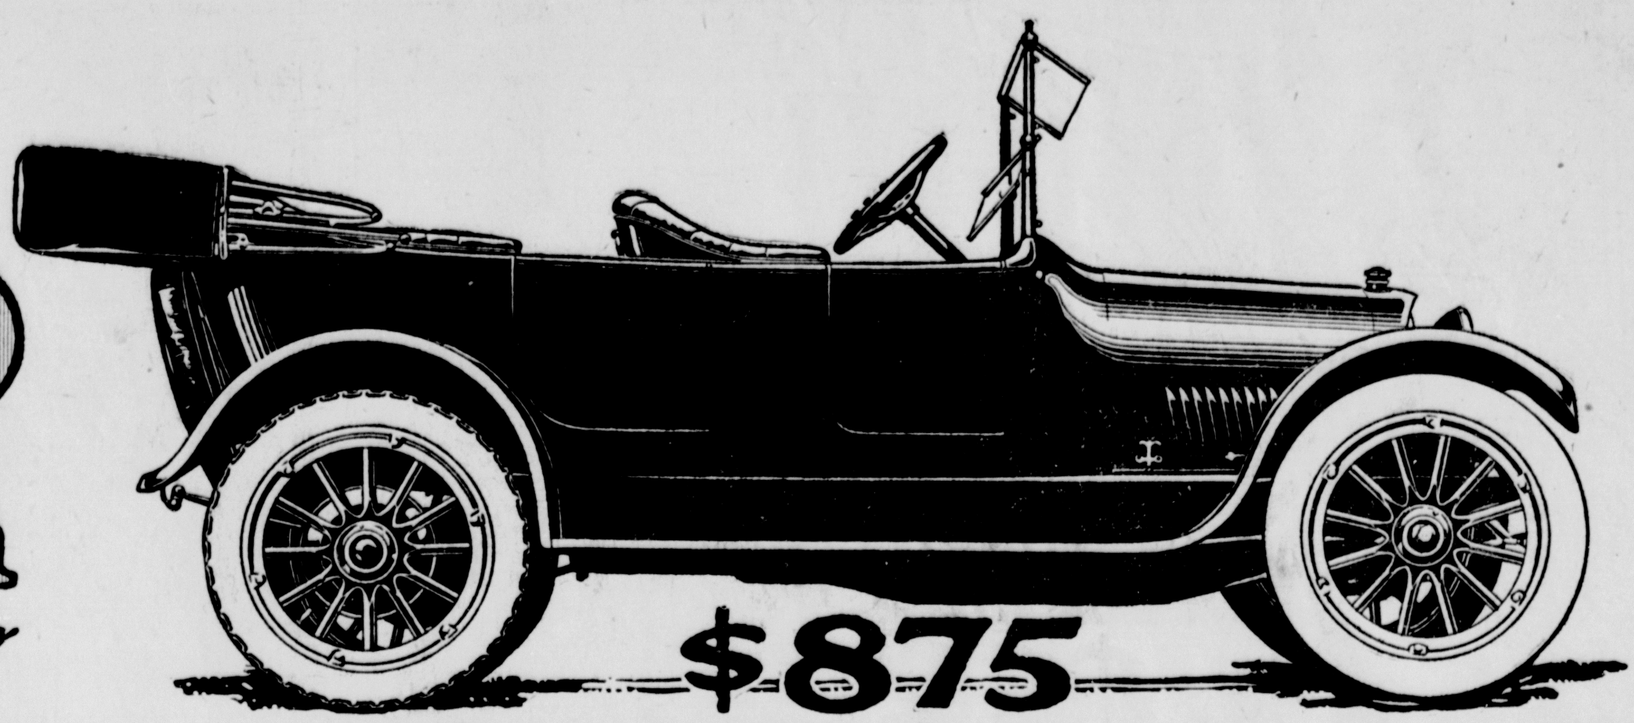
The New REO the Fifth

The Incomparable Four



Improvements and Refinements in the New Reo the Fifth—$875

CHASSIS: Remains practically the same as 1915. This great chassis has been recognized for the past five years as the standard American automobile chassis. It is unquestionably the most accessible automobile in the world—the simplest, therefore the cheapest, in which to make any repair or adjustment or replacement. Very small changes have been made in different parts of the mechanism. They are such as only an engineer would understand, and their purpose was to eliminate the slightest little sound, and to make this the most silent as well as the most accessible automobile in the world and to still further enhance facility of driving.

NEW BODY DESIGN: Lines have been changed slightly to conform with the latest fashions and to improve its already graceful appearance.

HOOD FASTENINGS: Same as those on the "Six." Facilitates lifting of hood without the usual inconvenience—just a little detail but of sufficient importance to merit our engineers' attention when it meant greater convenience for the Reo owner.

FENDERS: Redesigned. Of the modified "Crown" type, formed under our own big presses, and so rigid it will be impossible for them ever to shake loose or develop a rattle.

SPEEDOMETER AND AMMETER: Located in center where they can be seen by all occupants of the car—rear as well as front.

STARTING DEVICE: The same wonderfully reliable starter but with a new and improved "hook-up." The former famous Reo worm gear device has been replaced by chain drive. Worm was ideal but required lubrication occasionally to get best efficiency. Some drivers neglected it. Chain is "neglect-proof" and a trifle more efficient.

SPARK AND THROTTLE: Control levers now located on top of steering wheel. No better, but buyers seem to prefer it.

DOORS: New locking device—unlocks and locks more readily and certainly.

COLOR: Golden Olive.

HERE ARE THE NEW REO MODELS

Look at the Cars, Consider the Values, and When Your Astonishment Has Somewhat Abated

WE FEEL WE MUST EXPLAIN to our more intelligent readers why and how it is possible to place such cars in your hands at such unheard of prices.

FOR WITHOUT THAT EXPLANATION—without reasons so logical they must satisfy you—you could not understand, could not accept, these values as genuine.

OF COURSE THE PRICES ALONE would not astonish—might not even interest—you. For mere price taken by itself, indicates nothing to the intelligent buyer.

BESIDES YOU'VE BEEN SURFEITED with announcements of "big cars at little prices"—this year more than evere before.

MOST MAKERS SEEM TO HAVE LOST THEIR HEADS in the fierce battle of price competition. As a result you've seen price reduction that must, we think have indicated to your mind clearly one of two things—either that the value was not there last season or couldn't be this.

SO MERE PRICE—EVEN THESE sensational new Reo prices—would interest you only mildly if at all.

BUT KNOWING AS YOU DO REO STANDARDS of excellence in materials and manufacture; knowing as you do the Reo reputation for making only cars of sterling quality; knowing and estimating as you will, Reo integrity in selling as well as in making, you must marvel at these prices.

FOR TAKEN WITH THE QUALITY of these two famous Reo models, these prices represent the greatest values ever offered in an automobile—values greater than you had ever believed or hoped would be possible.

YOU KNOW THESE TWO REOS—you know that in all the world there have never been two models that enjoyed greater popularity.

DEMAND ALL LAST SEASON was many times greater than our ability to produce them—even in our big factories.

IF YOU WERE TO ASK US to state what, in our opinion, is the strongest thing that can be said about the Reo product for next season, we would say without a moment's hesitation, "We have no new model to offer." None of the grief that you and we know is inseparable from a new and untried car, to face during the coming months.

BOTH REO MODELS—Reo the Fifth, "The Incomparable Four," and the Reo Six—have long since passed the experimental stage. Both have been tried and proven—and not by factory testers, but by thousands and tens of thousands of owners, and in every land.

THINK WHAT THAT MEANS. Consider the satisfaction it is to us to know—to know absolutely—that every car that leaves this factory in the coming year will carry with it absolute satisfaction—absolute certainty of satisfaction—to its new owner.

THINK WHAT THAT MEANS to men whose hearts are in their work and who believe in carrying personal integrity into corporate affairs.

FOR WE REO FOLK ARE that kind of people—we state it not boastfully but just as a simple fact.

IT'S OLD FASHIONED, WE KNOW, and not considered "good form" in some circles these days.

BUT WE LIKE TO FEEL toward every man who buys a Reo car as if he were our next door neighbor whom we expected to see frequently and whom we'd meet gladly and with pride in the car we had sold him.

THIS YEAR OF ALL YEARS we are glad we have nothing radically new, nothing experimental—nothing even doubtful or questionable—to offer our hosts of friends.

OF COURSE WE CONSIDERED this matter from every angle. We are conversant—have been for months—with everything others were trying to do.

OUR ENGINEERS ARE JUST AS ALERT as others—just as enterprising and just as prone to experiment and to explore new and interesting fields. They enjoy working mechanical puzzles just as keenly as any. But—

MOST OF ALL WE CONSIDERED it from the standpoint of those thousands and thousands of friends who have learned to lean upon us secure in the belief that we will offer them nothing but that of which we ourselves are sure.

AND WE BASED OUR PLAN ON THE ASSUMPTION that what the great majority of intelligent buyers want is not novelty—not mechanical puzzles nor engineering legerdemain—but service. Just dependable enjoyable automobile service and low upkeep cost with minimum deterioration in value of the article from year to year.

"BUT THE PRICES?" YOU ASK. "Why and how were these necessary and possible? Why necessary—how possible, for this product, not merely as good as formerly, but better?"

"WHY—WITH A DEMAND that, all through last season was greatly in excess of the possible output of the factories, was it necessary, to reduce prices at all? And then, why so great a reduction?"

WE WILL ANSWER THAT QUERY.

IT WASN'T NECESSARY either to improve the quality or to reduce the price—except that it is and always has been the Reo desire to give Reo buyers greater value than could be obtained elsewhere and just as much more as our greater experience and superior facilities could give.

BUT IT WAS POSSIBLE—and that was sufficient.

THE REASON IS INTERESTING—interesting and instructive and makes mighty profitable reading to any prospective buyer of an automobile.

A COMBINATION OF FACTORS and conditions that are, we believe, unique with Reo, made these prices for these quality-cars possible.

WE MAINTAIN THAT NOWHERE ELSE in this industry do all these factors and conditions exist in combination as they do with Reo.

NO; PRICES OF MATERIALS HAD NOTHING to do with it. Prices of no important materials are lower, while prices of many are considerably higher than a year ago. And we have never known the time when it was so difficult to obtain materials as now!

ONLY WAY COST OF MATERIALS in a car can be reduced this year is by reducing quality of materials—using inferior or substitutes.

YES; THERE IS ANOTHER WAY—the simple expedient of reducing the amount of materials. In other words, reducing the weight of the car.

FOR IT IS A FACT THAT YOU CAN reduce the cost of an automobile twenty-five percent by the simple process of cutting the weight down that much. Some makers do—to the danger point, we believe!

REO CARS ARE LIGHT CARS—but not light to the point of flimsiness. They are as light as may be without sacrifice of safety or durability.

SO THAT EXPEDIENT of cutting down the amount of materials that go into the car was not to be thought of, any more than was the other of using materials of inferior quality or substitution.

IN THE MAKING OF REOS this year we are using—not better because they are not to be had—but the same quality of materials as formerly. So that isn't the reason for the lower price.

COST OF MAKING IS, HOWEVER somewhat less, thanks to the fact that in many ways we have been able to reach a still higher degree of efficiency.

ONE BIG ITEM IN COST REDUCTION of these two models was the fact that both had long since passed the experimental stage. That stage through which every new model must pass and which is therefore so dreaded by all manufacturers and experienced buyers—because it has proven so expensive to both.

WHEN WE TELL YOU that, had we found it necessary to project a new model to take the place of either of these, we would have set aside a fund of at least $100,000 to defray the cost of the experiment—and would have doubled the amount had our plans been to supplant both—you will see where we have been able to place to the credit of Reo buyers for the coming year a fund of at least $200,000.

IT TAKES AT LEAST THREE YEARS to perfect any new automobile model. Ask any manufacturer. Or call up your own past experience. Anyway it takes that long to get a car to the point of perfection where we are willing to offer it to Reo buyers and back it with the Reo guarantee.

ANOTHER ITEM THAT HELPED tremendously was the fact that the tool cost on both these famous models had long since been absorbed—charged off—permanently disposed of.

THAT IS A BIG ITEM. You'd be surprised—unless you also are a manufacturer—to know how big.

groomed and supplied with a leash, led by the mistress in her sport coat and outing boots, hat and whip. It may be that the cafeteria lunch will be in order during dog show days. It is assured that the kennels will be decorated as well as the arena for the award of prizes. More women, lovers of dogs, will rally to the women directors and make the Kennel Show one of the strong features of attraction during Cotton Palace season. The Shear home has some registered Boston Terriers, and the prospect is that Mrs. Shear's visit to the Chicago exhibition will add another of rare breed to the household pets.

Down in Houston, the Women's Fair will have a department of registered cats. It is suggested that this might be featured in Waco as well as in Houston, since the Louis Crow cats are in many homes. Mrs. Nelson Smith has a fine registered feline; so has Miss Kate Friend. If the subject is agitated, other mistresses of registerel animals will make themselves known. The outlook is good for a better grade of pets in Waco, and for a much more widespread interest than has so far been among the pioneer animal lovers.

MRS. FORMAN HOSTESS FOR MISS LUCILE HILL

As one of the friendship compliments to Miss Lucile Hill, the feted bride of the hour, Mrs. Frank Forman paid neighbor courtesy in a pretty rose luncheon for twelve on Friday. First named as guests were those within the city who had been selected to attend Miss Hill during her marriage ceremony. Mrs. Forman never fails to present an attractive table to invited guests. As said for this courtesy to Miss Hill she selected the rosebud. In tones of the bridesmaid pink, the center was made. Further towards table edge, a deeper tone was vased, while, on each plate was a bud of the rich red of true love. For Miss Hill this single stem was clustered into a corsage bunch. The courses came in six, each with its decorative touch. In this Mrs. Forman entertained the Misses Marian Duncan, Monette Colgin, Katherine Raynolds, Frances Luedde and Minnie Killough with the Mesdames Hal Moody, Leslie Gardner, Guy Witt, Wilbur Crawford and Pearl Lovelace.

GUESTS FROM OUT OF TOWN EXPECTED FOR WEDDING

Following the special invitations for attendants, also for formal invitations sent within the past week, there are now expected from out of town for the Darwin-Streeter wedding, as attendants, the Misses Corinne Lockridge from Austin, Viola Darwin from Cooper, Mary Williams from Gatesville, Senators Robert Astin from Bryan, A. C. Robbins from Athens, and James Harley from Seguin; also little Miss Elizabeth Hudspeth from El Paso. Other guests will be Senator and Mrs. Hudspeth from El Paso, the broom's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Darwin, also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Darwin, from Cooper. Master J. R. Maxfield, Jr., of this city, will be cushion bearer, and Mrs. Elana Streeter Dockery, matron of honor. The groom will also be attended by Newton Williams and Frank Tirey of this city, and the bride by the Misses Elizabeth Bolinger and Lillian Evans.

SMALL DINNER PARTIES HAVE BEEN NUMEROUS

The week now passed has been one which punctures the record of early season history as catching the prevailing style in the east, that of small dinner parties. Already, several have received mention.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Goebel have complimented the coming marriage of Miss Nancy Lacy and Beverly Harden, by a cozy little company of six, the first guests around their own table, since their marriage a few months ago. Dr. and Mrs. Merchant Colgin were the other guests. Pink and white made the color tone.

Miss Alice Brazelton, who was Miss Belle Gary's guest out at Big Springs early in the spring, gave dinner compliment to Miss Gary as a passing visitor of the week. This formed a circle out at the Huaco club with Mrs. W. B. Brazelton chaperone. To enjoy the hour with Miss Gary and her hostess, Miss Pauline McLendon, were Miss Nancy Joy Brazelton, with William Christler, E. A. Miller, John Fort and Lerue Coleman of Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Wilson invited as their Huaco club guests for Friday evening their sister, Miss Spindle, from Virginia, Miss Elizabeth Caufield of McGregor, Lee Wilson and Ed Humphries.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rotan were seated with Miss Enrique Smith and Dr. Doyle Eastland at the Huaco club Friday night dinner.

Seated in a congenial circle were Mr. and Mrs. Buford McWhirter, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Moody and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Pribe at the Huaco club on Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Pribe of West Columbus street have dinner guests within their home this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marshall, in their handsome new home, had dinner guests on Friday evening. This was primarily a compliment to Captain Booth of the United States army. Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Baine with Mr. and Mrs. William Waldo Cameron were the guests. From the dinner the party went out for the weekly dance at the Huaco club.

On the South Side, Miss Mabel Moran was dinner hostess within her own home in compliment to her visitor, Miss Lenora Whaley from Hewett. Following the courses amid pleasant conversation, a game of forty-two was played. The guests other than hostess and honoree were, Misses Ruby McKinley and Emma Morrill with J. M. Jackson, Jr., Don Robinson, Cravens Sneed and Dan Hightower.

MOTHERS AT MEETING GENERAL CONFERENCE

Following the general call from the incoming president, Mrs. W. O. Wilkes, it was quite gratifying to find a half hundred women voluntarily present at the high school. It was further found that members from every Parent-Teachers' Association in the city were within this audience. Mrs. Wilkes appeared for the first time as president. In the absence from the city of the secretary, Mrs. William Foster, Mrs. Charles Boynton kept the minutes. Each club made report, not so much as to what had been done as to put the general body in touch with aspirations for future work. However, it was gratifying to hear how much the women had accomplished for their respective schools. Much of the conference was informal. It is the outcome of this meeting, that once a month the individual clubs will hold session, in their own school buildings, and that each alternate month will find the body as a whole together. Mrs. J. W. Downs is at the next meeting to present a constitution and by-laws for a federation of local parent-teachers associations.

Two Men Talk.

The last hour found the new superintendent, B. B. Cobb, introduced. He talked along the line of the evolution in feeling towards the so-called mother's clubs; he stressed the idea that the old feeling that mothers were prying into men's methods and iconoclasts in men's measures had passed, and that the club of mothers today mean a helpful attitude, a moral support to the schools. Principal Marrs of the East Side talked along the line of what apparently is the next innovation into the public school system, the systematic play ground with trained supervisor. It is recalled that this movement is very near the heart of Mrs. Marrs, also that the Sul Ross club is looking towards the time when promotion of the idea may lead to the employment of the paid supervisor by the city school board.

General Conference.

In a general way there was discussed the necessity for screening the domestic science department and the ward lunch rooms. The women feel that this is primarily of more importance than classes in theories of biology, germs, and their ilk. Also, Mrs Crow introduced the idea of sputum cups. These are after the manner of the individual drinking cups, something to be supplied the child who is forced to expectorate while in the crowded school room. Mr. Cobb suggested a plan by which merchants might aid in play ground equipment provided the firm's name was on the piece presented. These and other ideas together with discussion from the informal reports from each school, occupied the afternoon.

Lake View Added.

In the meantime more than forty earnest mothers from the Parent-Teachers' Association are organized for the Lake View school. The foundation for the substantial new brick school house was placed within the past week. Awaiting this when the club will meet in the school the members are hostess within their own homes. The last was with D. D. Mims as joint hostess with Mrs. O. E. Bybee. This club works under committees according to the state Parent-Teachers' Association, and will at once federate with the Waco City Federation. A systematic study of the child is being made from text book, a lesson being followed with the Mesdames Mims and Bybee. Also business incident to the opening of another school year, and a social feature was followed.

SOCIETY BALL PLANS PROMISE BRILLIANCE

While the committee can not give out details, it is not because such are not forming. Rather, it is because T. F. Bush and his capable committee are making the Cotton Palace society ball the most elaborate and brilliant event ever given in this state. Plans are developing on an enlarged scale, but naturally it takes correspondence, and perhaps some modification of original ideas, before the committee is ready to say definitely just what the society ball will be. Also, there is a degree of pleasure in suspense, to say nothing of surprise; also, justly, the society ball committee prefers not to have their tableau effect known until seen. Society, in the meantime, may rest satisfied that the Cotton Palace society ball will be featured as one of the brilliant successes of the 1915 season.

SOCIETY MUST WELCOME CITY'S FIRST STYLE SHOW

The merchants of this city have expended time, thought and money to place our progressive little city in the same class as the more pretentitious in Texas. It is now for every man and woman in Waco to show appreciation for this progressive departure. Much has been said, much more will be said, after the sight is viewed, of the first real style show for Waco. On Monday evening, everybody must be down town. We must be as much a unit over our style show as we are ove rour Cotton Palace. Every window along Austin avenue will be a show within itself. Let us make a promenade, and look attentively at all. Let us admire not only the articles within themselves but the taste with which these are arranged by our professional decorators.

Above all, must we observe the "Keep to the right" step. If we do not confusion will reign. One crowd will jostle the other and neither gain satisfactory view. On the other hand if the two lines of promenade will form the one down one side and up the other, every single soul will have full inside view of the shop windows. If we are to have a style show let us have style in conduct as well as in exhibition.

MRS. HERBERT H. SHEAR ATTENDS CITY DOG SHOW

Perhaps it is not expected by Mrs. H. H. Shear that she shall receive newspaper mention simply because she was sufficiently interested in pedigreed "doggies" to attend their at home in Chicago yesterday. But this mention is a significant one, in that it will bring Mrs. Shear home in possession of details which make a fashionable Kennel Show, and her generosity will pass on her ideas for the Kennel Show at the Cotton Palace. Already, Mrs. Harold Shear, as one of the kennel directors, with Miss Frances Van Boddie from Denver, and Mrs. William Cameron from the Far East, are in anticipation of their assistance to the society flavor with which the second Waco kennel will be open to the public. The first, last season, was pronounced a remarkable success, but the members of the kennel club count that but the initial step towards something creditable for the state. The women are already planning for a "doggie" parade on the green of the Palace grounds, something where the "doggies" are

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS

A DEPARTMENT DEVOTED TO THE FOSTERING OF MUSICAL INTERESTS OF WACO AND CENTRAL TEXAS.

Making Students of Our Pupils.

(By Harvey Morris.)

Students of music often do not realize the need of deep thinking and broad culture as a necessity to accomplish the best work.

A pupil with a fine voice or an unmistakable musical talent, with nothing in the way of culture, cannot grasp the meaning of much he studies, but often makes both himself and art appear almost ridiculous.

Did you ever know the silly girl with a mother quite as silly, who didn't think it worth while to use even the little sense she had, because she had a wonderful voice, or could play the piano beautifully?

"If you want to educate a girl begin with her grandmother," comes to us now and then with special meaning. I knew a young girl with a voice of unusual merit, who needed a sensible mother so very much, but the fates had not been kind and the possession of a daughter who could sing was the mother's highest ambition. The daughter carried a novel of the yellow hue around much of the time, and I often thought, "What a pity she couldn't have had a mother who knew good literature and could have guided her in the higher ways of thinking!" she really might have become a gifted, sensible daughter. It is pitiful that so rare a gift as a really good voice should remain undeveloped.

We have many fine things for students in musical literature, but I believe they ought to know also, some of the classics, especially those that often form the basis of the music thought worked out by the composer.

This winter, while listening to the orchestra under Damrosch play the numbers best known of the Grieg "Peer Gynt" Suite, a friend asked just as the music commenced, "Do you know the story of Peer Gynt?" It was too late then, however, for explanations and she simply enjoyed the beauty of the music. How much more it would have meant to her had she known the literature back of the thought Grieg had put into his music!

The study of the origin of the mazurkas and the polonaises of Chopin brings to us much of Polish history. Examples might be multiplied both in history and literature, but the point I should like to make with the student is that it pays to broaden our knowledge in every way possible.

It pays to know the things in literature that have helped others, and the things in history that make the study of music so delightful in the twentieth century. Much that we interpret from the masters in music depends upon the education and culture with which we begin to study them. In travel, it is said, we see only the things our education and culture make us see; why not in music?

One of the important things a pupil gets from broad thinking is the formation of right habits. Benjamin Ide Wheeler once said: "A college man wins in life not by virtue of the special knowledge he has acquired, so much as the habits he has formed. Habits of mind involve an attitude toward truth. Habits of thinking involve a control of the mental processes. Habits of work involve sense for time and duty. A man who does things at the time when they ought to be done is likely to be wanted. It is the men who are wanted that are successes."

If pupils could be made to feel the need of more intellectuality in music, they would soon be studying broader and deeper. We must always be bigger than our profession, to be successful, and in no way can we do this except by living higher and thinking deeper. There is no use expecting great things from little people.

One of the best examples of the broad culture of the present day is the Roumanian pianist, Moritz Rosenthal. In literature and music he is acknowledged as an authority. His technic is wonderful, and hear what technic means to him. "Technic, as I understand it, is not at all what it means to most people. To them it is mere mechanics, dependent solely on strength and suppleness of arm and finger—in a word, the manual speed and dexterity of the player. Now, to me this is the purely physical side of the matter. Technic, as I conceive it, is also intellectual and closely connected with the aesthetic side. It is akin to style. In the fullest sense it is the power to express accurately the player's idea of the music before him. It means hand and brain and heart in unison."

There are many ways in which a teacher can inspire the student to greater effort along the road of broad-mindedness. In many cases the home environment has already begun the work, but oftener it must come from the teacher.

Be a student yourself. I remember one teacher who always made me want to read and study, although she very seldom mentioned literature in our work, but I felt she was working just the same as her pupils to broaden her life, and she didn't need to say just the manner of the doing.

In the short lesson period, a teacher really has very little opportunity for anything more than the work in hand, but if any one doubts the influence of the student teacher, let him consult the pupils themselves as to the teacher who most inspired him in his work.

Put more intellectuality into teaching by making students, not merely pupils, of those intrusted to your care. There are so many helps these days. Our musical journals and books full of suggestions to the wide-awake teacher, and history, art, literature and science only waiting to be used. It is often surprising how ignorant some pupils are in this day of easy learning.

David Bispham.

A writer describing the singing of David Bispham says: "When Bispham sings he puts into a song what was meant to be there—what the composer and the poet put there, and hoped would be brought out in the singing; and Bispham does bring it out. If it is tragedy, then there is tragedy in his voice and face; if it is devotion, one feels that he is listening to a prayer; if it is praise, one is lifted into the same state with the singer; if it is love, then tenderness and affection are in his notes; if it is humor, you hear the rippling of laughter; if it is descriptive, you see the thing that is described. This remarkable dramatic power gives Bispham a wonderful hold upon his audiences, and there is nothing mechanical about his singing—it is all the man himself."

Mrs. Pearl Mackel Lowe in Recital.

On Thursday evening, September 16, Mrs. Pearl Mackey Lowe, soprano, assisted by Miss Josephone Morton, pianist, appeared in recital at the Central Christian church under the auspices of the Euterpean club.

Mrs. Lowe possesses a lyric soprano voice of good range and has acquired the method of tone production which insures purity and evenness of tone throughout the register.

The program was a varied one, consisting of numbers from the Italian, German French and American composers the first being Tosca's touching appeal to heaven when in the grasp of Scarpia, "Vissi d'Arte e d'Amor," (Love and music these have I lived for), from Puccini's opera of that name.

In the second group Mrs. Lowe did her best work, the two American songs, "The Fairy Pipers," by Brewer, and "Yesterday and Today," by Spross, being especially effective.

Another song which was especially well liked by the audience was Harriet Ware's "Mammy's Song." Mrs. Lowe responded to two encores during the evening with "Birthday," by Cohen, and the little Scotch love song, "Laddie."

Miss Josephine Morton afforded excellent support in the piano accompaniments and also gave the A Flat Ballade by Chopin and "Le Concon" by Paquin, and a "Reverie" by Debussy, representing the extreme modern French school of composers.

Mrs. Charles W. Atkins Complimented.

Mrs. Charles W. Atkins, director of the Austin Avenue Methodist choir, has received the following letter from Mrs. John W. Graham, choir director of First Methodist church, Houston, and one of the executive board of the Texas Woman's Fair to be held in Houston in October:

"Mrs. Charles W. Atkins, Waco, Texas.

"Dear Mrs. Atkins: In the name of the committee of the Texas Woma's Fair, we invite you to be artist soloist for one concert during the fair, October 11 to 16. Thousands of Texas women are assisting and none but the best Texas talent will be heard on the musical programs Won't you come and assist us. Most cordially,

"MRS. JOHN W. GRESHAM."

Mrs. Atkins will again be director of the Austin Avenue choir for the coming season, and will also form a choral club for the benefit of those assisting in the choir. There will be no dues charged, the only expense being the cost of the music.

Miss Farmer Writes From Chicago.

Miss Nellie Farmer, who has spent the summer in piano study in Chicago, writes of a delightful and profitable vacation. She will resume her classes in Waco September 20.

Old Earth Has Had Many "Ice Ages."

Everyone with intelligent interest in the history of the world on which he lives has heard of "the glacial epoch," or the ice age. The inhabitants of the northern portion of the United States have no doubt a general understanding that the gravel hills and ridges and the huge bowlders with which they are familiar are due to an irresistible invasion from Canada by "the great ice sheet" at a date just preceding that which geologists term "recent" yet many thousands of years ago.

It is, however, not strictly correct to speak of the "ice age" or the "glacial epoch," for there have been many of them. It is now known that even this latest or Pleistocence glacial epoch has several important divisions, and in the Rocky mountain region it appears that important changes in the form and height of the mountains, due to a wearing down by erosion, took place between the glacial sub-epochs.

More than 50 years ago it was recognized by English geologists that certain masses of gravel and breccia and certain planed and grooved rock surfaces in rocks of Permian age in India indicated a glacial epoch vastly older than that of the Canadian ice sheets, but it is only within the last 30 years that geologists have learned that glacial conditions have recurred at many different times in the earth's history. The evidence of this has been found in all continents, in Europe, Asia, Africa, Austria, South and North America. The formation of great ice sheets took place at different periods in the larger divisions of geologic time back to the Proterozoic—that is, to the age of the oldest known sedimentary rocks, a great many million years ago.

One of the most recent discoveries of old glacial deposits is that made by Prof. W. W. Atwood of the United States Geological Survey, in 1913, in southwestern Colorado. Near Ridgway Prof. Atwood found typical glacial till, containing pebbles and bowlders showing well-preserved scratches and other markings, occurring beneath Tertiary lavas of the San Juan mountains and upon Upper Cretaceous beds. From the conditions of occurrence it is clear that these Ridgway gravels are of early Eocene age.

Prof. Atwood's report of this discovery has just been issued by the United States Geological Survey as part B of Professional Paper 95, under the title "Eocene Glacial Deposits in Southwest Colorado." Copies of the report may be had on application to the director of the United States Geological Survey.

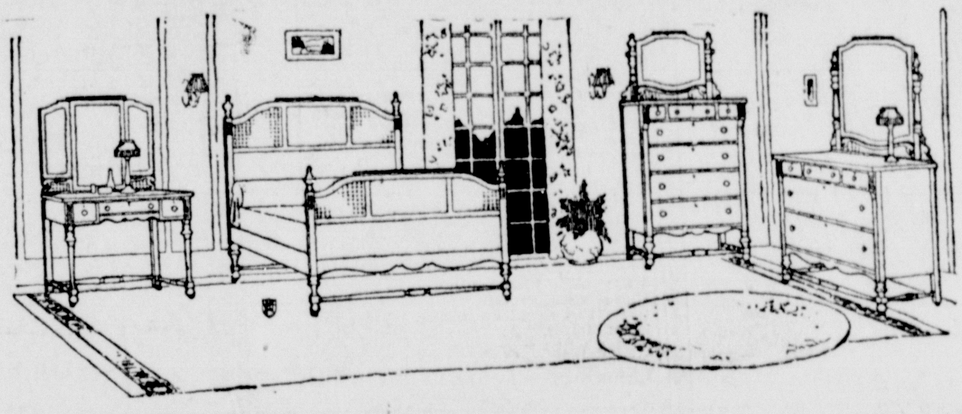
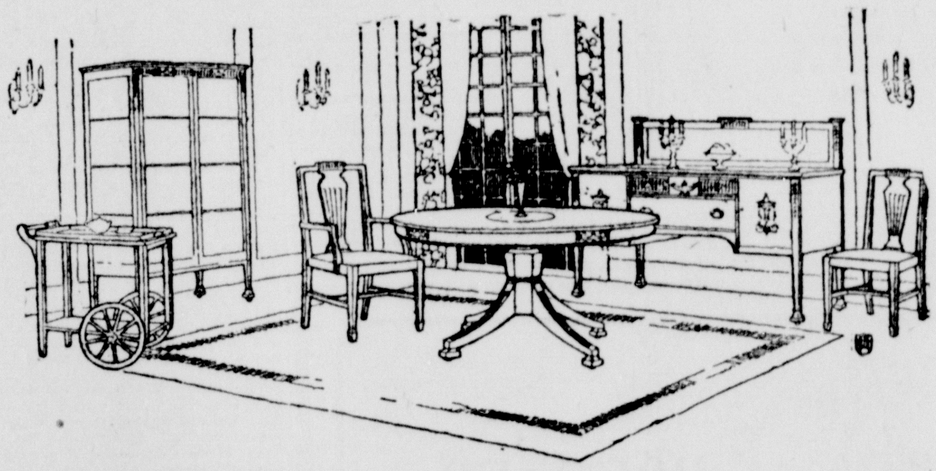
and Style Show

COMMENCES MONDAY EVENING, SEVEN O'CLOCK

Perhaps not in any former exhibit have we sounded so popular a chord as that which rules the Style Show Displays which we have arranged for the present season. This week's exhibit is noteworthy not only in the interpretation of Furniture Fashions which are authentic, and in good taste, but in the fact that this beautiful Furniture is of comparatively very moderate cost—furniture appropriate for and within reach of the average good home.



This Suit is a pure reproduction of the William and Mary period, having the essential characteristics, such as the turned legs and the curved under-framing. It is finished in mahogany and you will be agreeably surprised at the moderate price. We have been particularly fortunate in our selections in this line, and offer for your inspection a large variety of inexpensive pieces which we commend without hesitation as to quality, style and finish.



This suit is an Adam Bros. design. It is one of the few high grade Adam suits which may be had at a moderate cost. It possesses some of the most important Adam features, such as classic moulding, delicate fluting festoons, etc. It is finished in Mahogany.

More attention is being paid today than ever before to furniture styles and fashions. There is an increasing desire upon the part of the public to become better informed as regards those essentials which contribute to really meritorious furniture designs and craftsmanship. There is a very general manifestation for better furniture and for homes that shall be in reality artistic and beautiful—better homes. To encourage this tendency, that the homes of Waco and Central Texas might be the most "livable" in all the land, has always been our effort. Our Fashion Show display of 1915 is made with that idea paramount. We know that you will find our display interesting—if you wish to make your home more beautiful you will find it helpful. We invite, most cordially, your visit, to see our Fashion Windows, and to the more extensive exhibits throughout our store—the latter quite without obligation to buy.

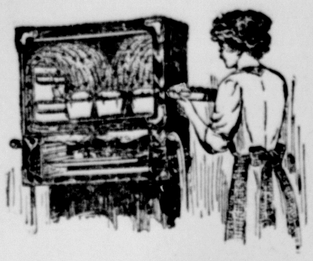
NEW METHOD GAS RANGES

Have More Exclusive Patented Gas Saving and Convenience Features Than Any Gas Ranges Made.



Compare the New Method with any other Gas Range at any price and you will be convinced of this more forcibly than I can convey in a printed statement.

New Method Oven Construction.

Study the illustration. See how the flame travels along the bottom flame plate. It does not touch the oven bottom. The heat travels up the sides and down on whatever you are baking. (Follow the Arrows.) The same flame used in baking is used in the broiling.

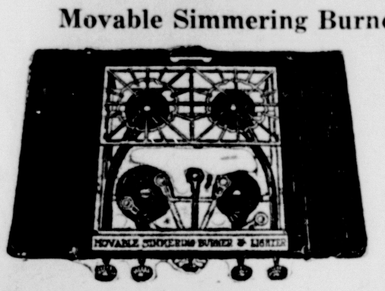
Far Superior to the Impractical Glass Door

Steam and moisture soon obscure the glass oven doors, making it impossible to look inside. Then, too, the possibility of breaking is great.

Movable Simmering Burner and Lighter



With this device you can light one burner from the other without matches. There are no pilot lights to be blown out by gusts of wind.

The New Method Consumes 20 to 40 Per Cent Less Gas than any gas range made. This is not a mere advertising statement, but a fact that is easily proven by the accompanying illustration and description of burner.

Enameled Steel Burners
Guaranteed for Five Years.

The cast iron burner found on every other gas range has drilled flame holes, retarding the flow of gas. New Method burners are of steel, enameled inside as well as out, affording an easy flow of gas and enabling 3 1-2 times more air to enter the air mixer than any Cast Iron Burner.

Society Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Walter King of Speight street motored over to McGregor this afternoon to greet Mrs. Minnie King in her return from the Pacific Slope.

If you see a bit of green among the displays for the Style Show, remember this is because of Italy's entrance into the alliance for war. The French were so delighted the fashion designers at once included a touch of the green from Italy's flag into their autumn styles.

Mrs. W. B. Brazelton in accompanying Miss Nancy Brazelton to school in Washington City, Chevy Chase, makes a short visit in Memphis, and spends a few days with Miss Brazelton both in New York City and in Washington City. She is due at home with the first week in October.

The Misses Edwina Sturgis and Mildred Fort are, since Friday, numbered among the Waco girls who will be absent at school this winter. They go to Washington City.

Mrs. Bessie Howells Ficklin will be matron in one of the new apartments on North Fourth street when these are completed.

On Wednesday Mrs. Leon Russ comes down from Albany for the Harden-Lacy wedding. Later, Mrs. Russ goes for a visit with Mr. Russ' relatives in New York. She continues a refugee from the disturbed conditions around her home in Tampico.

Let us not make too much of a holiday in the Style Show. Really, this is for education as to what is what for fashionable wear, rather than a grand down town frolic.

With Mrs. S. P. Brooks president and Mrs. R. B. Spencer vice president, the Baptist women should feel that their Federation is in experienced and capable hands.

Women of world recognized talent are certainly doing their part towards relief funds. Madame Sembrich in her cottage among the Adirondacks contributed five thousand dollars to the Polish fund as the result of one concert. Now it is learned that Madame Melba in a concert over in Australia added $150,000 to the English Red Cross fund. What about Waco's talent adding to our public health nurse fund?

We noted an anecdote the other day in which a new author complained that his recent book was not meeting with the sale it should. The friend replied, "But it is a rattling good story. Jones lent his copy to Smith, and Smith to Ford, and Ford lent it to me." This rather reminds the woman editor of some reports she gets as to the pleasure of reading the daily Morning News.

We are beginning to note articles deploring the lost art of letter writing. The post card, the long distance telephone and the night letter-gram are the destroying causes. This is true; still, there is nothing between those who are friends and who love, like the soul-satisfying, heart-to-heart letter. And we predict such letters will never cease to be written.

We must be more punctilious, now that we are upon the threshold of a new season, in issuing our invitations. Of course, as with all else in life, circumstances alter cases. Yet, the established order is, for a dinner party or a luncheon, invite one week in advance, in a small place like Waco where engagements are not so pressing. For an evening dance, a wedding, two weeks is the time. For bridge, one week, and for afternoon tea, one week. The idea of sending word in advance implies compliment that guest is really desired, hence bespoken before any conflicting engagement has been made. In large cities the invitation period is much longer.

It is almost time to become interested in what we are to have by way of theatre excitement. Last season demoralized the theatrical world to such an extent, even the clairvoyant can not predict for the Auditorium during 1915-'16.

Catch the Cotton Palace enthusiasm else you will be in a class alone. The bees of Hybla did not work any more orderly and persistently than are the Waco women.

One by one the list of expected debutantes is diminishing. Last season it was predicted that there would be twenty-one; now predictions have ceased in proportion as announcements come of proposed departures for school.

Would it not be a wonderful thing if some one would give the Humane society a Rest Farm for the worn-out horses, or even if permission to enter horses as visitors would come from some one?

With Miss Frances Boddie now the last lingerer, and Miss Anne Risher just departed, the society girls are about reunited from their summer travel and wide separation.

It is coming to be just as it should be, that the Waco women, all sorts and conditions, and from every section of residence, are feeling personal interest in their department of the Morning News. Be it remembered at all times that The News women's department is for every branch of woman's activity, and for every neighborhood of women. The idea with the editor is, that not a woman can read a copy of The News and not find something concerning her especial interest or her especial friends.

The many Waco women who have had the California trip by way of Salt Lake City will now enjoy reading again that inimitable piece of humor, Mark Twain's "Roughing It." This deals with western travel, and gives special mention of the Mormons.

Had you noticed how the activity of the Huaco club is affecting home life? Society now has by common consent come to Friday as dinner day. Thursday has become luncheon day, and thus it goes.

Miss Maydee Caufield of Terrace Row will be an early season visitor to Mrs. W. T. Montgomery and other friends in San Antonio.

As one of the attendants for Miss Georgia Streeter on Tuesday, the twenty-eighth, Miss Lilian Evans was guest at Mrs. Charles Hamilton's luncheon. She is now leaving for her second year at "State," but returns for the wedding at the next week-end.

Mrs. H. L. Niebuhr of Industry, Tex., is expected to arrive early in the week for the Womack-Martin wedding.

H. S. Martin of Shreveport, La., will be here Wednesday for the Womack-Martin wedding.

Limited Number of Tickets for Society Ball for Wacoans

Judging from letters that are being received by the committee from all parts of the state, the attendance at the society ball at the Cotton Palace this year will be far greater than ever before. The unusual out-of-town attendance will necessarily limit the number of tickets that can be sold in Waco. It therefore behooves those desirous of obtaining tickets to see some member of the committee at an early date, otherwise they may be disappointed and will be unable to attend the ball. The tickets will be sold for $2, admitting lady and gentleman. The following well known young men compose the committee: Tom Bush, chairman; Joe Haber, Langdon E. Lusedde, Willard Wigley and William D. Lacy Jr.

Workmen and mechanics are now at work designing the elaborate decorations that will transform the beautiful coliseum at the Cotton Palace into a seemingly enchanted land of mythological days.

Many of the society girls are eagerly looking forward to the style show this week. They want to have the pick of the stunning new creations to wear at the society ball.

The pastor, W. P. Meroney, will preach at the morning and evening hours of service. The subject for the morning sermon will be "The Day of Atonement," and will be a study of the figurative meaning of this great Jewish day, and its spiritual application to Christianity.

The evening sermon will be about a "Countryman who moved to the city," and will be a discussion of why many people who move to the city from the country lose their religious life.

All other services will be held at the usual hou

WHAT TO DO IF THE GAS LEAKS

If the smell of gas is strong, first ventilate the room.

Then examine the keys to the fixtures, stove or other appliances. One of them may be partly open.

If a fixture or connection is broken, be sure your windows are raised, then go to nearest 'phone and notify the gas company.

After notification, try and putty up the leak or close it with any substance that will make an effective plug.

Never look for a leak with a match or any flame, lantern or lamp.

If you find a person overcome by the gas, throw up the windows, drag the unconscious one to the open air and then telephone a physician.

After telephoning the physician, telephone the gas company and tell them of the accident. Most all companies now own a pulmotor, which is an appliance for pumping gas out of a person's lungs and injecting pure air in its stead. This is an invaluable aid to the doctor.

To avoid accidents see that all of the safety stops on the keys to your fixtures and appliances are in working order. These stops let you know when you have properly turned off the gas after using.

If you feel yourself overcome by gas, struggle to the window or open air and try to hold your breath until you reach the outside.

Try breathing through the mouth with long, deep breaths at first.

Always notify the gas company of any seeming defects in your pipes or fixtures.

The gas company has men that are an emergency crew to handle troubles, either in or outside, at all times of the day or night.

PUBLIC SERVANTS GET SPECIAL DAY AT COTTON PALACE

The directors of the Texas Cotton Palace Association are going to spring a surprise this year that will be statewide in its scope. Friday, November 19, has been designated by them as "Public Servants Day." The managers of the Cotton Palace believe in setting a good swift pace. They never follow in the footsteps of other institutions. They believe in starting something new, and letting the others follow—which they usually do.

Public Servants Day at the Cotton Palace promises to be the one great event in Texas this year. It is going to be a history making day that will be remembered for many years to come. Texas is such an enormous state that the people in general seldom have an opportunity of getting acquainted with the men who conduct their government. The Cotton Palace is going to give them that opportunity. Every office-holder in Texas from Governor James E. Ferguson on down the line will receive a hearty invitation to come to the Cotton Palace on Public Servants Day. This includes all state, county and city officials.

In addition to all state and county officials, all federal officers will be invited. This will take in United States senators, congressmen, judges and other federal appointees.

This, however, is only the beginning of those who are expected to be present. All of the prominent men in Texas who have ever held public office in the past will be welcomed to the Cotton Palace on that day.

But in order to be real generous and to extend the good old southern hand of welcome, the management proposes to go still further in making Public Servants Day the greatest innovation that has ever been adopted by any exposition in the south. They will issue a general invitation to be present on that day to every man in Texas who desires to run for public office in the future.

With the numerous candidates for United States senate, congress, governor, attorney general and other high offices, there will undoubtedly be an aggregation of brains, hustle, smiles handshakers and country savers present at the Cotton Palace that will make all other assemblages look small and tame. Great preparations are now being made for the reception of the visitors on that day.

Another Betterment for Studebaker Car

From Detroit comes the announcement that Studebaker automobiles have just added another important improvement. This is the new Willard storage battery with a new rubber composition separator upon which Willard scientists have been experimenting for the last two years. Studebaker is the only automobile manufacturer up to the present time which has adopted this newer, more satisfactory and more expensive battery.

The importance of the announcement lies not only in the unequalled battery service that Studebaker cars are now equipped to give, but also in the continued evidence of the intention of Studebaker designers and manufacturers to build the best possible car that can be made at any price. Studebaker employs men, materials and methods without regard to cost if the product can be bettered.

The storage battery separator practically in universal use before the perfecting of this rubber composition separator was made of wood. It had to be cut extremely thin, so as to be porous. In order to work effectively it had to be porous, but the thinness of the wood caused it to deteriorate quickly.

Where rubber separators have been used it was necessary to cut holes for the solution to pass through. A separator 5x6 inches contained about 1,000 of these holes, whereas a separator of the new rubber composition of the same size contains about 4,000 holes. In the old form of rubber separator it was necessary to have the holes of such size that very often the plates would make a contact through the holes and become short-circuited or dead.

The new separator might be compared to a piece of lace. Instead of having holes cut into it, it is honeycombed with holes and, therefore, allows the moisture to seep through evenly so that the battery gives maximum service at all times. The separator is ridged with rubber strips which protect it against wear by the abrasion caused by the vibration of the battery on the car.

It is the belief of those most interested, with like care the new battery will outlive the old form of battery many times. Those who have been annoyed by battery trouble due to worn-out insulators can best appreciate the saving in time, money and temper that the new separator occasions.

The value of a motorist's time is something that is too often overlooked. It is true that many men like to work over their cars, but battery imperfections come most often at inconvenient moments. To repair a battery is far different from the fun one gets in screwing down the grease cups.

The fact that the rubber composition separator costs more has not deterred Studebaker from insisting on putting it in the batteries of all its present models. When it is remembered that Studebaker will manufacture 60,000 automobiles this season, it can readily be seen that in the aggregate Studebaker's determination to have only the best is costing a large sum for this one item alone.

Housework Turns Freshman Into Enthusiastic Suffragette

Women's rights generally and votes for women in particular are making rapid headway among the freshmen gathering for the beginning of the Baylor University regular session, which opens Monday. A large number of these students come to Waco with the intention of working their way through school. A number of this class of earnest students are already in the city, and have spent the last week working around wherever odd jobs could be found, or have been busy "lining up" some job that will enable them to remain in school this year. Expressions of sympathy for the housewives of the city are never more plentiful than when one happens to overhear the commiseration of several of these students who have obtained jobs helping around the houses.

One young man from North Texas in particular is convinced that women have entirely too few rights under the present system.

This young man applied for work at the Baylor employment bureau which is kept in the university book store for work "of any sort," as he took care to explain. He was sent by Manager Provence of the book store to a home nearby to do some cleaning, which the housewife had expressed her willingness to trust to "one of Dr. Brooks' boys."

Greatly pleased the North Texas lad hastened to the scene. Everything was bright—here was work in prospect, the return thereof would add to the slowly growing fund that would provide fees and incidentals against matriculation Monday.

And this is what he found: The yard was to be mowed, the stairs to be scrubbed, the floor mats to be taken up and relaid, the rugs to be beaten, the pictures to be dusted and hung again, the beds to be made, the dishes to be washed and then—the young man was directed to stencil some walls, put up some fallen moldings, do a little plastering around the opening of the fireplace, fix the furnace, milk the cow, scald the refrigerator—

The young man was not dismayed, he was simply amazed. "How in the world do you manage when we are not here," he ejaculated.

"Oh, very well," languidly responded the housewife. "Leaving aside taking care of the children and cooking the meals, I manage to find time to go to the picture show once a month."

The intimation that more work could be done in one day interested the young man, and he pondered the remark for some time.

"Don't you ever get tired and want to revolt?" he finally asked.

"Certainly," was the emphatic rejoinder, "but the elders of your sex think we haven't a thing in the world to do but dress up and look useless. I wish we could make them stay at home and do the housework once in a while, then they would know what work really is."

"Madam, I'm strong for the downtrodden women," responded the freshman. "I need the money, so I'll pile right in. What shall I do first?"

At 6 o'clock, when the lady of the house told him she guessed that would do for the day, the freshman was very tired. In fact he had not been so tired since the day he first picked 300 pounds—in ragged cotton, at that.

"You'll get my vote," he told the woman as he received his $1.75. "If it wasn't for the women all the men would have to sleep in the streets. They'd never work that hard just for board and clothes."

Rice Flour is Finest Face Powder.

If you want the finest face powder in the world just buy ordinary rice powder from the grocer. It costs 6 cents a pound wholesale and from 40 cents to $1 a pound retail. Which is to say that it is far cheaper than the cheapest face powder sold by the druggists and far finer than the most expensive.

This statement is made on the authority of the Journal of the American Medical association, the American Journal of Pharmacy and Charles H. La Wall, chemist to the Dairy and Food commission of Philadelphia.

Dr. La Wall bought samples of sixteen of the best known brands of "rice powder," "poudre de riz" or "fleur de riz" and analyzed them. Only two of them consisted entirely of rice flour and only six contained any rice at all. Talc, corn starch, zinc oxide, chalk and bismuth subnitrate were the substances found replacing rice flour in whole or in part.

Not only is such substiution a fraud, but it is positively dangerous, for oculists are familiar with cases of women having blurred vision, inability to use the eyes long at a time and severe itching of the lids caused by the irritation of the substances used in their face powder. And Dr. N. M. Black reported recently on seven cases of conjunctivitis that he had treated and found to be due to microscopic crystals blown into the eyes when using the powder puff.

The Journal of the American Medical association says these adulterations seem to be "due to trade custom rather than to fraudulent intent," for the cost of the substiuted ingredients is inappreciably different from that of pure rice flower. But the best and the surest way to be certain that one is geting it is to buy it by the pound from the grocer. Besides it is far cheaper that way.

Designed by Emmons Bros., New York.

ONE of the latest Paris models is the Tirol hat. Another is the style hat worn by Italy's sharpshooters and which the French have just adopted as one of the leading styles in fall millinery. It makes a becoming shape in felt of exquisite quality, and the stylish counterpart is seen in every shade, such as black, white, navy, champagne, quaker gray and sulphur. The trimming is the characteristic Tyrolean "brush" or wing feather, as well as a smartly arranged ribbon band with tailored bow. The hat is really an autumn novelty and is a quaint, soft and becoming sort of headgear.

Scottish Rite Team of Dallas to Give Third Degree Here

Secretary W. F. Quebe of Waco lodge No. 92, A. F. & A. M., is in receipt of a communication from the Scottish Rite 33rd degree team of Dallas, asking for permission to come to Waco on Saturday night, Sept. 25, to confer the third degree, and after taking the matter up with the officers of the lodge, it was unanimously decided to have them come for the above date.

This team will appear in full regalia, such as is not seen very often, but the most interesting feature for those that are well up on Masonry will be that the work will not only be carried out to the minutest detail in uniform and regalia, but it will be carried out letter perfect. They have spent much time in preparing for this occasion and the local officers will see that their efforts are not fruitless. They are preparing everything on the third floor of their large, new building to be able to take care of several hundred Masons, many of whom will come from the neighboring towns around Waco.

Friday and Saturday—"Regeneration," five-reel William Fox feature. Also Pathe News Number Two.

"Mortmain."

"Mortmain" is the attraction at the Hippodrome three days starting Monday. It is a Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature in five reels. The picture stars Robert Edeson and Muriel Ostriche.

This subject of Vitagraph's is a distinct triumph in regard to its construction, acting and direction. It is an adaptation from Arthur Train's story of the same name and embraces a theme almost untouched in the world of motion pictures. It is uncanny, weird, tremendously startling and ever increasing in interest with each successive scene. It is full of surprises, unthought of revelations and ultra dramatic episodes that command the spectator to keep his eyes fastened to the screen every instant.

"Mortmain is in debt to Russell, who on the surface is his friend. Moreover, he is in love with Russell's ward, Belle, whom Russell covets himself. Mortmain's notes falling due, Russell demands payment, knowing that his debtor will be unable to comply with this exhortation. That night Russell is murdered and by a peculiar coincidence Mortmain falls and cuts his hand. Before dressing the wound the doctor gives him ether. Later he discovers that her brother died in doctor suggests that he graft one in its place. Belle's brother offers his for a sum of money. During the operation the brother dies, while Mortmain's end of the operation is successful.

Later he becomes maddened. He believes that the dead man committed the murder; the grafted hand repels him. And finally when Belle discoovers that her brother died in saving her sweetheart, and when Mortmain sees culminating evidences of a double murder gathering about him, the unexpected climax arrives.

Counting largely in favor of the picture are the most significant facial expressions of the various players. Robert Edeson, who appears in the title role; Donald Hall, who enacts the part of Russell; Murial Ostriche, playing Belle, and James Morrison, as her brother, are the chief members of the cast and all do credit to the general excellent tone of the photoplay.

The scenes are all admirable. It is impossible to believe that some of the substantial appearing settings are of studio construction. The photography is excellent throughout, while the light effects deserve to be especially mentioned regarding their effectiveness.

For offering original entertainment in a style most artistic and appropriate, we do not hesitate to commend "Mortmain."

"The Ringtailed Rhinoceros."

Raymond Hitchcock at the Hippodrome Thursday only in "The Ringtailed Rhinoceros," four-reel Lubin photoplay, deprived of the lines which have made him the famous comedian, is Raymond Hitchcock still. In this his first appearance on the screen, he demonstrates that "business" is a big factor in polite comedy, but he also brings home the fact that the lines are the bigger part. In his best situations one cannot help but wish his words were audible. They look as if they might be good. He is the Raymond Hitchcock of the Yankee Consul in this picture. It is described as a "preachment for prohibition, in four pellets," and the star has opportunity for the same form of comedy that he did in that success. As a stage "container" he is excellent material for the camera. The "preachment" is found in an old allegory, in which the ringtailed rhinoceros is the symbol for the demon of the bottle. Hitchcock is told by his prospective father-in-law that he will not be allowed to marry his daughter (Flora Zabelle) unless he stops drinking. On the heels of this, the young man dallies with the vine while the guests at a lawn party given to announce his engagement are awaiting him. He doesn't appear until all the guests have departed, and then his reception is a little chilly.

Home in his own rooms, he dreams of an adventure in a fairy kingdom, where the king, in the person of his fiancee's father, sends him out to kill the rhino, in order that the princess may be able to stop weeping. He finds that the beast and the bottle are the same, and for a while is beguiled by it. But the faith of the princess' young brother spurs him on, whereupon he slays the rhino with the bottle from which it sprang. The princess stops weeping and he clasps her in his arms, awaking to find himself holding the girl's real brother on his knees, and the girl and her parents standing around him. He is reformed and everything is lovely.

Assisting Mr. Hitchcock anl Miss Zabelle in the cast are Raymond Hackett, Herbert Fortier, Ida Waterman, Arthur Mathews, Edward Metcalfe and William Boyd.

"The Regeneration."

On Friday and Saturday at the Hippodrome theatre William Fox presents a powerfully dramatic and tragically romantic play, "The Regeneration," produced by R. A. Walsh, one of David Griffith's leading directors. The film is heralded as the master stroke under the Fox brand. The following compliment has been paid Owen Kildare, the author, by Hall Caine in a letter to the creator of "The Regeneration":

"My Dear Mr. Kildare: I have read your story, and I have been deeply touched by it. Nothing more true or human has come my way for many a day. It is a real transcript from life, and that part of it which deals with the little lady who was so great and so ennobling an influence in your life, brought tears to my eyes and the thrill to my heart. I am not using the language of flattery when I say that no great writer would be ashamed of the true delicacy and reserve with which you have dealt with the more solemn and sacred passages of your life.

It was a true pleasure to me to meet you personally, and no conversation I have had on this side of the ocean has moved me to more sympathy. I wish you every proper success, and I feel sure that such a life as yours has been, and such a memory as brightens and solemnizes your past, can only lead you from strength to strength, from good to better.

"That this may be so will be my earnest wish for you long and after I have left your American shores.

"With kindest greetings,

"HALL CAINE."

The following are press opinions from New York papers of "The Regeneration":

New York World: "A powerful drama of brilliant power and depth. A play to move and sway with the deep undercurrents of human life and emotion—fires and inspires with masterly skill and deft dramatic work.'

New York Sun: "Swept a vast audience off its feet—caused cheers to resound after the tremendous climax; a great big success that will stay long on Broadway, in our estimation."

New York Telegraph (by Frank J. Price): "I predict for 'The Regeneration' a great success; will stay on Broadway for some time—really movin gand gripping."

New York Press: "A drama that is refreshingly powerful and true—unfolds a touching and dramatic story; thrills aplenty and swift action from start to finish."

New York Times: "Rarely is a drama of such real merit presented on Broadway; the authors are to be congratulated on a real play of trenchent worth and heart-reaching appeal."

New York Herald: "A magnificent drama that is filled with human life and heart interest situations."

QUEEN.

"Peer Gynt" Monday and Tuesday.

Cyril Maude, star of "Grumpy" and the celebrated London actor-manager, plays the famous role of Peer.

Since his first success some years ago as Gavin Dishart in "The Little Minister," Cyril Maude has achieved not only wealth but also the reputation of being the finest character actor in the world. He owns the Playhouse, the most fashionable theatre in London, and his many road attractions make him one of the factors in theatrical affairs in Great Britain.

Mr. Maude enjoys probably a greater social entree than any actor in the history of the English stage, and the reception tendered him on his return from his last American tour assumed the proportions of an ovation, a circumstance all the more significant because the guests were drawn largely from the nobility and the peerage. He entertains lavishly and his town house at Cleveland Gardens, Kensington, and his country place in Surrey always figure prominently during the season.

For a man, then, of Mr. Maude's eminence to be willing to go through what he went through in "Peer Gynt" speaks well for his sportsmanship. Jumping overboard in clothes and heavy boots in a heavy sea off the California coast, letting an American cowboy shoot a paddle out of his hands with a rifle at 100 yards, battling hand to hand in a swift mountain torrent with a Nez Perce brave were but a few of the strenuous exploits Mr. Maude performed as Peer. Fortunately the cameras caught it all.

Wednesday and Thursday.

Charles Chaplin, admitted to be the funniest man in the world, will do a series of funny stunts in a four-reeler called the "Mix-up."

Friday and Saturday, "The Explorer."

Alec McKenzie, the celebrated explorer, is about to make a trip into the Central African jungle to stop the slave trade among the natives and acquire new territory for the British empire. He is in love with Lucy Allerton, who, with her brother, George, are all that are left of a noble English family. George is an under-secretary in the Colonial office, but by his drinking and carelessness has lost a valuable document and been dismissed in disgrace.

Alec is just telling Lucy of his love before embarking upon his dangerous mission, when she hears of George's disgrace and persuades the explorer to take her brother with the party and give him a chance to win back his good name.

Accompanying the expedition are Dr. Adamson, an old friend of Alec's and McInnery, a rejected suitor of Lucy's, who is unaware of the love between Lucy and Alec. With a number of native hunters and bearers the party enter the jungle. George's continual drinking makes him brutal to the black men and is a constant source of danger to the whites. Alec is unable to make George behave himself.

Finally when the party has reached the farthest point inland, the treaty of friendship with the natives concluded and the expedition about to start back, George, under the influence of brandy stolen from the general supplies, mistreats a native girl and kills a warrior who defends her.

and young alike. Another popular feature will be the "Seeing America First" series and "Keeping Up With Jones," both of which are on the same reel and will be shown at the Rex exclusively the same day each week. The latter is a cartoon comedy by Pop, the celebrated cartoonist on the staff of Hearst's New York American.

"Keping Up With the Jones" will be a big drawing card, as the series of cartoons have been a daily feature in all the big newspapers throughout the country for many weeks.

Capt. Jack Bonavita, chief trainer with Bostock's Animals, now a part of the big Mutual program, is distinguished as the foremost trainer of wild animals, whose great ability is to be seen exploited in a big wild animal picture each week. His mammoth African lions, "Apollo," "Nero" and "Denver," and the hundreds of other animals of the famous Bostock arena will, at an early date, appear on the screen at the Rex for the delight of all patrons.

Calendar for the Week.

Monday—"The Brand Blotters," two reel Eclair-Western drama; "Weary Walker's Woes," Falstaff comedy, with Arthur Cunningham, a clever comedian; "Mutual Weekly" No. 35, most up-to-the-minute illustrated weekly, showing world's news in motion.

Tuesday."When the Call Came," 2-reel Gaumont, featuring George Larkin and Louise Hamilton; "When the Dough Was Cake," Beauty comedy, with John Steppling (of Famous Players fame) and Beatrice Van; "The Mother of Her Dreams," beautiful Thanhouser production.

Wednesday—"His Guiding Angel," with Chas. Clary and Gladys Brockwell; "Superstitious Sammy," presenting Boyd Marshall; "Seeing America First" and "Keeping Up with the Joneses," cartoon comedy by Pop.

Thursday—"The Little Life Guard," Majestic juvenile with Geo. Stone and Carmen De Rue, cleverest children actors; "Incognito," beauty comedy, with Neva Gerber and Webster Campbell; "The Senor's Silver Buckle," in which Winnifred Greenwood and Ed Coken appear.

A two-part Thanhauser that will greatly appeal to everyone: "Bessie's Bachelor Boobs," Falstaff comedy which features the irresistible Arthur Cunningham; "The Little Lady Next Door," American, with Vivian Rich.

Saturday—"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," special children's picture, from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m.; "Shorty's Ranch," three-part Broncho feature, exploiting Shorty (Jack) Hamilton, Elizabeth Burbridge and Jerome Storm, a Western comedy; "The Dark Horse," Reliance dram.

This program may be clipped for future reference.

AT THE NICKEL.

The three-part feature, "What Happened on the Berbuda," with Pat O'Malley and Gladys Hulette as co-stars, three acts of as an adventurous romance as one delights in seeing, will be the feature attractions tomorrow at the Nickel. Put Pat O'Malley in such a lusty role as mate of a mutinous ship and we have him cast in a part which nature molded him for—clean cut, manly ant vigorously convincing. The appealing Gladys Hulette fits into the wireless struggle and the "dope" dealing trick with convincing feminine gentleness, while Augustus Phillips makes a swaggering bloodthirsty villain. There is an added interest in this splendidly directed feature in that the ship used was the actual German ship—the "Madgeburg"—which has figured so theatrically in this present war.

Sailors and marines from the U. S. S. "Freedom" were used or "borrowed" for this production, which will show at the Nickel tomorrow only.

"One Wonderful Night" With Francis X. Bushman, Tuesday.

Essanay four-part feature, "One Wonderful Night," with an all-star cast including Beverly Bayne, Bryant Washburn, Lillian Drew and the world's greatest Mr. Francis X. Bushman, recognized by those who know as one of the very best productions ever screened by this great company of players, will be shown at the Nickel Tuesday, one day only. Patrons by the score have requested this of the management for some time. These with many others will delight in again having the opportunity to see a really worth while photoplay by stars who in dividually today each heads its own company.

LIVING MODELS ON FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

SANGER BROTHERS TO PRESENT STYLES AND FASHIONS OF COMING SEASON.

Combination of Fall Colors to Be Used in Decorative Scheme of Big Store.

Friday and Saturday of this week will be feature days for the fashionable people of this section, for it is on these days that Sanger Brothers' store will present the authentic styles and fashions of the fall and winter season. The unique and individual methods invoked by the Sanger store in the presentation of each season's new styles never fail to attract people from all parts of Central Texas to this metropolitan store. Aside from the assembling of all that is new and stylish in apparel and those materials from which beautiful apparel is to be fashioned, the Sanger store surrounds its merchandise at opening time with decorative features and special effects that are not excelled by many of the larger stores of this country, and in addition to this, they give to the people of this community a style show that is on a par with those conducted in the great fashion centers by the largest department stores and most exclusive shops.

Experienced living models are to be here Friday and Saturday, at which time the promenade room will be thrown open for this special and exclusive feature of the Sanger style show and the models will appear morning, afternoon and evening in the beautiful new gowns, costumes, suits, dresses, skirts, waists and millinery. Alessandro's orchestra and the Victrola will furnish the opening and style show music. Unlike many openings, the Sanger store events of this character take into consideration each and every department of the store.

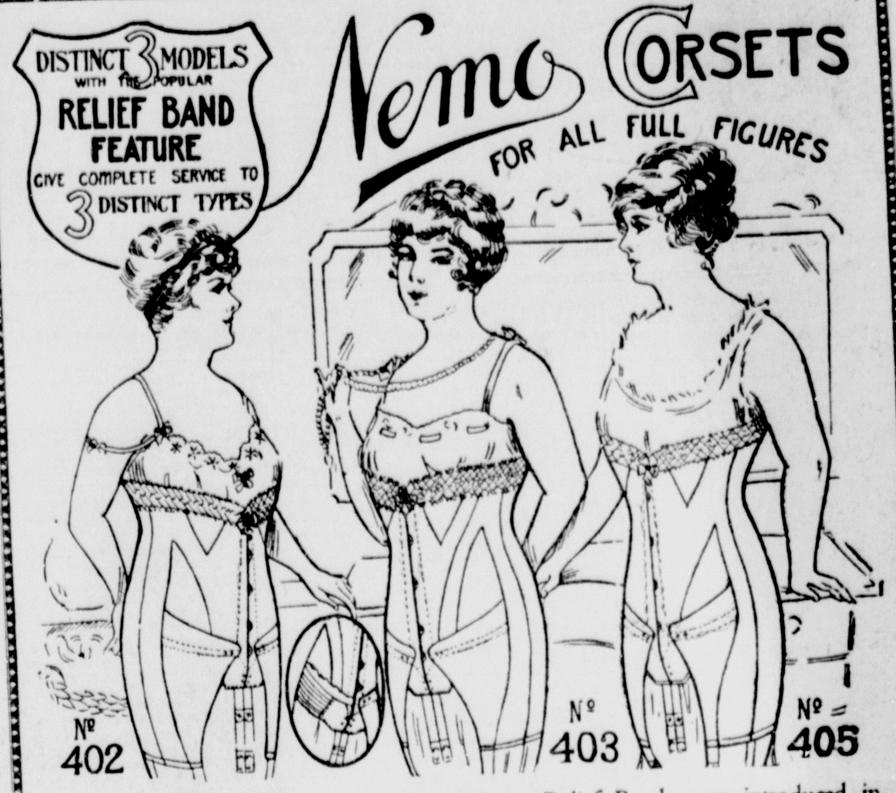
Decorations Prettier Than Ever.

The decorating department of the Sanger store is busily engaged in completing the decorative arrangement for the formal fall opening and style show on Friday and Saturday of this week. A combination of fall colors will constitute the color scheme throughout the store, in the show windows and in the decorating of the promenade room, where the living models will appear. The setting or background of the big main window, which is the largest single stretch of window space in this country, with but one exception, is practically complete and will present one of the prettiest effects that the Sanger decorating department has yet designed.

All departments of the Sanger store will this week display pretty new merchandise, beginning the festival of new fashions, which is to culminate on Friday and Saturday in the grand fall opening and style show. More seating capacity than ever before has been provided for the promenade room, which feature, it is believed, will eliminate the necessity of holding an overflow exhibition, heretofore necessary because of the fact that all who attended could not be accommodated on the second floor, notwithstanding the fact that on former occasions over 1,200 people have witnessed the style show on this one floor alone.

Store Open Until 9:15 Friday Night.

As has been the custom heretofore on the first night of the opening and style show at the Sanger store, the store will remain open on Friday night until 9:15 o'clock for display purposes only. Nothing will be sold after 6 o'clock. This procedure allows those who are otherwise engaged during the day the opportunity to witness the living model display and to see the other exhibitions and at the same time permits out-of-town people, especially those from along the interurban, the opportunity to be present during the evening and catch their cars for home if they so desire. The models will also appear on the promenade Saturday night from 7 to 9.



Nemo Self-Reducing Corsets with Nemo Relief Bands were introduced in 1906. They have been popular from the beginning, and are now in greater demand than ever. For some types of stout figure, they are the most satisfactory corsets ever made.

The Improved Relief Bands are now composed largely of semi-elastic Lastikops Webbing. They simply gather up a large "spready" abdomen; support, reshape and reduce it with delightful comfort.

The elasticity of the Relief Bands and the gentle friction of the Self-Reducing Straps produce a passive massage that gradually softens the excess fat, which is absorbed and removed, permanently reducing both the size and weight.

No. 403—For a figure of medium height, with full bust, large hips and abdomen . . . . . .
No. 405—For a tall figure with full bust, large hips and abdomen . . . . . .

CAUTION: The supporting, reducing and auto-massage service of these corsets is due to the Nemo patented construction—the free play of the Bands and Straps against the body. Imitations are made with straps and bands of similar appearance, sewed on to the corset, and therefore IMMOVABLE. These, of course, have no supporting, reducing or auto-massage value, and only add to the weight and bulk of the corset. Look for the trade-mark—NEMO. That is your protection against useless imitations.

Informal Tea Gowns of Crepe de Chine

Designed by Lane Bryant, New York.

TEA gowns for informal wear of the finest quality crepe de chine are here illustrated. In both gowns the material is used sparingly, but in one the fullness is gracefully caught at the back with rows of hemstitching and headed with a dainty fan ruche of self material. Rows of hemstitching also hold the fullness in place in front. Pointed picot edged ruffling trims the sleeves and forms collar and long revers, which are finished with a pretty corded flower-like ornament.

The other illustration is a Lady Teasdale gown beautifully embroidered. The back hangs in graceful ripples and conceals the fastening beneath. The low cut V neck meets a pointed girdle at center front, and both gowns are striking in delicate shades of blue, pink, rose or lavender. ANNA MAY.

Overland to Erect Building in St. Paul

In order to give the highest type of service to the thousands of Overland owners and dealers in the northwest, the Willys-Overland company has found it necessary to erect a building in St. Paul for the convenience of its patrons. Part of the structure will be converted into a service station and salesroom and the balance of the space will be utilized for warehouse purposes.

Service to car owners is one of the most important factor today in the merchandising of automobiles and perhaps no other concern in the industry has done more to perfect its service than the Overland. The plan is to make this new service station the efficiency equal of the one now maintained at the Toledo plant, so that Overland owners and dealers will be able to get factory co-operation some 500 miles nearer home.

According to officials of the company, work has already been started on the new building which will have a frontage of 461 feet and depth of 188 feet, 6 inches. The specifications call for a four-story and basement structure to be built of brick and steel and made fire-proof throughout.

When completed the building will contain 435,000 square feet or approximately 10 acres of floor space. Some idea of its tremendous proportions can be gained from the fact that the average size block i nthe business section of the city covers about 2½ acres of ground, which is but one-fourth of the floor space of this building. In other words the floor space area of the St. Paul building will be equivalent to the area contained in four city blocks. This space will enable the company to provide a service station and salesroom that promises to be the leading one of its kind in the northwest. Ample room has also been provided for the housing of a large number of cars for distribution purposes in the surrounding territory.

More Space Wanted in Blind School

E. E. Bramlette, superintendent of the state school for blind at Austin, is one of the many state officials who are greatly interested in the Cotton Palace. Mr. Bramlette has written to Secretary S. N. Mayfield asking for increased space at the exposition this fall. He says his institution is planning to have a much better exhibit than ever before, and that a delegation of the students will stage some particularly interesting stunts. The annual visit of the blind boys to the Cotton Palace is always looked forward to with much interest by the visitors. Their prowess against boys of the same age, who have their eyesight, has always been a source of great surprise to the people who fill the coliseum.

Mr. Bramlette states that the officers of his institution are going to do everything in their power to make the Cotton Palace a big success.

The directors of the Cotton Palace are highly gratified to learn that the officials of the various institutions of the state are so deeply interested in the Cotton Palace. With men of that character boosting for the exposition, there is no question but that it will be a tremendous success this year.

GOOD ADVERTISING FOR COTTON PALACE

RAILROAD OFFICIALS GIVING MUCH PUBLICITY TO COMING EXPOSITION.

Contract Is Awarded for Printing 100,000 Circulars Including Program.

While in Waco yesterday Jack Lehane, general freight and passenger agent of the Cotton Belt system, and one of the most popular railroad men in the South, asked many questions about the Cotton Palace. He said he knew that the exposition this year would undoubtedly be the greatest in its history. He declared the Cotton Palace was being advertised all over the state, and especially within a radius of 100 miles of Waco, for more than ever before, and that the people generally were greatly enthused over the approaching exposition.

Mr. Lehane said that everybody connected with the Cotton Belt are in love with the Cotton Palace, and that road would do all nossible to carry the crowds to Waco, and help make the Cotton Palace an immense success. Of his own volition he has promised to advertise the Cotton Palace in all of the newspapers that the Cotton Belt has contracts with, and also to advertise the dates and features of the Cotton Palace at all of the stations on that road.

Other railway officials in Texas are announcing their intention of doing all possible to boost the Cotton Palace, and to advertise it in the towns traversed by their lines.

W. G. Crush, general passenger agent of the Katy system, writes that he is aware of the great popularity of the Cotton Palace all over Texas, and that he proposes to go the limit in acquainting the people living along his line of the many attractive features of the South's most unique exposition, and that his road will do all possible to get the public to Waco in comfort.

W. S. Keenan, the veteran general passenger agent of the Santa Fe, is likewise on the job for the benefit of the Cotton Palace. He will advertise the big show in every newspaper along the Santa Fe. In addition to this, he has promised to place a certain amount of Cotton Palace advertising in the various stations on the Santa Fe system.

George F. Lupton, the guiding genius of the passenger department of the Sap, is losing no time to do his share in making a huge success of the Cotton Palace. From one end of that line to the other, the public will be able to learn all about the Cotton Palace through the newspaper and poster advertising sent out by Mr. Lupton.

T. J. Anderson, head of the passenger department of the Sunset Central lines, is in line with the progressive railroad men. Mr. Anderson is always on the job and has a warm spot in his heart for the Cotton Palace. There will not be a man, woman or child on the H. & T. C. that will not know all about the Cotton Palace through the publicity efforts of Mr. Anderson.

Among the many other railway officials who have agreed to advertise the Cotton Palace might be mentioned W. C. Preston of the Frisco lines, F. B. McKay of the Texas Midland, George D. Hunter of the Texas and Pacific, John A. Hulen of the T. & B. V., James P. Griffin, Southern Traction Co.; D. J. Price of the I. & G. N. and W. F. Sterley of the Fort Worth and Denver City road.

The publicity department of the Cotton Palace has arranged for the printing of the official program of the Cotton Palace on the back of all flyers sent out by the various railroads.

A contract was awarded last week for the printing of 100,000 circulars advertising the Cotton Palace. The program is on one side and detailed information concerning the various features on the other side. Every newspaper within a radius of 100 miles of Waco has been carrying stories about the Cotton Palace for more than a month. This will be continued until the opening of the exposition. Many columns of feature stories about the Cotton Palace have also appeared in the large daily papers of the state.

To Protect Her Chest.

Rev. Horace Leonard, continuing his campaign against cosmetics in Washington, said at an al fresco luncheon:

"A young husband at the shore noted that in dressing for dinner the other evening his wife had chosen a very decollete gown.

"'There's a dampish sea wind blowing,' he grumbled. 'Don't you think you'd better put something on your chest?'

"'I've powdered it twice, dear,' she answered. 'Still, if you don't mind waiting I suppose I might add another coat.'"

E. Berry Wall, who for a number of years has been America's undisputed arbiter elegantiarum—or, to put it more colloquially, king of the dudes—condemned at Sherry's in New York the apparel of a young millionaire.

"He has lots of clothes," said Mr. Wall, "but he wears them wrong. He wears a plaid lounge suit where he ought to wear a black morning coat. He wears on Fifth avenue costumes intended for country walks or for yachting cruises.

"In fact," Mr. Wall concluded, "he's the sort of chap who would put on an aviator's rig to take a ride in the subway."

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

What They Are Doing in Various Phases of Their Work in Texas

NATIONAL SUFFRAGISTS OUT IN SAN FRANCISCO

The past week has focussed suffragist eyes upon San Francisco where there was a gathering of the clans. But one remark may be cited, to sum the entire movement. This came from one of the national leaders, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New Yorw City. The idea in this great conclave so far west was in order that the women might come into the direct contact with the women who had achieved the ballot and who had cast it. Thus, something of the actual result could be seen first hand. Mrs. Belmont's remark bore along the line of the California women's procedure, that of not allying themselves with any political faction. Miss Helen Todd, in her address in Texas last season, gave this idea as paramount in the California women's success. Just as soon as the state voted suffrage, men began to inquire where the women would place their support; would they be Democrats or Republicans, or Progressives or Independents. They were aghast when the women replied "Not either." It is this independence which makes the woman's vote such a power. Women who have the ballot claim that their strength is always to be on the side of reform measures, of purity in political purpose, and, foremost of all, for the betterment of conditions around women and children. It is this principle which Mrs. Belmont advocated when she stressed women's keeping separate from any political party.

FAMOUS LIBERTY BELL TO BE IN CENTRAL TEXAS

Mothers should note right now that the famous old Liberty Bell, that metal mould which proclaimed "Liberty" for America, and cracked with the vehemence of this appeal, will be in Central Texas. Right now, mothers should tell the children the history of the bell and that for which it stands. The actual sight will be disappointing unless the spirit of veneration for American rights is felt. The Liberty Bell is perhaps the most cherished relic of this country. It is an event of historic note that it will be in Waco. Thousands will come to view it. And each one in these thousands should come with the spirit of reverence, not for the old, cracked bell, but for the meaning its peal and its crack convey.

FUNDAMENTAL IDEA FOR THE BETTER BABIES

Now, in the wake of the several Better Baby exhibitions which will be in Texas, it is well to have deeply rooted within the minds of mothers the new principle as applied to baby culture. This is, suit the food to the baby, not the baby to the food. The time has been too long when one mother endeavored to raise her baby like the other mother who had been successful. Let this theory be exploded by every mother's learning her own baby, and applying that which nourishes it best, regardless of what the other mother's baby had.

MISS DECCA LAMAR WEST SENDS INTERESTING NOTES

The following comes from Miss Decca Lamar West, State Federation press chairman:

Each mail brings to the chairman of Press department letters showing that Federation activities are being taken up with renewed vigor, each chairman determined that all shall be in readiness for the annual meeting at Brownwood, November 8th.

Club Presidents, Attention.

Club presidents should note that the state constitution requires that the names of delegates and alternates must be sent to the corresponding secretary one month prior to the annual meeting (see Art. III, Sec. 3). Also that annual dues for the succeeding year must be paid two months prior to the state meeting (Art. VI, Sec. I).

On account of the state meeting being held two weeks earlier than heretofore, it will be necessary for club presidents to see that dues are sent immediately without waiting for the opening of the club year. Dues should be sent to Mrs. Edmund Key, treasurer T. F. W. C., Marshall, Texas. Names of delegates and alternates to Mrs. W. C. Corbett, corresponding secretary T. F. W. C., Chenevert St., Houston, Texas, and to Frs. W. H. Talbot, chairman of hotels committee, Brownwood, Texas.

State Convention.

The latest Brownwood papers are full of plans for the entertainment of the Federation. Mrs. F. S. Abney is chairman of the local executive board and many other names familiar to active club workers insure a well-handled convention. To raise money for the entertainment of their guests, the Brownwood club women are selling to the men of Brownwood badges bearing this inscription: "Every-Man-a-Badge Club." This will serve the double purpose of raising the necessary fund, and having a large committee of hosts wearing the badge of welcome. Clever idea, women of Brownwood!

For District Chairmen.

Chairmen of committees urge each district chairman to report immediately, if she has not done so, the work accomplished in her district, so that the state chairman may have her report complete for the executive board and the federation.

Resolutions Daily.

It was noted in the president-general's recent letter that the Biennial council recommends to the states that "hereafter during a state and district convention that resolutions be reported at each day's session in installments." Our president must have been proud of the fact nat Texas used that system effectively several years ago, and that after several remarks during the last district meetings about resolutions being "railroaded through" or "tucked away," it will be indeed wise to return to the "installment method." The plan of having resolutions read from the floor, referred to committee and reported to convention just prior to adjournment of morning session, was inaugurated by Mrs. J. B. Dibrell in 1906-07, when she was president of the Texas Division U. D. C. She continued the plan in the Federation in 1908-09 during her administration as president. It was pursued for several consecutive conventions and for some unknown reason abandoned for the past few years. As Mrs. Pennybacker has said, the method is a very wise one, and it is to be hoped it will be adopted in future.

Mrs. Clark's Bulletin.

Subject of Housing.

A new department within the Home Economic section is being created, and interest invited. This is to be known as the Housing Movement. A conference is called for Minneapolis the first week in October. The various sub topics will be discussed under the broader title, "Woman's Part in the Housing Movement." This subject touches other departments, such as home economics, health, industrial conditions and sociology. Simple shelter is the least in importance; or would be, were it not that shelter includes health, management, rights of good living, wage expenditure, taxation and such.

Peace Committee Pleased.

As a sub-department within the General Federation educational committee, the educational impetus as regards peace is marked. The women's viewpoint is that peace does not imply so much the laying down of weapons, treaties and arbitration as it does the higher impulse, "Good will towards man." Women are studying more the underlying facts of war than the surface reports from war trenches. New dramas which drive home the horrible truths of war, special course on principles involved in warfare within universities, magazine articles from specialists, all these are receiving attention as never before.

EXCLUSIVE WOMEN'S FAIR TO BE HELD IN HOUSTON

Organized into a mammoth committee for promoting the first exclusively women's fair ever held, the women of Houston are doing something well worthy remark. Their calalogs are out and these announce dates as October 11-16. The organization is already chartered under the name, "The Texas Woman's Fair." This shows that the movement is expected to reach all parts of this state. If encouraged in this, the initial year, there will be annually this Woman's Fair in Houston. Every individual connected is a woman, even to the woman attorney, Mrs. H. W. Ward, who was so energetic over the passage of the better law for the Texas women. As the beginning, women in the seventy adjacent counties have been enlisted. The president is Mrs. J. Edward Hodges; vice president at large, Mrs. W. W. Bains. Other officers are Houston women, while there is an advisory committee of Houston men, also an honorary advisory committee of men through the state. The honor roll names Mrs. Pennybacker, Mrs. James E. Ferguson, Mrs. William Hobby, Mrs. Henry Fall and Mrs. O. B. Colquitt. As charter members, there is given a long list of women, one or two prominent in every section of Texas.

Organization.

The organization gives place for every department in which women are interested. Each department has a chairman and assistants. Each chairman outlines her plan of exhibit and secures articles for same. The cat show, the bench show, horse, better babies, are some of the departments in addition to the occupations, domestic and fine arts, in which women are engaged. Each department has a special superintendent for each division within the department and each has her rules for entry printed in the catalogue. No phase of woman's interest is omitted.

Social Features.

In addition, there is a courtesy committee, as well as provision for special social affairs. Parades daily will be spectacular; a reception and a luncheon at the Rice hotel, together with other features are to be arranged for special entertainment of the visitors.

All Women Interested.

Vice presidents are appointed in each section, these to secure exhibits from women and to arouse interest. These should not be alone. The individual women should be ready to assist, for, from the outlook, and the wide field of proposed activity, the Houston women have launched something of state wide benefit. Think what the advertisement is fr Texas women, that of promoting the only exclusive Women's Fair ever known.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION FOR STATE OF ALABAMA

It now remains for the chief executive's signature, for the children of Alabama to have the compulsory education law. While the Texas law does not become operative until 1916, the Texas women feel relieved to know that the youths of their state are now required to receive education. One by one the southern states, so long behind in this movement, are falling into the paths of progress. The time is fast arriving when Louisiana and Texas and Alabama will not be at the foot of the list in per centage of illiterates.

NEW ARTIST PRESENTED IN VOICE RECITAL

While immediate friends had known that Mrs. Pearl Mackey Lowe of Weatherford was forging to high rank as a Texas artist, it remained for the Waco City Federation to present Mrs. Lowe for the first time in formal program. This was done on Thursday evening. Mrs. Lowe, by natural talent and by advanced training has produced a rare voice. The prediction is that she will immediately take place among the foremost of Texas vocalists.

SUFFRAGIST IN NEW ROLE— SHE IS A CARTOONIST

What next for the indefatigable suffragist? The latest field for her to enter has been that of street cartoonist. She reports success in gaining the attention of hundreds of men who pass by, men who are loafing, and who will stand and watch the swift strokes of crayon when they would never have entered an audience hall to sit down to hear an address.

The idea was caught from the custom in London of men lying on sidewalks and evolving with colored crayons all manner of pictures, then passing the hat for stray pennies. The woman cartoonist doesn't want pennies if only she can get the attention. She is a caricaturist as well as cartoonist and this is what captivates the crowds, for every crowd loves to be amused.

"Butting up against hard facts" is the first. Here the proverbial billy goat is ramming his head against some suffrage arguments. "All pay and no say" is the second. This burlesques the manner of man who pays poll tax and votes against the woman who pays tax and does not vote. And thus it goes. So satisfactory has proved the plan, the woman caricaturist will take her wheel cart, which carries her platform, and make a tour of the state. What next, we say, for the determined and inventive woman who asks for the ballot?

IT IS DOWN WITH THE RAT FOR HEALTH PROTECTION

Now that the fly has been swatted, at least everybody has learned that health demands he should be swatted, a crusade of education against the rat is proposed. Here again women are involved, for the rat is always found worse where scraps from the door are thrown and where horse or cow is fed. Indeed, investigation shows the female rat overwhelmingly in the majority and that not only does she multiply rapidly, but gives birth to eight young at a time. The dread plagues of yellow fever and the fateful bubonic, are found to be spread by the rat. So, in addition to his undesired presence, he is a menace to the health. The first preventive to his presence is cleanliness around the premises. Some of our cities are putting up the banner, "A Ratless Town." We predict it will not be long before every community is waring upon the rate. What a pity we cannot have again a Pied Piper of Hamelin!

U. S. Mints Make Other Nations' Coins

The mints of the United States do a good deal of business of which the public at large knows little or nothing. We not only manufacture metal money for our own use, but we make coins by the millions for other countries.

We make their coins for them at net cost, and make not a penny of profit on the work. We do not merely as an act of friendliness toward our sister republics in the western hemisphere, writes George E. Roberts, formerly director of the United States mint, in the Youth's Companion. Even a small mint can hardly be started for less than $200,000. Such a plant could turn out in a few months enough coins to last a little country for many years, and then of course would have to close. It is much cheaper to send an order for the work to the treasury of the United States.

The first work we did of that kind was for Venezuela, which in 1876 or-two-cent pieces. Our next contract, which was made with the government of the Hawaiian islands, called for 500,000 silver dollars, $500,000 half dollars, 700,000 quarters and 750,000 dimes. We have made quantities of so-called silver coins for Santo Domingo, which contain only 35 per cent of silver to 65 per cent of copper and nickel. In 1898 we coined 3,326,714 such pieces—half dollars, quarters and dimes—and in the following year 96,-089 more. We have also made money for Panama, Costa Rica and Mexico.

The government that orders the coins always furnishes the "master dies" for minting them. These "master dies" cost from $200 to $350 a pair; from them the ordinary working dies are made at the mint.

The mint in San Francisco now makes all of the coins for the Philippine islands.

All United States coins are now made from the ingot. The seigniorage to the government on one cent and five cent pieces amounts annually to about $3,500,000.

The five cent piece is in reality only one-fourth nickel; the remaining three-fourths is copper. The bronze cent is 95 per cent copper, 3 per cent tin, and 2 per cent zinc—an alloy adopted because it is very durable, and because it retains polish better than pure copper does.

United States mints furnish "proof" coins at a little more than their face value to any one who chooses to ask for them. Proof coins are stamped with hand presses from carefully burnished dies, and the blanks used are also burnished. Thus the coins have a mirror-like polish, and are very beautiful. If kept in little buckskin bags—as collectors usually keep them—they will retains their beauty indefinitely. But you can get such proof coins only of the current year, for all dies used at the mints are destroyed annually.

When the government intends to mint a coin of a new design it usually strikes off experimental coins from the various designs that have been submitted. The experimental coins are then put for consideration before the committees on weights and measures of the two houses of congress. The committees, after advising with the secretary of the treasury and the director of the mint, choose the one they like best.

Those "pattern" or "trial," pieces are made of all sorts of metals. Thus, in these experiments the mint has turned out five-dollar, ten-dollar and twenty-dollar "gold" coins in tin, brass, copper, aluminum and various compositions. Such pieces are of course highly valued by collectors, who are glad to pay for a double eagle of tin or copper perhaps ten times its weight in gold. The treasury formerly sold the trial pieces at high figures, but stopped the practice in 1887.

Cautious.

"Any rattlesnakes around here?"

"What's your business?" asked the boy with the big straw hat.

"What has that to do with it?"

"Well, the last man who looked around here for summer board asked me a lot o' questions like that, an' when I told him there wasn't any rattlesnakes or mosquitoes or anything, he said he was a naturalist an' he guessed the place wouldn't suit him."—Washington Star.

"Only One Way to Remove Wrinkles"

Valeska Suratt, Self-Made Beauty-Queen of the American Stage, Tells How Surely to Obtain Beauty.

BY VALESKA SURATT.

THERE is little excuse now for the presence of wrinkles even in women of late middle age. The results of my formula have indeed proven this to be the case. I want every woman to try this formula, use it constantly, and then, your face will reflect again the bloom and freshness as nothing else in the world can do. Mix two tablespoonfuls of glycerine and two ounces of eptol in a half pint of water.

Many women have thousands of little wrinkles and although such wrinkles may hardly be seen, nevertheless, the general appearance of the face is "agey." This formula rejuvenates the skin in a wonderful way, and all wrinkles, large or small, crow's feet, deep lines and sagging cheeks are corrected, making a difference of several years in your appearance.

Eptol may be obtained at any good drug store.

MISS MASCULINE—All hairs, light or heavy, on any part of the body, even on the tenderest skin, can be removed almost as by magic, by my following formula. Get one ounce of simple sulfo solution. This you can get at the drug store. Apply it with the finger tips to the superfluous hair, keeping the hair moist with it for two or three minutes until it has been dissolved. Then wipe it off with a damp cloth and wash the skin.

The ordinary preparations sold for this purpose injure the skin and leave a spot where applied, simply because the hair is literally burned off. The way to do is to use the formula I have just given you, —the only thing known that will simply dissolve away the hair and leave the skin soft, white and smooth.

OCTAVIA—Neither I nor anyone else can promise you that the bust can be developed in every case. It is certain that the use of mechanical contrivances, such as vacuum pumps, electricity, violent massage are all harmful to these very delicate tissues. However, this formula of mine should do it if anything can, and it is certainly worth trying.

To half a pint of hot water, add half a cup of sugar and two ounces of ruetone, with which any druggist will supply you. Dissolve thoroughly and take two teaspoonfuls after meals and on retiring.

JEANNETTE L.—I dare say most of the beautiful complexions you see have been developed after years of painstaking effort. But such labor and patience are no longer necessary by the use of my formula, which I really believe, from personal experience, is the most wonderful beautifier known. With a full pint of hot water mix two tablespoonfuls of glycerine and one ounce of zintone, obtainable at any drug store. This is exceedingly economical, and you can and must use it generously.

DISAPPOINTED—There was no reason why you should not have been able to get the neroxin at the drug store. However, to be sure you get it, simply address "Secretary to Valeska Suratt, Thompson Bldg., Chicago," and my secretary will see that you get it.

DEJECTED—You will be able to comb and brush your hair vigorously without having a single strand come out and your hair will begin to grow out again most beautifully if you will apply every other day or so, and in liberal quantities, my mixture made of half a pint of alcohol, half a pint of water and one ounce of beta-quinol. Shake thoroughly and then it will be ready to use. If you prefer, you can use imported bay rum instead of the water and alcohol. The beta-quinol you can get at almost any drug store. As a result of the use of this formula I am known today as the only woman on the American stage who does not wear puffs, switches, wool rolls, turbans or other hair makeshifts.

Mrs. B. W. R.—I have proven to the satisfaction of many that hydrolized talc in the armpits is superior to anything else for putting an end to all excessive perspiration, which is unnatural. It keeps the armpits always fresh, keeps the perspiration under control, prevents damage to gowns from fading and running of colors. It destroys body odors at once. You can obtain it at any drug store.

MISS RELIANCE—I agree with you. Nearly all face powders are too chalky, and make the face "powdery." I use none but my own face powder, which has absolutely no chalkiness. It is superb in its fineness, smothness and scent, is indetectable and is called "Valeska Suratt Face Powder." It is sold in many drug and department stores. If there is any difficulty in getting it, write to my secretary as suggested above to "Disappointed," enclose 50 cents and state whether white or flesh tint.

MISS ROLLIE—Do what I tell you and you will get rid of all your blackheads in a few minutes' time. Sprinkle some powdered neroxin on a sponge, made wet with hot water, and rub this on the face on the parts affected with blackheads. Get the neroxin at the drug store.

HAD PELLAGRA; IS NOW WELL

Ringgold, La.—Mrs. S. A. Cotter, of this place, writes: "Will say that I am perfectly well and the happiest soul on earth. Wish every pellagra sufferer could know of your great remedy. I know how to appreciate health and sympathize with those that are not so blest as I. Am growing stronger, gaining in weight and can do anything I ever could. Oh, I know I am well of that horrible disease, and my heart is full of rejoicing. I feel that I have come out of a dense cloud into the blessed sunshine. God be praised! He has spared my life for some good, and I feel that I have just begun to live."

There is no longer any doubt that pellagra can be cured. Don't delay until it is too late. It is your duty to consult the resourceful Baughn.

The symptoms—hands red like sunburn; skin peeling off, sore mouth, the lips, throat and tongue a flaming red, with much mucus and choking; indigestion and nausea, either diarrhoea or constipation.

There is hope; get Baughn's big Free remedy for Pellagra that has at last been found. Address American Compounding Co., box 3045, Jasper, Ala., remembering money is refunded in any case where the remedy fails to cure.—Adv.

How to Keep Face Young and Attractive

The way to ward off old age is not to fear it, not to allow one's self to be oppressed by the dread of advancing years. Use only legitimate preventives and avoid trying experiments with preparations not indorsed by physicians. An entirely safe and very effective way to keep the complexion young-looking and beautiful is to apply ordinary mercolized wax at bedtime, using it like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. This gradually absorbs the withered, faded cuticle, which is replaced by the more youthful, pink-tinted underskin. One ounce of this wax, to be had at any drug store, is enough to completely rejuvenate a worn-out complexion.

Crow's feet and other wrinkles, the first signs of advancing age, may be removed by a simple, harmless preparation made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. It is used as a face bath.—National Hygienic Review.

New Method Makes Straight Hair Wavy

(Popular Hygiene.)

It has been found that a simple and harmless fluid, well known to the drug trade, has a remarkable action when applied to straight, lank, unruly hair. It dries in exquisite waves and curls which have all the appearance of true naturalness. It also has proved a delightful and beneficial dressing for the hair.

This product is nothing more than ordinary liquid silmerine, which of course anyone can afford to use. A few ounces of it will last a long time. One will enjoy using it, too, not only because there is nothing sticky, greasy or unpleasant about it, but because it is so easy to apply. It is only necessary to moisten a clean tooth brush with the liquid and draw this through the hair from crown to tip. If this is done at bedtime the hair will be beautifully wavy and curly in the morning, and will not have that dull, scorched look which comes from the use of a hot iron.

Surprising Attributes of the Number 9.

If Shakspere had asked "What's in a number?" as well as "What's in a name?" and pursued that inquiry he would have found an endless field for investigation. There is something mysterious in the character of figures, the strange things you can do with them and the way certain attributes recur in their use, says the Philadelphia Ledger.

The numbers 3, 7 and 9 furnish the most interesting study. Numbers 3 and 7 have their good points, but in potency and versatility they cannot equal 9.

Take the multiplication table, for example. Everywhere the product of 9 results in a 9. It doesn't make any difference what you multiply with or how many times you repeat or change the figures. Just try it. Multiply 9 by 2 and you get 18. Add 1 and 8 and there you have 9. Multiply 3 by 9 and you have 27. Again 2 plus 7 equals 9. There is no variation until you multiply 9 by 11. This gives you 99 and apparently an inconsistency. But add the two digits 9 and 9 and you get 18, and again 1 plus 8 equals 9. This process may be carried to an indeterminable length and the results are always the same. Pick out any number at random. For example, 4,563. Multiply it by 9 and you get 41,067. Add the digits and you have 18, and these digits again and 9 reappears.

Now try another. Take any row of figures at random, reverse their order and subtract the less from the greater. Always the total will be either 9 or a multiple of 9. For example, take 3,459, which reversed reads 9,543. Subtract the digits and the result is 18, a multiple of 9. The same result follows, no matter whether the numbers are raised by squares or by cubes.

Here is another way by which the number 9 exerts its strange powers. Write down at randow any number, add its digits and then subtract the sum of these digits from the original number. The sum of the digits thus obtained will always be either 9 or a multiple of 9. Thus take 7,325. Adding the digits gives 17. Subtracting 17 from 7,325 leaves 7,308. Add the digits and you get 18, and adding 1 and 8 gives 9.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HINTS

To whiten and beautify the complexion permanently we have found no better preparation than a lotion made by dissolving four ounces of spurmax in a half pint of hot water, then adding two teaspoonfuls glycerin. This removes any pimples, shiny, muddy or sallow appearance and will make anyone's skin clear, smooth and velvety. It does not show or rub off like powder; in fact, it seems a part of the skin; and for removing tan and freckles is unequaled.

It is necessary to shampoo more frequently in the warmer weather because of excessive dust and the fact that the head perspires more and is usually more exposed to the weather. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers can be prepared very cheaply by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox, obtained from your druggist, in a cup of hot water. This rubbed into the scalp creates a thick lather, soothing and cooling in its action, as well as very beneficial to scalp and hair. After rinsing, the scalp is fresh and clean, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.

Texas Cotton Palace

NOV. 6th TO 21st

The Best All-Feature 16-Day Program Ever Planned in Texas

READ the Texas Cotton Palace Program as printed below. It has been commented upon by leading exposition men as the best program that was ever planned in Texas

The Texas Cotton Palace Exposition this year will leave nothing in new features, in educational features, in amusement features or in social features to be desired. There will be sixteen days of features. It is hard to pick one day that is better than another. Cavallo's Band and Opera Singers will entertain in the Coliseum each afternoon and night and the attractions that have been secured for the famous War Path are features which together with the many free acts scheduled will mean "something doing' all the time in this section of the grounds. Out on the Race Track and in the Athletic Field there are enough attractions scheduled to make it worth your while to spend sixteen continuous days at the Texas Cotton Palace Exposition. In addition to the many big things planned for the Cotton Palace Grounds proper, there will be Street Parades, the like of which have never before been witnessed here. The Children's Pageant on the afternoon of the opening day will be worth coming many miles to see. This will also be true of the Woman's Day Parade on which day the famous Liberty Bell will be in Waco. In fact you can take this program from the opening day, November 6th to the last day of the Exposition, and you will find every day has been planned to afford not only the best attractions but the newest features.

THE LIBERTY BELL

Women are always lucky. Waco women seem to be particularly lucky. The public officials of Philadelphia who have charge of the transportation of the famous Liberty Bell have selected Woman's Day at the Cotton Palace, Wednesday, Nov. 17, as the proper occasion for placing the world famous bell on exhibition in this city. This is fortunate indeed. Woman's Day at the Cotton Palace is always one of the biggest days of the exposition, drawing immense delegations of the fair sex from all parts of Texas.

It is believed this year that with the double attraction of the exhibition of the Liberty Bell and the Woman's Day festivities, more people will be attracted to the Cotton Palace than have ever been in Waco on any single day in the history of the city. From 25,000 to 30,000 visitors are expected from the smaller towns in the Waco territory.

Every man, woman and child within reach of Waco will naturally want to see the most celebrated bell in the world. It is doubtful if the people of Texas will ever have another opportunity of seeing the bell, as it is generally understood this will be the last time it will be taken from its home in Philadelphia.

All public schools in McLennan and adjoining counties will be asked to close on the day the bell is in this city, so that all of the children may have an opportunity of seeing it.

The bell is transported on a specially constructed car and is in charge of a corps of the largest policemen in the city of brotherly love.

Next to our flag the famous Liberty Bell seems to evoke the most ardent outbursts of patriotic feeling, especially during its occasional journeys. In the last thirty years it has been removed seven times on great public occasions to far distant points, its longest journey being the present one to the exposition at San Francisco. The longest previous journey was to the St. Louis fair. Trips made by the bell during the last thirty years are as follows: New Orleans in 1885; Chicago, 1893; Atlanta, 1895; Charleston, 1902; Boston, 1903; St. Louis, 1904; Founders week procession in Philadelphia in 1908, and the present trip across the continent.

Some Touching Scenes.

At Springfield, Illinois, although the train was six hours late and did not arrive until nearly midnight, 20,000 people were waiting to see the bell. In the throng was an aged woman, nearing four-score years. The crowd made way for her as she was helped into the car. Falling on her knees beside the bell, she lovingly caressed its ragged edges again and again, weeping tears of joy and too overcome to speak. Then she told how her grandfather had often described to her the day when he had heard the Liberty Bell ring out its message in 1776.

In sharp contrast was the scene enacted one morning before sunrise in a little town in Iowa. It was witnessed only by the two officers in charge of the bell. There at the station a farmer, his wife and two babies in arms were waiting. They had been there for several hours, fearful of missing the opportunity of their lives. The train stopped only a few minutes, but the infants, wrapped in blankets, were quickly handed up to the officers. "Please let them touch it," said the father; "they may never get another chance in their lives." A look of joyous satisfaction illumined the parents' faces as the request was granted. Then the little ones were handed down and the train rushed on.

Even more pathetic was the greeting of a 9-year-old blind boy at another town. He was the grandson of a veteran who had fought in the Civil war. Guided by this old man, the boy forced his way through the dense crowd. After eagerly running his fingers over the Bell's surface he threw his arms about the great bronze relic and slowly spelled out with his sensitive trained finger tips the inscription which his sightless eyes could not read. As he was led away amid the sympathetic silence of those who had witnessed the scene his face was irridiated by a faint smile and bore an expression of supreme satisfaction.

History of Liberty Bell.

The following excerpts from an article written several years ago by Wilfred Jordan, curator at Independence Hall, Philadelphia, and published in the Ladies' Home Journal, will give some interesting history of the bell.

"The history of the Liberty Bell is a stormy one. It was decreed by the Pennsylvania assembly on Jan. 27, 1750, 'that the superintendent of the state house proceed as soon as conveniently they may to carry up a building on the south side of the said house to contain the staircase with a suitable place thereon to hang a bell.' At this time the tower terminated a little above the main roof. The eastern room of the state house on the first floor was sufficient for legislative requirements, but as a committee room was needed the tower was raised one story for this purpose and 'for ye bookes.' A steeple was also built at the same time.

"An English bell occupied the state house temporarily, but to keep pace with the enlargement of the building a larger bell was needed. A letter signed by the superintendents of the State House (Isaac Norris, Thomas Leech and Edward Warner) to the colonial agent in London, dated November 1, 1751, explains the inception of the idea of the Liberty Bell. Mr. Norris is credited with the authorship of the letter, but whether he personally selected the text, or who suggested it, is not known. It is very likely that the purchasers foresaw the revolution, for the colonists were loyal then, and it was not until 1776 that the desire for freedom became pronounced and universal. Hence the inscription on the bell must be regarded only as a remarkable coincidence. The letter reads:

"Respected Friend, Robert Charles:

"The assembly having ordered us (the superintendents of the State House) to procure a bell from England, to be purchased for their use we take the liberty to apply ourselves to thee to get us a good bell of about two thousand pounds weight, the cost of which we presume may amount to about one hundred pounds sterling, or, perhaps, with the charges, something more. We hope and rely on thy care and assistance in this affair, and that thou wilt procure and forward it by the first good opportunity, as our workmen inform us it will be much less trouble to hang the bell before their scaffolds are struck from the building where we intend to place it, which will not be done till the end of next summer or beginning of the fall. Let the bell be cast by the best workmen, and examined carefully before it is shipped, viz.: 'By order of the assembly of the Province of Pennsylvania, for the State House in the city of Philadelphia, 1752.'

"'And underneath, "Proclaim liberty through all the land to all the inhabitants thereof." Levit. XXV 10.

"'As we have experienced thy readiness to serve this province on all occasions we desire it may be our excuse for this additional trouble from thy assured friends. Let the package for transportation be examined with particular care, and the full value insured thereon.'

When the Bell Cracked.

"When the bell arrived it was found that the positions of the inscriptions had been reversed. Furthermore the bell cracked upon first being tested in August, 1752. It had been cast by Thomas Lester, at Whitechapel, London, and the superintendents intended returning it to him. Mr. Norris describes (March 10, 1753) what followed:

"'It was cracked by a stroke of the clapper without any other violence as it was hung up to try the sound. We concluded to send it back by Captain Budden, but he could not take it on board, upon which two ingenious workmen undertook to cast it here, and I am just now informed they have this day opened the mould and have got a good bell, which, I confess, pleases me very much, that we should venture upon and succeed in the greatest bell cast for aught I know, in English-America. The mould was finished in a very masterly manner, and the letters, I am told, are better than on the old one. When we broke up the metal our judges here generally agreed it was too high and brittle, and cast several little bells out of it to try the sound and strength, and fixed upon a mixture of an ounce and a half of copper to one pound of the old bell, and in this proportion we now have it.'

"The makers of this new bell were Pass and Stow. Pass was from the Island of Malta, and Stow was the son of the doorkeeper of the council. Mr. Norris, in a subsequent letter to Robert Charles, says that 'after it was hung in its place it was found to contain too much copper and Pass and Stow were so teased with the witticisms of the town that they asked permission to cast it over again.'

"The date of the first hanging of the bell was early in 1753, and may be approximately fixed by a bill dated April 17, the Province, to Edmund Wooley, Dr. "for sundries advanced for raising the bell frame and putting up the bell." In the list of expenses appear 2 pecks of potatoes, 44 pounds beef, 4 gammons (hams), mustard, pepper, salt, butter, a cheese, 300 limes, 3 gallons rum of John Jones, 36 loaves of bread of Lacy ye Baker, cooking and wood, earthenware and candles, and a barrel of beer, of Anthony Morris; the whole amounting in value to L5, 13 S., 10d." (about $28.) Such was the nourishment required to raise the Liberty Bell to the State House steeple.

Pass and Stow were finally granted their wish to recast the bell. In June, 1753, the second effort of Pass and Stow was raised to its place in the steeple. The American makers were paid L60, 13s, 5d. (about $303) for their labor and this was the cost of the American casting of the Liberty Bell. The exact amount paid Thomas Lester for the original casting is not on record, although it is known that the right was reserved to send the makers the old bell in part payment. This was evidently waived, as the second bell was used after 1781, for which there is no record of purchase.

Complaints Against Clamor.

The bell was not always treated with the reverence now accorded it and bitter complaints against its clamor reached the assembly. One petition signed by "divers inhabitants" complained that they were much distressed by the frequent ringing of the great bell, and "begged to be relieved from this dangerous inconvenience, except at the time of the meeting of the honorable assembly and of the courts of justice."

The fulfillment of the prophecy of the Biblical inscription first took place on July 8, 1776—not July 4, as is the general opinion. On July 8 the bell rang to call the citizens together to hear the reading of the proclamation of the adoption of the declaration.

First Ringing of Bell.

A pretty story is told of a little blue-eyed boy, who on July 4, after the signing of the Declaration, rushed upstairs into the steeple and commanded the grizzled old bell-puller to "Ring! Ring! Ring!" In proof of this assertion a lock of the boy's hair is shown. It is possible that such a boy may have existed, but if he climbed the stairs old Andrew McNair refused to take his exhortation seriously, for according to the records the bell was not rung on the day of the signing. The Declaration of Independence was built upon the Richard Henry Lee resolution of June 7, 1776. Neither the name of Lee or John Adams, who seconded the resolution, appears on the journal, so great was the individual responsibility in case of failure in adoption.

Five men, Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, Roger Sherman and Robert Livingston were chosen by ballot to draw up the Declaration. The bulk of the labor devolved upon Jefferson, as chairman, and the draft was made in a building at Seventh and High streets (now Market). On July 2 the resolution for independence was finally passed, but the 3rd and 4th of July were required for debate, paragraph by paragraph. It was adopted in toto, and signed July 4, in the evening. During those days no mention is made of the ringing of the State House Bell, but we know that it rang on the 8th of July to call the citizens together to hear the proclamation of the adoption of the Declaration. In celebrating the proclamation it was assisted by the bells of Christ church, which "joined in the chorus as merrily aye and as steadily as if the Rev. Jacob Duche, its pastor, had that day espoused the patriot cause." That worthy gentleman, however, persisted in using the public prayer for the sovereign and the royal family, but remained unmolested by the patriots.

At 11 o'clock, on the 8th of July, the Pennsylvania Committee of Safety met in the "Lodge;" among them were members of congress and signers of the Declaration. At the same hour the Committee of Inspection met at Philosophical Hall (on Fifth street) and proceeded in a body to join the Committee on Safety. The two bodies went in procession to the state house yard. This was inclosed by a wall, with a great gateway on the south side at about the point now occupied by the statue of Berry. Only one-half of the present Independence Square was included in the yard. The constables, sheriffs, coroner and deputies, bearing their insignia of authority, preceded the Committee of Safety, which was followed by the Committee of Inspection. After these should have come the "town's gentlemen;" but they did not appear. In the upper rooms of the state house arms were stored, and in barracks to the east and west were munitions of war. Soldiers with cannon stood on guard while powder shot and military stores were contained in nearby wagons. The Declaration was read from a platform built out from an open observatory erected on the eastern (Fifth street) side of the yard by the American Philosophical society. The people had assembled in the yard, summoned by the great bell, to pledge with the signers their lives, their fortunes and their honor.

John Nixon was the choice of the sheriff for the reading—a man of frank countenance and powerful voice. The reading began with the words, "In congress, July 4, 1776, a declaration of the representatives of the United States of America," and swept on in the noble phrasing of Jefferson, "When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another and to assume among the powers of the earth—" The multitude was hushed at the awful import of the introduction, but could not restrain its enthusiasm at the indictments of the king, and frequently interrupted Mr. Nixon with bursts of applause. At the close of the reading, which was so clear that the words were heard distinctly beyond the borders of the yard, the Declaration "was accepted with general applause and heartfelt satisfaction." Old Andrew McNair again rang the bell, and the assemblage dispersed. In the evening the king's arms, taken from the state house, were burned on the Common amid great rejoicing. We read in the annals of the times that "it was a long day of sunshine and the night was starlight and beautiful."

The Liberty Bell was intimately associated with the continental army. In 1777, when the American forces were about to evacuate Philadelphia, the bell together with the seven chimes of Christ Church and two bells of St. Peter's, was taken from the steeple and transported to Allentown. Had it fallen into the hands of the British, then about to occupy the city, the bell would probably have been melted into bullets. While passing through Bethlehem en route to Allentown the wagon bearing the State House bell broke down, but the bell was not injured. It rested in Zion church, Allentown, and after the evacuation of Philadelphia by the British was not immediately restored to its original place.

The Liberty Bell rang to commemorate each successive anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration until 1835. It announced the surrender of Cornwallis, welcomed Washington, proclaimed victory and peace, mourned Washington, welcomed Lafayette, mourned Franklin, Adams, Jefferson, and then Lafayette. All the great actors in the drama of independence had passed from the mortal stage when the bell rang for the last time. On July 8, 1853 (fifty-nine years to a day from its historic ringing) at the funeral solemnities of John Marshall, chief of justice of the supreme court of the United States, the Liberty Bell tolled for the last time, and cracked half way up its side.

The first men who rang the Liberty Bell were Edward Kelly, David Edward and Andrew McNair, the ringer in 1776. The last ringer was Thomas Downing. The bell hung in the State House steeple until that was removed in 1781. It remained in the tower below until 1846, and rested in the declamation chamber until 1876, the year of the centennial, when it was placed in its old frame in the hallway. In 1877 it was hung from the ceiling of the hallway by a stout chain of thirteen links, was then removed again to the declaration chamber and in 1896 taken back into the hallway and placed in the case it now occupies.

The frame has never been removed from the building since its arrival in 1753. It is a massive, iron-bound, double structure of black walnut and it may now be seen in the tower, the original building "carried up" in 1753. Its walls are of brick masonry, two feet in thickness, and are pierced by the three original rose windows. During the time that the bell hung in the tower these windows were fitted with sounding boards. The bell ringer slept in the room and for a time the keeper of the tower lived there with his family.

After the removal of the steeple in 1781 a slender spire surmounted the tower. Immediately before this, on the main roof, was a second bell called the "clock bell," supposed to have been the original State House bell, dating back to the time of Penn. The bell hanging in the present steeple was presented with the clock by Mr. Henry Seybert, of Philadelphia, on July 4, 1876. It is larger than the Liberty Bell and bears the words of the original inscription, and several patriotic and religious mottoes.

The Liberty Bell itself is suspended in its case from the old revolutionary yoke. Two bronze uprights support its sides, replacing the clumsy old frame. The case is of white oak with heavy plate glass panes, and the whole stands on a movable platform, which can be run out of the building in case of fire.

The model of the Liberty Bell was cast by order of Henry III in memory of Edward the Confessor, in the thirteenth century. The general dimensions of our American relic are 12 feet circumference around the lip, 7 feet six inches around the crown. The clapper is three feet two inches long and the entire weight 2,080 pounds. The bell is girdled by fifteen narrow ridged rings. The edge of the lip is shamefully hacked and mutilated. In the days before the old relic had the protection of an enclosed case the caretakers were in the habit of chipping off small pieces with a chisel, and presenting them as souvenirs to their friends.

Advantages — For Your Wife

Many a car that looks good from a superficial examination is often found to be very incomplete and lacking in many conveniences, after it has been purchased.

Nowadays all cars run but some run with considerably less bother than others.

In this respect the Overland has many desirable advantages — advantages that will appeal particularly to your wife.

All electric controls are located on the steering column — within natural reach. Nothing could be simpler or more convenient.

The clutch and brake pedals are adjustable to any angle. Another convenience.

Also, they "give" with practically no effort. One does not have to strain in order to apply the brake or disengage the clutch.

The steering wheel is large and turns very easily. Strength is not a bit necessary. A young girl can handle it.

The shifting lever is handy and shifts readily. It is placed so that it in no way interferes with either the driver or other occupant of the front seat.

All storm curtains can be put on in a few minutes, without getting out of the car. They are arranged so that they almost fall in place.

These few things are indicative of Overland comforts and conveniences. Your wife will appreciate them.

Compared with other popular-priced cars, the Overland has many decided advantages.

COTTON

New York, Sept. 18.—The cotton market showed renewed nervousness and irregularity today, with trading less active and the close steady, net unchanged to 13 points lower. Fall and winter deliveries were relatively easy, while March led the rallies and the more remote deliveries showed minimum losses at the close.

Easier Liverpool cables and the failure of the Cuban weather disturbance to develop threatening aspects overnight probably accounted for an opening decline of 4 to 15 points, with October contracts selling at 10.53c and January at 11.03c on the call. Spot houses were considerable sellers, while there was renewed scattering liquidation, but offerings were very well taken around the initial figures. Recent sellers for a reaction seemed to take profits at the decline of some 30 to 35 points from the high records of Wednesday and some fresh buying probably was promoted by bullish advices from the goods trade and further unfavorable crop advices, particularly from the southwest. It also was rumored that old bulls who had taken profits earlier in the week were rebuying January contracts on the rally, which carried prices up to 10.61 for October and 11.13 for January during the middle of the morning, while March sold up to 11.42, or 2 points net higher. Demand then tapered off and the market sold back to 10.51 for October and 11.03 for January, in the late trading under renewed liquidation, some further spot house selling, talk of an easier tone in some of the southern spot markets and reports of increased hedge selling. The close was 2 to 3 points up from the lowest on covering.

Port receipts today 34,010 bales; for the season 440,588; exports 31,713, for season 308,218. Port stocks 796,437.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, Sept. 18.—The reaction in cotton was still in evidence today but declines were not well maintained and liquidation to a great extent was offset by fresh buying. The close was steady at a net loss of 9 to 11 points. The opening was excited with prices breaking under heavy selling in sympathy with the much lower Liverpool than due. In the early trading the most active months lost 17 to 23 points. These levels brought out much buying, part of which appeared to be new and part from sold out bulls and a quick recovery took prices to within 4 to 6 points of yesterday's close. During the remainder of the morning the market fluctuated nervously within a narrow range. Small bulges stimulated liquidation and small breaks stimulated fresh long buying.

The market's undertone was steady throughout the session, apparently on the belief that the export situation would be clarified by the rise in foreign exchange and the proposed Anglo-French loan.

WHEAT

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Low-priced Canadian offers to Liverpool and to millers in the United States led to a fresh decline today in the wheat market here. The close was heavy 1½ to 1⅝@1¾c down, with December at 93¼@93¼c and May at 96½@96⅝c. Other leading staples, too, all showed a net loss—corn ⅜@½ to ⅝@¾c, oats ⅛@¼ to 2¼@2⅜c and provisions 7@25c.

Wheat at no time displayed any decided power to rally. Numerous stop loss orders were executed, owing to the continued decline of the wheat market early in the day. Predictions of large receipts here Monday were current and there also was a forecast of a small increase in the United States visible supply total. Accordingly, the ruling prices at the close were almost the lowest of the season.

Corn worked lower in sympathy with wheat. Favorable weather prevailed and notices of rural consignments expanded to a noticeable extent.

Oats followed the bearish lead of other cereals. Selling was checked somewhat, though, by the comparative slowness of the crop movement.

Further sharp breaks in the value of hogs made holders of provisions be disposed to unload. The market, however, lacked support and the selling was not pressed.

Farmer Is Shrewd.

"When the farmer buys a motor car he has 'to be shown,'" says a sales executive of Dodge Brothers, Detroit. "He doesn't take anything on say so. And he particularly searches for the hidden quality. The average city man is very strong for looks and design but only in rare cases is he possessed of much knowledge of mechanics and then, too, he is schooled in the proposition that even if something goes wrong with his car it is only a step to a garage.

"But the countryman adopts an entirely different attitude when he buys a car. He is usually motor wise. He has been operating his farm machinery by gasoline engine and is familiar with the principle and operation of motors. He has before him at all times the thought that he must have a car that will 'take him there and back.' In other words, he will not take chances on a car that may strand him ten miles from home and three or four from help

"He is a close reader of motor car advertising literature. In most cases when he plans buying a car he has been giving the subject thought for a year or so and reading up on it. He keeps the salesman on his toes with his questions and he demands absolute frankness

"We notice the difference in the attitude of the city man and the farmer when they go through our plant. The urban dweller pays attention to the externals; to the immensity of the plant, the great number of men employed, the production, etc. The rural visitor wants to be shown the details of manufacture, particularly the hidden mechanism and the hidden quality of the materials. Going through the upholstering shop, for instance, the city man looks at the finished bodies and admires their appearance while the farmer examines the leather and satisfies himself of its quality and that of the curled hair which we use."

Firemen to Elect Trott's Successor on September 28

A mass meeting of the Waco fire department has been called for Tuesday, Sept. 28, for the purpose of electing a successor for First Assistant Chief Eugene Trott, whose death occurred recently in Denver. The notice of the called meeting was issued yesterday by Chief Ed Bauerle.

MAY IRWIN BACKS WILSON.

Wants Cabinet Post to Laugh His Detractors Out of Court.

May Irwin fills no position in President Wilson's cabinet, which precludes her reprimanding publicly those she thinks talk too much, but as a suffragist who campaigned ardently for the president she feels privileged to stand up for him. So, taking her press agent's freely flowing fountain pen in hand, she sent a letter to President Wilson, which said, among other things:

"In these times, when our beloved country is facing the most crucial problems of its history, you have shown yourself as great a patriot and statesman as ever held the executive office.

"But, as usual, there are some agitators and self-seekers who, for the sake of notoriety, are attempting to handicap the work of the president, even to the extent of hurling this nation into the bloodiest war of all history. I am only an humble almost citizen, but I think it the duty of every woman, child or man to encourage you with a direct approval of your course. Hence this letter.

"I would like to see a new department added to the government, to be known as the Department of Laughter. The function of it should be to laugh out of court these fools and self-seekers, these peers and jingoes who are trying to annoy you in your work. The rulers of old had their Sir Motleys and jesters for just such a purpose. I respectfully apply for the portfolio of this department on the supposition that I know a good laugh when I see one."

Up to the hour of going to press the good submarine Oyster Bay had not even shown its periscope preparatory to firing an answering broadside.—New York Times.

Diversification in Arkansas.

What the diversification movement has accomplished for the south in general may be judged to some extent by what it is accomplishing in certain localities. Take the district in which Newark, Ark., is situated, as an instance. Thus far this season twenty-five carloads of wheat have been removed from that station. Thirty carloads of alfalfa also have been shipped, and the total for the summer will be about fifty carloads. Twenty-five carloads of canned goods are in stock and twenty-five more carloads will be canned during the fall. The prospects are that the shipments of corn from this point will reach 200 carloads. All this, it must be remembered, in a district that formerly raised cotton almost exclusively and went outside for its foodstuffs. The cotton growers are to be intelligently and generously helped by the United States treasury this year, but there is another and a better reason why the south is not alarmed over the contraband order. It is no longer solely dependent on a single crop.—Christian Science Monitor.

THE FARMER AND ORGANIZATION.

This is an age of organization, education and co-operation. All are organized and compactly so, except the farmer, from the newsboys on the streets to the nation's wealthiest, from the hod carriers on the buildings to our leading financiers in their private offices.

The evolution in organization of both capital and labor has added much in development and progress, each serving their purpose in advanced civilization, each have worked as a general rule for good which all have enjoyed. Both in some instances have made mistakes, working a hardship on the masses and from which all have suffered.

Corporations are organizations usually of the wealthy for development and private gain, labor unions of the toilers for bettering of class conditions as well as individual profit, each endeavoring to accomplish their purpose without much heed to the interest of the other or the welfare of the masses. Organization must be met by organization.

The farmer stands practically unorganized between the nether mill stones, organized capital on the one side, labor on the other, and between the two his interest has been ground to grist unfit for the gods.

Organization is thrust upon the farmer whether he desires it or not. He cannot much longer fight his battle individually and alone for himself and those dependent upon him and remain in the home-owning class. Organization, if properly carried out, will do for him what it has done for others—afford him protection and an assured profit on his labor.

He is producing greater crops than ever before, but prices obtained have not rendered a fair profit as statistics of both state and nation will show that his wealth per capita grows less as the years roll by.

He must have organization to arrest the increase of tenantry for the redirecting and enrichment of country life, for marketing and distribution of his products, for rural credit and establishing of farm finance on a scientific basis, for application of proven business rules in the handling of his business.

It will only be by this agency (organization) that he will come into his own, make farm life more profitable, stop the influx of the boys and girls from the farm to the city, thereby solving one of our greatest problems—the growth of urban over rural population.

Mr. Houston, national secretary of agriculture, has stated "if the people of the city do not co-operate with the farmer in making country life worth while and more efficient, they will have to leave the city and go to farming in order to obtain the necessities of life." As I see it, the farmer's greatest trouble lies not in the field of production (while there is much need for efficiency in reducing the cost of production) but in the field of distribution or marketing.

The products of his labors pass through the hands of too many who take their profit and in many instances a profit all out of proportion to the service rendered. "The laborer is worth his hire," be he bank president in his private office, the hod carrier on the building, or the farmer in the furrow. The farmer needs no help from a charitable standpoint, only assistance to the extent that advantage has been taken of him in an unorganized capacity, giving him an open field ad fair fight. But if he is ever organized for his own welfare and protection and for the country's good he himself must do it. If his interests are protected, he must do the protecting. If country life ever becomes profitable and attractive, he must make it so. If he receives a fair profit on his labor, or changes any system that is unfair to him, he must demand the profit and change the system himself and these things he can only do through organization.

Then, is it not passing strange, when he sees and knows what organization has done for others and will do for him, that he does not organize?

Farmers, if you expect to enjoy the full fruits of your labors, have prosperous and happy homes, give your children the same opportunities as the children of others enjoy, build and maintain the fertility of your soil, be the owner of the land you till, then you must organize. If you fail to do as others have done, stand together, protect your interests, demand your rights, be not surprised if you are left behind in your efforts to gain a competency. You will have the burden to bear, for you will not do as others have done—organize.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

The market continues to climb. There is a strong demand for every bale offered.

There is no question about a very short crop. From the most reliable sources of information obtainable, India's crop will be short one million bales, Egypt 500,000 centars, the south about three and a half to four million bales. The carry-over was not near as large from last year's crop as was expected. The visible supply is fast vanishing. The stocks of mills on both manufactured and raw cotton is below normal.

The financial condition in our country is the strongest in our history. Bankers are lending a greater assistance at low rates of interest in financing the crop in the history of the south.

There is no reason why we should not market this short crop for more money than was obtained last season, which was our greatest output. We will see 12 cents or better in the next 60 or 90 days if the entente alliance—the farmer, banker and merchant—continue to co-operate. Feed the market as slow as possible in keeping with good business judgment, store out of the weather and hold every bale possible. Watch the market climb and the south grow richer.

The European war has taught one thing—that co-operative effort will solve any problem confronting our people.

An Ancient Sea.

Many million years ago, long before the birth of the Rocky mountains, a large inland sea spread over the western and central parts of North America. In geologic language the invasion of this sea occurred in Mississippian time—a period just preceding the one in which the bituminous and anthracite coal beds that extend over portions of central and eastern North America were formed. This sea covered much of the present site of the Rocky mountain area, the central plains, and at times a part of the Great Plains in the United States. At different times it opened into the Arctic ocean on the north, the Pacific on the south, and probably the Gulf of Mexico on the southeast.

This incursion of salt water was not the first or the last to invade the American continent. At each incursion muddy, sandy, or limy deposits mixed with sea shells and other animal remains were laid down along the beach and upon the sea floor. Strange as it may seem, most of these rocks formed ages ago now stand above sea level and constitute plains, plateaus and even mountains.

Animal life was very abundant in this Mississippian sea. Nearly if not all the classes of animals now living were present. Sharks and fishes, though different in appearance from the present forms, sported along the shore or swam the deep. Sea lilies or crinoids, animals built on the same general plan as the starfish but having a calcareous cup with an attached stem, decorated the sea floor. Sea shells belonging to the same class as the oysters and snails were there. The lamp shells, or more technically speaking the brachio-pods, resembling butterflies, mingled with a corkscrew-like sea net. Other forms, minute and large, figured in this life and have been wonderfully well preserved to the present time. Finally this sea bottom began to rise, and at length it emerged; the waters withdrew to the deep basins, and land life was substituted for marine.

Bulletin 595, written by G. H. Girty and just published by the United States geological survey, describes the fossil shells of animals living at one time in this ancient sea in the vicinity of Batesville, Ark. The rocks—known as the Boone chert—formerly had been placed with the Boone limestone, but the author in this report has separated the two and classified the Boone chert as a distinct formation. Contact with contiguous formations, correlations with non-adjacent chert beds, lithology and faunal character are considered in the discussion. Several new species are described. The bulletin is a technical description and is of interest to those investigating the paleontology of the Paleozoic rocks and the geology of the Mississippi valley. Any one desiring a copy of this report may obtain it free upon application to the director of the United States geological survey, Washington, D. C.

New Stage Types.

War jokes on the music hall stage are a rather dreary business, about as perfunctory and ungenial as the dutiful laughter or applause which greets them. One piece of war "business," however, has proved fairly popular, and no up-to-date revue is complete without. This is the Big and Litle Willie joke. The queer thing about he jest is that, after the two grotesque figures have both exhibited their "frightfulness" to the fullest extent, "Little Willie" invariably turns on his father with an Iron Cross or some other unmistakable insult. Centuries hence, perhaps, these may be traditional figures of our comic stage, like Clown and Pantaloon, still playing out their eternal satire to audiences that have forgotten its tragic-comic significance.—Manchester Guardian.

POLLY AND HER PALS

Texas Cotton Palace, November 6th-21st —The South's Most Unique Exposition

Waco Morning News

CO-OPERATION

We are indeed very much enthused over the co-operation we have received from the business citizenship of Waco relative to the big edition of the Waco Morning News to be published October 31st. We are using every effort to make this the largest and most comprehensive newspaper ever heretofore published in this section of Texas.

The Texas Cotton Palace and Brazos Navigation Edition will show the many natural resources and the wonderful industrial educational and general development of this city and section.

WACO DESERVES IT

All the publicity we can possibly get is none too much for Waco and her loyal citizenship. A newspaper edited along the lines that will characterize this one will do much to put Waco with the class of cities she so justly deserves. Few cities of less than 100,000 population have ever undertaken such a task as now confronts us. It is not all on our part that we have undertaken such an issue, but inspired by a loyal people who believe anything worth doing is worth doing well. Opinions from people and newspapers through the United States will not have to be asked for—they will come, for it is contemplated that thousands of extra copies of this issue will be mailed throughout the United States.

STATISTICIANS AND SPECIAL WRITERS

We have engaged statisticians and special writers and they are now gathering much valuable information showing the history, development and possibilities of Waco, the Brazos Valley and Central Texas.

In attempting the largest newspaper ever published in Central Texas, we respectfully ask all copy from the advertisers be handed in early, as it will be necessary for our printers to have same at the earliest possible moment to facilitate the compiling of this most instructive and interesting edition.

BAYLOR WILL OPEN TOMORROW MORNING

FIRST TWO DAYS OF TERM WILL BE DEVOTED TO CLASSIFICATION OF STUDENTS.

NEW COURSES ARE ANNOUNCED

Offices of Athletic Managers Being Decorated With Pictures of College Heroes.

Baylor university will open its regular session Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Students intending to enter school will get all of the announcements concerning the opening, matriculation, and classification by attending the chapel exercises which will be held in Carroll chapel at 9 o'clock. New students will save a great deal of time by being there promptly and getting all of this information. After the chapel exercises the matriculation will begin at the registrar's office in the science hall, and parents who wish to assist their children and are obliged to leave on early trains will be accommodated at once if they call at the office of the president which is also in the science hall.

Monday and Tuesday will be devoted to classification and the chapel exercises on both days will be at 9 o'clock in order to save the maximum amount of time. The formal opening of the session will be on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, when the first formal chapel exercises will be held. At that time the new teachers will be introduced to the student body and some announcements will be made to the public concerning the work of the university during the coming year.

Professor Guittard of the history department announces two new courses, history 20 and 21. The first is a history of Russia up to the present time, and the other is a history of the development of the British empire in modern times. Both courses are intended to give the student a knowledge of conditions in these two countries sufficient to give an intelligent understanding of the war and its possibilities. The course in the history of Russia will give the development of the empire from its earliest known history, but will lay special emphasis on the history of modern Russia. The English history course will deal particularly with England since 1880.

In the spring term 1915 courses were offered in the modern history of Germany and France in which were traced some of the causes leading up to the war. These two new courses are companion courses to the first two and will be carried on in somewhat the same way. The courses are minors and will be offered consecutively in the fall term. Because of the connection that they have with current events, and the fact that they have never been offered before, they are expected to prove quite popular with the student body.

Graduate Manager Gantt began Friday his plan of decorating the offices of the athletic managers with the pictures of Baylor's athletic heroes. From the photographers down town he has obtained all of the available pictures of these men and the pictures have been very neatly framed and hung in the two offices. There are a large number of pictures which he yet hopes to obtain through the co-operation of friends and alumni over the state, of which no negatives can be found in Waco. All the ones which have been hung have the pictures of men in the uniform that they wore at the time they played, and some of them look rather quaint in comparison with modern football and baseball equipment. The group pictures which have been hung are: A picture of the famous undefeated football squad of 1910, the championship baseball teams of 1911 and 1912, the undefeated 1912 basketball team.

Individual pictures grouped in panels were hung of the following men: Lester, Higginbotham, Gantt, Morrow, John Fisher, John Fouts, McCasland, Doggie Ward, Mosley, Little, Puett, Robinson, Black, Leazer, C. M. Henry, Knox Henry, McMahon, W. M. Harrell, Bob Power, Cooper, Floyd Fouts, Willie, Belew, Punchard, Ewing and Cobb. These men were proficient in several sports, being divided between football, baseball, basketball and track. Some of them were two and three letter men.

The university library, which has been closed for two weeks for straightening and rearranging of books, will be opened again Monday. The library is open to the people of Waco, as it has been for several years, and they are invited to use it freely under the same rules that the students observe. The library has altogether about forty thousand volumes including bound magazines, and many in the city will find it helpful in many ways.

President Brooks has been out of the city for the past few days speaking at teachers' institutes at Gonzales, Athens, and Richmond. Dean Kesler and Professor Kesler have also spent several days lately in similar work at associations and religious gatherings over the state. All of the officials, and those who have been over the state working in the interest of the university feel quite optimistic over the prospects for a full attendance.

Good Showing of Pigs for Cotton Palace

With Drake's celebrated pig boys reigning in well earned pride at the Cotton Palace, and the officials of A. and M. college on hand with their scientific exhibtion of pigs, that important and profitable animal will at last come into his own.

One of the most interesting exhibits in that line will be a remarkable demonstration in hog feeding that was worked out by the department of Animal Husbandry at A. and M. college. Stock raisers generally will be greatly interested in this particular display.

The following letter from C. M. Evans, the head of that department, will give a splendid idea of the exhibit:

"I want to call your attention to a very remarkable demonstration in hog feeding that has been carried on recently by the animal husbandry department.

Three pigs—little mates—were started on various rations on April 1. At that time the best pig weighed 30½ pounds, and since that time it has been fed all the corn it could eat in a dry lot. The next pig weighed 27½ pounds, and has been fed all the corn it could eat in addition to some skim milk. The sorriest pig in the lot weighed 24 pounds, and since that time has been fed all the corn and skim milk it could eat in addition to having the run of the pasture. The remarkable thing is that the pig which had the pasturage now weighs about 250 pounds, the one which had the corn and skim milk weighs 175 pounds, and the one that had all the corn it could eat only weighs about 75 pounds.

"The dollar and cents data on this demonstration is truly remarkable. The pasture and skim milk pig having demonstrated the possibilities of profitable pork production when balanced rations are fed while the pig fed corn alone has lost money.

"These pigs, with the data of the test, make a remarkable study in balanced rations and hog raising for Texas.

"The point, however, that I want to make, was that very few people have seen these pigs and I think they would make a splendid demonstration if placed in the swine division of the Cotton Palace. If you desire to have these pigs at the Cotton Palace we will be glad to send them and will also have C. C. Finch, Dr. Jones, hog cholera expert; Prof. Burk, who conducted the experiment, on hand to make talks to the farmers. I will also arrange to be on hand myself."

The directors of the Cotton Palace very promptly closed the arrangements to obtain this exhibit.

The New

AND THE NEW REO PRICES

Read Carefully the Explanation of How These Prices Were Made Possible

BUT PERHAPS THE MOST IMPORTANT factor in the reduction of manufacturing cost and at the same time the making of a better product, was to be found in Reo itself.

NEVER SINCE THE DAY REO WAS incorporated has there been a single change in the personnel of the executive organization.

JUST CONSIDER if you are a business man—and you are or you are not interested in the purchase of an automobile—what that means in economical production and in quality of a product.

THE SAME PRESIDENT presides who occupied the chair at the first meeting of Reo.

THE SAME GENERAL MANAGER DIRECTS; the same engineer designs; the same expert handles the funds; the same purchasing agent buys; the same factory superintendent oversees; and finally, the same men direct the sales, who have handled these important departments since the first Reo was designed and made and sold.

THIS IS MORE LIKE A FAMILY than a big business corporation. Perhaps that is why they say Reo has a soul! Perhaps that is why those who sell to and those who buy from us continue year after year.

AND IN THE FACTORY—do you know there are scores of men in the Reo factories today, working on these latest Reo models, who worked on the very first Reo? Hundreds who have been here six to ten years.

SO THERE AGAIN WE CAN SAY "All we've learned we've kept." Every man has become a specialist—is an expert—at his particular task.

CONTRAST THAT with the kaleidoscopic changes you've seen in this new industry—changes so frequent and so radical that today you can find no one to back up the guarantee of the car you bought yesterday.

COMPARE THAT REO POLICY with the vacillating policies of some you've known. That Reo guarantee, that like the Reo standard on which it is based, never changes, never knows expediency, never repudiates a promise made by any Reo representative.

AND IT'S A MATTER OF PRIDE with us to know that Reo workmen are an exceptionally intelligent class of citizens. Compare the work such men must turn out with that of the illiterate, unskilled types that populate most factories.

WHY EVERY REO WORKMAN KNOWS that an error or piece of slip-shod work will inevitably be brought back to him. And it isn't fear that actuates him in doing the best he can, it's pride—the pride that comes only from long association with the same house and the same product and makes the workman feel a kind of proprietary interest.

WE WISH YOU COULD COME and visit us at the Reo factory. Wish you could talk with Reo workmen—the rank and file as well as the directing heads. You'd know then the reasons for the superior quality of Reos.

IF YOU COULD COME AND SEE—if every prospective buyer could visit all factories and compare methods instead of prices and see the superior quality of materials and of workmanship that goes into Reos—well, we never would be able to make enough Reo cars to go 'round.

BUT TO RETURN TO OUR TEXT which was, how prices of these great cars could be reduced at the same time that quality was improved.

REO DEALERS ARE RESPONSIBLE—the credit is theirs—for the biggest item. For, but for the unprecedented action and the hearty co-operation of hundreds of Reo Distributors we could not have placed these cars in your hands at these prices.

LIKE THE FACTORY ORGANIZATION the Reo Dealer Organization has been with us from the first. Many of the principal Reo dealers have sold Reos exclusively ever since the first Reo was made. You will understand therefore, that the bond between Distributors and factory is a very intimate and a very powerful one.

WE TAKE THEM INTO OUR CONFIDENCE to a greater degree than is usual in this business. We have no secrets from them.

THAT'S WHY REO DEALERS are so loyal—they know—they do not guess, they know—that in Reo cars they give their customers more value than they can find elsewhere.

WELL, THIS SEASON WE WERE CONFRONTED with a problem—price competition to an extent greater than ever before.

OUR DEALERS INSISTED that, even though fortified with Reo quality and prestige, still they could not wholly ignore price competition.

WE CONTENDED that price did not matter; that it fooled no one—or at most only a small percentage of buyers and they not the most desirable.

WE SHOWED THEM that the cost of making Reos could not be materially lessened without reducing the quality—and that our plan was to improve the quality wherever possible.

WHY, WE REO FOLK wouldn't want to be in business if we couldn't feel we could make better cars this year than last; next year than this!

WE SET OUR OWN STANDARDS and will always ignore those of others—at least when they trend downward!

BUT THEY PROTESTED that the average buyer saw only the price tag. That while he saw the reduction in price he did not notice the reduction in quality—in value. So they wanted a competitive price on Reos as well as Reo quality in the product.

THERE WAS ONLY ONE WAY it could be done—that was if the dealers would agree to handle Reo cars on a smaller margin of profit than is the rule with other cars. We told them that if they would agree to that, we could set a price on Reo cars that would create a genuine sensation.

AND THEY AGREED! It is an unprecedented action we believe. And that the hundreds of Reo Distributors assented to the plan was due to another unique condition—namely, the extremely low cost of selling and of giving service on Reo cars.

A CANVASS SHOWED this remarkable fact: That the average cost of the dealer's guarantee on a Reo car—the cost of keeping it in perfect running order and its buyer thoroughly satisfied—was less than six dollars per car per year!

JUST COMPARE THAT with the cost of maintaining some makes of cars.

WHY, ONE OF OUR DEALERS who handled two other lines last season—but who declares most emphatically, he will handle Reos exclusively hereafter—tells us that the average cost to him per car on one of those lines was $60 and on the other $49—while Reo averaged in his case $4.75 per car per year!

AND THAT WASN'T ALL. The factor that Reo Distributors consider most important is the customer—satisfied or the reverse. For you must know that though that dealer spent $60 to keep a certain car running he still could not keep the man to whom he had sold that car satisfied—not even by taking it back and standing the full loss himself.

HE COULD NOT REIMBURSE him in dollars for the delays, the disappointments and the aggravations he had suffered from that car.

SO REOS WILL BE SOLD in the future on a lesser margin from dealer to user (and factory margin has always been as close as was safe) than any other automobile in the same class or of higher price.

AND YOU AS A REO BUYER GET THE FULL BENEFIT.

YOU RECEIVE AN ASSURANCE, a guarantee that cannot be over-estimated—in the fact that Reo cars have proven so good—so absolutely dependable—so economical in upkeep and operation—so wonderfully satisfying to their owners that those dealers feel they can handle them on that small discount basis.

WE THINK WE HAVE PROVEN TO YOU how and why, and therefore, that you do receive a higher percentage of value for your money when you buy a Reo than is possible in most, or perhaps any other automobile.

ORDER NOW—Don't delay if you'd have your Reo when you'll want it, for nothing can be more certain than this—the shortage of Reos in the coming months will be greater even than in the past.

AND YOU KNOW that, never since the first Reo was made has it been possible to make enough cars to supply all who wanted Reos.

Lansing, Mich., U. S. A.

Improvements and Refinements in the New Reo Six—$1250

WHEELBASE: Increased to 126". The advantages of this change are greater than appear on the surface. For wheelbase necessitating as it did, a re-designing of the springs, and addition of more leaves, greatly enhances the previous wonderful riding qualities of this car.

TIRES: Increased from 4" to 4½" diameter.

BODY: Is of the internationally popular "Sheerline" type. Seven-passenger—formerly five—with auxiliary folding seats. A real seven-passenger car; ample width and leg room for all passengers.

FRONT SEATS: Divided. A feature heretofore found only in cars listing at very high prices, and one that adds greatly to the convenience and comfort of the occupants.

COWL BOARD: Covered with metal instead of leather, and greatly improved in appearance.

SPEEDOMETER AND AMMETER: Now located in center of cowl board. Easily read by any passenger in the car.

HOOD FASTENING AND FITTINGS: New design—pull out and up. Obviates scraping of knuckles and swear words.

GASOLINE TANK: Located at rear. Result, greater facility in filling—no extra fitting or gooseneck required—just pour it in from a can. Also lends to superior riding qualities as a result of transferring this 150 pounds of weight from front to rear of chassis.

VACUUM TANK GASOLINE SUPPLY: The famous Stewart vacuum tank that guarantees a full carburetor on the steepest hills. Gasoline gauge located beside filler.

TIRE CARRIER—IMPROVED: Supported by chassis only—no body attachments—and adapted to carrying rims as well as tires.

FRAME: Deeper and stiffer. Designed to carry the extra passenger load and to minimize body vibration.

SPRING SUSPENSION: Re-designed to accomodate long wheelbase. Increased easy riding qualities as shown above.

MOTOR: Re-designed in small but important details. By re-designing front end we have been able to eliminate two gears and at the same time all gear noises. Also refined in other details, which you would not notice but which will give greater satisfaction.

AND FINALLY, THE LOCKING DEVICE, a feature that is made possible by the unique Reo design, and which we think others will find it difficult to copy. This enables the driver to lock simultaneously, the starting device, the transmission and the floor boards. Starting device is made inoperative, at the same time that the transmission gears are locked in neutral position. And to make assurance trebly sure, floor boards are locked down so it is impossible to get at the parts. It would take a volume to describe it—but you will see and appreciate it at a glance.

He declined at this time to make public the line of industry which the department is now after, but some developments are expected shortly.

SEVERAL WANT CITY MANAGER

Union Labor Men Interested in Ward Conventions Called for Monday, September 27.

A charter convention to propose changes in the city charter to be voted on in an election to be held December 29, or thereafter, has been called by the city commission. Voters of the city are called to meet at their respective voting places and select five delegates from each ward, Monday, Sept. 27, these with the city commission to compose the charter convention, which will meet as soon thereafter as possible.

In view of the general interest in the proposal to change the city charter, the Morning News presents the following statements from various public men of the city, containing their ideas as to the advisability of revising the charter and the changes that ought to be made:

Union Labor Interested.

A special meeting of the Central Labor council will be held Wednesday night to discuss the proposed amendment of the city charter. Changes which will be asked for in behalf of organized labor of the city will be threshed out, and a committee appointed to endeavor to obtain representation for the council as a body in the charter convention which has been called by the city commission. If this is impossible, steps will be taken to organize union men in the different wards to secure representation among the five delegates to be selected from each ward. The call for the special meeting of the central labor organization was issued yesterday by President E. L. Duke and Secretary J. O. Carey of the council.

Judge William Sleeper.

"There are a number of features of the present city charter that could be changed to good effect, in my opinion, said Judge William Sleeper, chairman of the water commission. "Personally I am inclined to favor the city manager plan. I believe the city would be governed to a better advantage and with more efficiency and economy if the administration was put in the hands of one competent man than under five men as it is now handled. Of course, much would depend on the efficiency of the man chosen as city manager.

"I doubt the propriety of amending the charter so as to give the city free water," was the reply of Judge Sleeper to an inquiry as to his opinion on the matter that was the subject of considerable discussion in the last meeting of the city commission. "The property holders get the benefit of the use of much of the water consumed by the city, and pay nothing in comparison with the user of water who is not a property holder. The city should bear part of the expense of operating the water plant, otherwise the maintenance cost would fall entirely upon the consumer of water. In this way large property holders and non-resident property holders would receive benefits from the public use of water totally out of proportion to the amount they would have to pay. The water board is compelled to pay interest on bonds for its use, while the city pays only the sinking fund, 2½ per cent."

Mayor Riggins Gives Ideas.

At the request of the Morning News Mayor Riggins has outlined his ideas of the most effective form of city government which he thinks should be proposed by the charter convention and adopted by the voters of the city. The following is the substance of the mayor's ideas as he expresses them:

"Any kind of government where the people vote is political. The nearer we keep the people governed to the government the greater value we make in a representative government. The idea giving birth to a commission form of government was to keep the city business out of politics—a thing impossible when people vote.

"Originally I favored a commission government, but soon it got to be not a commission form of government, but a commissioner government, in which each commissioner wanted right or wrong to give every other commissioner all he wanted, in order that he would get all he wanted, or else there was one or more commissioner who wanted to boss all the other commissioners, and the mayor.

"The commission form of government has cost Waco $100,000 annually more than the aldermanic government, and to my mind is the nearest no government that a city could have.

"I have studied municipal government for more than twenty-five years and give here a basis of what I believe would be an ideal city government:

"1. Provide for each ward to meet and nominate two or more candidates to represent that ward, the officer to be called city legislator.

"2. Provide for the election of two city legislators at large on each side of Austin avenue and Elm street, all such candidates to be voted upon by the city.

"3. These eight city legislators shall constitute the law making body, they to elect their own presiding officer. These legislators should meet not over twice each month and receive as pay ten dollars for each meeting attended. This body may meet oftener but without pay.

"These eight men shall elect a city manager, to receive some stipulated salary per month and define his duties and powers.

"Elect by the people a mayor, who may have veto powers same as the president or governor. The manager to be under the control of the legislators, but shall make a weekly report to the mayor who shall examine these reports and submit his recommendations together with the manager's reports to each meeting of the legislature. The manager to have such complete control of the subordinate officers and business of the city as managers have in the management of other big concerns, and be subject to removal by two-thirds vote of the the legislature.

"The mayor shall perform such duties and get such compensation as the legislature may require; such as delivering addresses of welcome, carrying on the city correspondence, and be the general front man of Waco, securing conventions, factories and other things for the welfare of the city. The mayor should be a strong, able man, and accept the honor without compensation.

"I believe such a government would secure for Waco the best men we have. The duties will not require detailed attention, the compensation—ten dollars a meeting—is the same the directors of the big concerns pay. This would give Waco a representative government. The work will be done and laws passed in the interest of the tax payer and not the tax eater.

"There will be no personality between the mayor and the legislature, and only the cold business.

"The manager must be a man of experience and education in municipal matters—a man who knows how to get a dollar's worth for every dollar spent. He must know the tricks of municipal contractor. Such a government, I believe, will save Waco $50,000 to $100,000 annually and would appeal to men who seek a well governed and reasonably taxed city.

"I should recommend the following changes in the charter:

"Put water company into city government.

"Put all other trustees or commissions who spend money from the city into the city government.

"We have too many bosses, in the shape of money demanders who are not responsible to the people. I think the water rates could be better controlled and the rate made lower if the city in its government controlled the same.

"The eight men would only cost $160 per month and the city would have the combined wisdom of eight men. You have often heard of two or four men robbing a bank or a train, but never eight men in such a job.

Commissioner W. H. Cockcroft.

In a communication addressed to the Morning News, Commissioner W. H. Cockcroft sets forth his position on the charter amendment proposal as follows:

"I favor the selection by the commission of a city manager, said manager to be selected from Waco citizens and to receive a salary of at least $4,000 a year.

"I believe that a commission should be enlarged so as to consist of six members, one from each ward, together with a mayor, all of whom to serve without compensation.

"I believe that the city manager should be the administrative head of the city government and as such be made responsible to the commission, which I believe should be empowered with all of the legislative functions of city government.

"I believe that the city manager should be under a bond, conditioned upon the faithful and honest performance of all duties intrusted to him as such, and that his term of office be indefinite, subject to recall for inefficiency or other good causes.

"I believe that the manager should have all of the appointive power subject to such civil rule as may be prescribed by the commission as to qualification, etc.

"I believe that the charter should be amended also so as to provide for the quarterly payment of taxes. While I recognize that there are many other matters of detail which might be changed in our present charter, I believe the above suggestions relate to the more important changes which have been lately discussed in the newspapers and by the citizens in general."

"If it is proposed to inaugurate a city manager plan of government when the charter is revised, letting the commissioners serve without pay, I should favor holding the charter convention," said President W. W. Naman of the Young Men's Business League. "I should also favor civil service for all city employes. This provision was perhaps unintentionally omitted when the present charter was framed.

"There are some inconsistencies in the charter as it now stands, but unless it is contemplated to change the entire plan of government I do not think there is any necessity for revision."

"I am convinced that the city manager plan would give us better results than we are getting at present," said John F. Wright, acting president of the Cotton Palace association. "If it is contemplated to change to the city manager plan, I should be inclined to favor revising the charter, otherwise I see little need of holding an election on the matter."

God knows and sees all things and could prevent—
So at our mother's knees we had been taught
Long years agone. He that the manna sent
From highest heaven to the earth unsought
Could melt an iceburg, stabilize a boat
To save the drowning of the innocent.
And all the wreck and ruin where men do gloat
And hold their gory hands aloft, intent
On winning God's almighty favor, He Could stop and turn their thought to love from hate,
O merciful, just God! Make men agree
As thou the raging tempest didst debate.

BELL COUNTY FAIR TO BE BIG EVENT

Governor Ferguson to Officially Open Exposition on October 4.

Joe F. Cornish, secretary of the Bell County Fair, to be given at Midway, Bell county, October 4 to 9, was in the city yesterday mingling with his friends. He said that it was a pleasure to the Bell county people to know that there would be a special train for the opening day of the exposition Monday, October 4, which has been designated as Commercial Club Day by the Bell county fair management.

"Governor Ferguson," he said, "will press the button that starts the machinery in motion for the six-day event, including horse racing in the afternoon of the first four days and thrilling auto and motorcycle events the last two days. The fair grounds occupy very beautiful grounds, midway between Belton and Temple on the Santa Fe, the interurban between Temple and Belton and on the public pike which is one of the best traveled in Texas.

"We are expecting record-breaking crowds, and an especially fine opening, as Bell county is the home of Governor Ferguson and the multitudes will give him a cordial greeting. This is the first fair in the county in over twenty years, and there is unusual interest and enthusiasm in the event, as the people believe it particularly appropriate at this time to have an exposition of agriculture, horticulture, livestock, etc., showing the possibilities of diversified farm products.

"The ladies of Bell county are showing unusual interest in the Bell county fair and their departments will be replete with vast arrays of exhibits in culinary, textiles, fine arts, arts and crafts, health exhibits and all those things of interest to the lady folks.

"We are looking for a big bunch of boosters from Waco for the opening day, as we note there is going to be a special train run down to the exposition on October 4. A called meeting has been made for the Young Men's Business Leagues of Texas to meet there at that time and a cordial reception will be given the organizations that attend. Invitations have also been extended to the Chambers of Commerce of Texas by the Temple Chamber of Commerce and replies indicate a large attendance of the builders of Texas."

COPYRIGHT UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD, N. Y.

The hand grenade as a war weapon is being used with considerable success on the firing line. To protect the grenadiers from being overcome by the poisonous gases which are used with such telling effect by the Germans, a special mask which prevents the inhalation of the gases has been brought into use. Heavy helmets guard against injury from bursting shells overhead and to complete the anti-death costume worn by the grenadiers, they wear a bullet proof waistcoat. The photograph pictures two of these French grenade throwers equipped with their grotesque proof against death, in the act of throwing grenades at the enemy.

MRS. DY CRADDOCK IS IN FIRST PLACE

HOW BALLOTS ARE HANDLED

Miss Nannie Talbert of China Springs Is Ahead in the Out-of-town List.

Taking first place by a lead of 2,020 over her nearest opponent, Herman Hood, Mrs. D. Y. Craddock headed the city list of contestants last night in the Goldstein-Migel and Waco merchants' voting contest. In the out-of-town district, which includes all contestants living outside of Waco, Miss Nannie Talbert of China Springs holds first place with a total vote of 56,790, Miss Ruth Oswald of Route 5, Waco, being second with 41,455.

Although only in its third week, the big $4,000 voting contest has created a veritable furore of interest and enthusiasm all over Waco and the surrounding country, and the race for the valuable prizes offered by Waco merchants to their customers has already grown intensely exciting. The various candidates have organized their friends into campaign committees to solicit business for the houses that give the coveted little slips of paper with every sale, and the race for votes goes merrily on. Besides the individuals who are entered in the contest, there are also many churches, lodges and schools which have entered representatives, and it is safe to say that there is scarcely a man, woman or child within fifty miles of Waco who doesn't know about the big prize offer.

At the Goldstein-Migel company, official contest headquarters, the visitor is impressed with the excellent system that has been installed for handling the tremendous number of ballots that pour in from the voting boxes every day. Up on the fourth floor a main office has been established, and here the votes are counted and tabulated by a force of competent clerks who have every up-to-date appliance at their disposal. In a big safe are thousands of the little printed slips awaiting distribution to the customers who make cash purchases. These are supplied to the various departments of the store, and to the other stores who are participants in the contest.

The votes are collected from the ballot boxes twice each day, and are assorted on a long table, which is divided into spaces for each letter of the alphabet. Then each contestant's votes are listed and added on an adding machine, dated and canceled, so that they can never be voted again in case of loss or theft. The total of each contestant's vote for the day is entered in a ledger, and the votes are then filed away, there being a separate file-box for each candidate. Four big blackboards at the store's main entrance are posted daily with the standing of the contestants, and a report is furnished to the other stores connected with the contest. A branch office is maintained on the main floor of the store for the convenience of the contestants. All this work is handled by clerks employed especially for this purpose.

An announcement that will be of much interest to all contestants was made at the Goldstein-Migel company yesterday. By arrangement with all the firms participating in the contest, a joint coupon book has been issued by the Goldstein-Migel company, the coupons being good at any of the stores. These books are furnished to contestants for sale among their friends, and an extra bonus of votes is given for selling them. It is anticipated that this offer will prove very attractive to all the contestants, many of them having asked to be allowed to sell a book of this kind. The books are now ready for distribution, and can be secured at the main office of the Goldstein-Migel company.

Grateful Papa.

Miss Curley kept a private school, and one morning was interviewing a new pupil.

"What does your father do to earn his living?" the teacher asked the little girl.

"Please, ma'am," was the prompt reply, "he doesn't live with us. Mamma supports me."

"Well, then," asked the teacher, "how does your mother earn her living?"

"Why," replied the little girl, in an artless manner, "she gets paid for staying away from father."—Argonaut.

SAXON "SIX"

Saxon High Speed Motor —this year's favored type

Saxon engineers know that a small sized gasoline motor running at high speed gives as much power as a larger motor of the slow speed type. At the same time it consumes far less gasoline, and greatly reduces the weight of the car.

Those are facts which Saxon engineers have developed and which all engineers now recognize. So today the high speed motor is the ideal of most designers.

Saxon "Sixes" are built with the wonderful Saxon high speed motor. Experts marvel at its power. Ralph De Palma, the world's greatest racing driver, said the feat of Saxon "Six" in climbing the steep three-mile mountain road at Uniontown, Pa., in 4 minutes and 4 seconds was "the most astounding feat I ever saw."

The smoothness and flexibility of Saxon "Six" are a constant delight to owners. To them two miles an hour "on high" is not a "stunt" performance, but an ordinary incident in daily driving. Except for starting the car, gear shifting is practically unknown to Saxon "Six" drivers.

Saxon "Six" also offers you many other features of advanced motor car design. Chief among them are: Light weight with ample strength, saving tires and gasoline; beautiful yacht-line body, the most modern type of body; ample room for all five passengers.

Fully to appreciate this car you must see it. Come in today.

mains a secret, only to be disclosed when some lucky person accosts her with the magic words "You are the queen of the Waco Style Show." Then a green rocket will blaze and the search will be over. The lucky person will receive $25 in gold. The queen will receive a huge bouquet of flowers. The enjoyment will go on.

Nobody knows what Waco society girl will represent the queen of the Style Show but W. V. Crawford, chairman of the Young Men's Business League committee in charge of the show. If you are lucky you may be the one who discovers her.

Details of the opening night of the Style Show shaped rapidly yesterday with the choosing of the queen and the issuing of the proclamation by Mayor Riggins. The mayor sets apart the week officially as Style Show week, and designates Monday night as opening night. He puts the official organization of the city in co-operation with the Young Men's Business League to make the event the greatest community celebration that has been recorded in a city of many great celebrations. The officials of the city, the city police in their white uniforms, the fire department are all dedicated to the success of the Style Show.

The mayor commands that all vehicles keep off Austin avenue between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock. Superintendent H. B. Ross of the Southern Traction company, agrees to keep his street cars off the avenue during the parade. The city sanitary department will have the whole street shining like a ball room floor.

The Young Men's Business League committee, composed of Chairman W. V. Crawford, J. W. Carlin, J. J. Hutchison, W. T. Wheeler and Chief of Police Guy McNamara will meet at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon to go over the final details of the show and make certain that everything is in tip-top shape. Each member of the committee has been assigned some particular phase of the show to have under his personal direction. Each member will make a report as to how his particular part is progressing.

Every merchant in the city will be reminded tomorrow by the committee that show windows must be curtained by noon, to remain hidden until the signal whistles blow at 7 o'clock. Then the curtains will drop simultaneously and the displays that will be revealed, sparkling in a thousand lights behind the crystal walls, will be worth all the care that has been expended on them.

Alessandro's band will play on the avenue beginning at 7 o'clock. At 8 o'clock the parade will form on the city hall square, and will swing up the avenue, disbanding at Eighth street, where automobilists in the parade will have to take their vehicles off the street. Some special stunts of an amusing nature are being arranged for the parade in addition to those already announced.

Extensively Advertised.

The Style Show is being extensively advertised all over this section. The interurban and the railroads, automobiles, carriages and even farm wagons, will add their burdens to the Waco crowds upon the streets. Of course, everybody in Waco will be on Austin tomorrow night.

If you don't believe it, come down and see.

Men Riding in Buggy Accused of Speeding

Two horses and an automobile mixed up in a collision at Eighth and Speight streets about 8 o'clock last night. The automobile had its innings when R. C. Jones, Percy Roberts and Richard Jackson, white men, who were riding in a one-seated buggy drawn by the horses were arrested on charges of speeding. R. P. Poyner and C. L. Snow were seated in the automobile. They claimed that the three men in the buggy, driving their two horses at a run, crashed into the machine at the corner. One of the horses, both valuable animals, received a deep cut on the shoulder. The other horse broke away and escaped and it is not known how badly it was injured. One fender was broken off the automobile. None of the passengers of either vehicle was injured. Plainclothesman Joe Rutland made the arrest.

RAIN DOES NOT KEEP ALL COTTON AWAY

Threatening skies in the morning and rain in the afternoon resulted in many farmers not bringing their cotton into Waco yesterday. But in spite of adverse weather conditions, 391 bales were received by Public Weigher Sem Nix, as to 535 on the same day last year. Prices were a few points lower than on Friday, basis middling being quoted at 10½c and prices ranging from 10¼c to 10.37½c a pound.

It was not a bad week, however, 1,516 bales being received. This brings the total for the 1915 season up to 4,024, as to 2,711 at the same time last year, an increase of 1,313 bales. So far 107 bales have been placed in the municipal warehouse, and all but 26 of them withdrawn as prices advanced.

One peculiar fact is that, while receipts in Waco are heavier than last year, much less cotton has been ginned. The report of Horace Flynn, federal cotton statistician for McLennan county, shows that to Sept. 1, 832 less bales had been ginned this year than last. In contrast with this, on Sept. 19, 1,913 more bales have been received, indicating that the farmers are selling their cotton this year and not holding it.

But then there's a reason for cotton selling better this fall. In the Morning News, just one year ago today, was an article headed, "Waco Paying Best Prices in State for Cotton." The article stated that "cotton was selling readily at from 8.10c to 8.55c a pound." The story contained a long "honor roll" of those patriotic citizens who were paying farmers 10c a pound for their cotton.

Which probably is explanation enough of why more cotton has been sold, although less was ginned. Many of the farmers are depositing money in the banks this fall, also, instead of borrowing as they had to do last fall.

New York, Sept. 18.—Dario Resta, winner of the Vanderbilt Cup and Grand Prize automobile races, drove his car over the new two-mile track at Sheepshead Bay today for ten miles in 5:32 4-5, an estimated speed of 108.03 miles an hour. The car had a displacement of 274 cubic inches and the official time was announced as a world's record for a car of this calibre.

Some weeks ago at Chicago Resta covered the first ten miles of a long race in 5:55:7, so that he bettered this record today by nearly 23 seconds. Faster time has been made by Oldfield and Lester, but it was explained today by some of the track official that this greater speed was obtained by cars of over 700 cubic inches displacement.

Resta, with his mechanician, Fred McCarthy, made the trial against time today a feature of the informal opening of the new speedway, over which the 350-mile race for the cup will be held on October. The car used today will compete in this event, which will be confined to autos with a displacement not exceeding 300 cubic inches.

Following is the official time for the five two-mile laps: First lap in 1:06 2-5; second, 2:15 1-5; third, 3:19 4-5; fourth, 4:26 2-5; and fifth, 5:32 4-5.

Judge McCullough Talks to Lawyers on Legal Ethics

Members of the Lawyers' Luncheon club who attended the meeting yesterday noon at the State House heard an interesting talk by Judge Tom L. Judge Erwin J. Clark, president of the club, presided at the luncheon and made a short talk. George Carter, a Marlin atotrney, was the guest of the club and also made a few remarks.

CALL IS ISSUED FOR NAVIGATION MEETING

DELEGATES TO BE APPOINTED

Flood Prevention Methods Will Also Be Discussed—Needs of Concerted Action Stressed.

The following call for the general meeting of all persons interested in Brazos navigation and flood prevention to be held at Bryan, October 12 and 13, was released yesterday by Secretary C. W. Payne of the temporary organization which was formed here last week at a meeting of representatives of the various towns in the Brazos valley interested. Copies of the call were sent to each member of the committee whose name is signed to the document and telegraphic approval of same has been received from each by Secretary Payne.

Waco, Tex., Sept. 18, 1915.

To the Agricultural, Industrial and Commercial Interests of the Brazos Valley and Contiguous Territory:

At a conference of representatives of the different towns and counties in the Brazos valley held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at Waco, Texas, September 14, 1915, a temporary organization, to be known as the Brazos River and Valley Improvement Association, was formed, with the undersigned as officers and executive committeemen. The object of the organization being to arrange a general meeting, to be held at Bryan, Texas, October 12 and 13, 1915, and at this meeting to effect a permanent organization to devote its entire energies to flood prevention on the Brazos river, and to further improve the stream until commercial navigation will be a reality.

We were commissioned and instructed to issue a call for this general meeting of citizens, representing the agricultural, commercial and industrial interests of the Brazos river valley and contiguous territory, to consider the most practicable plans of preventing these recurring overflows and realize commercial navigation of said river.

In compliance with these instructions, and in line with our desire to aid in the accomplishment of these results, we hereby issue this call for said meeting at Bryan, October 12 and 13, at 10 o'clock in the morning, this being the time and place agreed upon by the conference above referred to.

We invite and urge county judges in the counties of the Brazos valley and adjacent territory affected by these overflows, or that may be affected, when the river is made commercially navigable, to appoint five or more delegates to attend this meeting.

We further expect and urge the mayors of cities and towns, also presidents of commercial organizations in this territory to appoint five or more delegates to attend said meeting, all of whom we know will attend.

We take the liberty of appointing county judges and county commissioners, all mayors and their respective city councils, and all presidents and secretaries of commercial organizations and their board of directors, as delegates to this meeting of vital importance to the Brazos valley inhabitants, and urge their attendance.

It is unnecessary to call your attention to the great economic waste that is occasioned almost annually by these recurring overflows, and to the great saving that commercial navigation will afford, for these are facts well known. We might say, however, that the loss runs into the millions each year, and that the damage resulting from the floods is threatening the ultimate destruction of a great country embracing 35,000 square miles, an area almost as large as Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey and Maryland combined, and which when protected from these flood ravages, will be as fertile as the valley of the historic Nile, and would be the homes of the happiest and most prosperous people on earth.

When commercial navigation of the Brazos river is made a reality from Waco to Freeport, at the mouth of the river on the Gulf of Mexico, more than two million dollars will be saved annually in the territory affected in the matter of freight rates. Taking into further consideration the great benefits in the development of untold deposits of mineral wealth in this territory that has scarcely been touched and awaiting the influence of cheap transportation and the development of other resources thereby, this amount is augmented by many millions.

These all, in our judgment, are the most important propositions confronting the interests named in said territorial to their very existence, while the improved conditions sought are necessary to the prosperity to which they are justly entitled.

Every one must know and realize that the improvement of the Brazos river as indicated at the instance of the permanent organization to be formed, will improve the productive power of the lands adjacent thereto, afford additional and economical facilities for the transportation of commerce from and to the Brazos valley and territory adjacent; finally improving the economic condition of what is recognized as the greatest agricultural, industrial and commercial section of this great state, by reason of the productive power of the lands, when unmolested by overflows and the utilization of nature's artery for transporting its great commerce. But these benefits can only be attained by the full, consistent and intelligent co-operation of the interests involved. This co-operation can be secured only by thorough and aggressive organization.

The primary objects of the meeting to be held in Bryan on the dates mentioned are, to perfect a compact and active permanent organization to accomplish these ends.

It is quite certain that state and national aid will be necessary to secure these needed improvements.

We believe that any sum within the limits of reason expended by the national and state governments or districts that can be formed to obtain the desired relief, would not weigh heavily against the great good to be accomplished and the inestimable blessings it would confer upon generations to come.

When the reliefs are taken into consideration the imagination is challenged, but we are firm in the conviction that they can be made living realities if the proper and consstent effort is put forth by the people of this section.

In order that all of these benefits may be fully understood, and relief measures suggested, we are inviting the most eminent authorities in the country upon these subjects to be present and address us, among them being W. L. Thompson, chief engineer of the Mississippi levee commission; Geo. Maxwell of New Orleans; Capt. Jno. R. Barnard of New Orleans; Col. C. S. Riche, U. S. A.; Hon. C. S. E. Holland, president of the intercoastal canal association; Senators Sheppard and Culberson together with the congressmen from Texas who have given these questions careful study; Governor James E. Ferguson; Reclamation Commissioner A. A. Stiles, and others.

Strongly urging the entire citizenship of the Brazos valley and contigious territory to be aroused to the great possibilities mentioned, and inviting the fullest possible attendance thereof at this meeting, we are for the thorough improvement of the Brazos river and valley.

Resolutions Passed by Fire Department on Death of Trott

At the meeting of the Waco fire department Friday night, a committee was appointed to draft resolutions on the death of First Assistant Chief Eugene Trott. The committee was given power to act and instructed to publish the resolutions in the morning papers today. The report of the committee is as follows:

"Whereas, with humble submission to the inscrutable wisdom of Providence we, the friends and comrades of Eugene Trott, who was summoned from this life in Denver, Colo., Sept. 9, 1915, tender our heartfelt sympathies to the bereaved family and offer such condolence as sincere expressions of sorrow can convey to the heartbroken wife and to the sons and daughters in their unspeakable grief.

"Thrown with him in the strenuous labors attendant upon the duties of firemen, we have seen him always the faithful servant of duty, never faltering in his fealty to the cause of the great army of volunteer firemen, who have done so much for the preservation of life and property, and to his unswerving faith in the efficiency of the volunteer system, is due much of the excellence of the Waco fire department. To every volunteer fireman the name of Eugene Trott was an inspiration and as acting chief his expressed wish was a command. Always considerate of others, but exacting in requiring full performance of duty, he was beloved by the paid men of the department. His ever-present desire to temper all orders with kindness led them to love him as a fireman and as a man.

"Resolved, That, remembering his long service as a leader of Waco volunteers, his devotion to duty and his loyalty to his friends, we Waco firemen feel keenly the loss to us and to the city. As a citizen he stood high in the service of progressive manhood; ever ready to aid in a good cause. He loved his city and her people and was always at their service upon any reasonable demand. Until cruel fate decreed that his activities should cease and God in His merciful wisdom called him hence, Eugene Trott never shirked a duty or forgot a friend.

"Resolved, That to those who were not blessed with knowledge of the man this tribute is especially directed, that they may understand the extent of the great loss to the fire department, to the city and to the family. A devoted son, loving husband and father, he made his life most precious to them by loving kindness and unselfish regard for his loved ones. May he reap the reward due a noble soul.

College Students in United States.

There were 216,493 students in colleges, universities and technological schools in 1914, according to the annual report of the commissioner of education, recently issued. This is an increase of 14,262 over 1913. The bureau's list of 1914 includes 567 institutions, a decrease of 29 over the preceding year. States or municipalities control 93 of the colleges; private corporations control 474. Men still outnumber women in higher education; there were 139,373 men in 1914 and 77,120 women, as compared with 128,644 men and 73,587 women in 1913. Despite rising standards of admission and graduation, college enrollment has more than tripled since 1890.

Receipts during the year totaled $120,579,257, of which $18,422,856 was for endownment. Benefactions to colleges and universities totaled $26,670,017, something over $2,000,000 more than in the year previous. Six institutions received benefactions in excess of a million dollars apiece and forty-five universities, colleges and technological schools reported gifts amounting to more than $100,000. In the past seven years the largest increase in income has come through state and municipal appropriations, and the smallest from tuition and other fees. State and municipal appropriations grew from $9,649,549 in 1908 to $23,400,540 in 1914, while fees for tuition and other educational services, increased from $15,390,847 to $22,504,529.

Degrees conferred by colleges and universities included 256,533 baccalaureate, 5248 graduate and 749 honorary. The degree of doctor of philosophy was conferred as the result of examination by forty-six institutions on 446 men and 73 women.

Only a Joke.

"The noisy patriotism of these men and their noisy American allegiance," he said, "reminds me of the incendiary.

"An incendiary, while his factory was burning, walked up and down in front of the place wringing his hands and moaning:

"'Oh, I wish I was dead! I wish I was dead!'

"Suddenly a fireman's ax fell and struck him on the head. He looked up at one of the firemen—he thought that the ax had been thrown purposely—and shouted:

"'You idiot, don't you know a joke when you hear it?'"

COPYRIGHT UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD, N. Y.

Uncle Sam's regulars who are stationed at Fort Trotten, N. Y., are not to be caught napping if the unforeseen should happen. Target practice is held daily with the big 12-inch mortars. These big fellows shown in the picture in the very act of discharging their huge steel projectiles weighing 750 pounds, have a range of seven miles, and woe betide any enemy coming within that range, for the men have made records hitting the targets and expect to do better every day.

Standing of Candidates In Morning News Contest

THREE SPECIAL VOTE OFFERS TO BE MADE—LATEST TIME FOR ENTERING IS OCTOBER 15.

The first real interest in the Morning News automobile contest opens today with the publication of the votes received by the various contestants. The votes as shown today only represent the clipped ballots, but when the subscription ballots are published next Wednesday there will be some real-for-sure interest.

There are seventy-one contestants who have been nominated to date, and of this number there are several who will not become active. It will be hard to tell which ones out of the seventy-one will stay in the race until the finish. It is also likely that there will be more enter the contest during the coming week. The smallest number of entries hail from District Two and the contestants in that district will have less competition than in the other two districts.

After Oct. 15 it will be too late for any one to enter the contest; in fact, if any person intends to make a success in this contest it is necessary to make an early start, and any one who enters as late as Oct. 15 would have a slim chance of winning out, as the others would have too much of a start.

On another page of this issue will be found a full-page advertisement which explains all about the contest. It tells what the prizes are, how they will be awarded and what the requirements are of a contestant. The contest has been divided into three distficts. There are eighteen valuable and useful gifts. Six prizes will be given to the six leading contestants at the close of this contest.

The chief prizes in the contest are three Ford touring cars of the five-passenger variety, valued at $475 each, of the latest model and fully equipped. Next in order are three beautiful residence building lots, valued at $300 each. Next are three genuine diamonds, valued at $100 each. Next are three commercial scholarships in Waco business colleges, valued at $75 each. Next are three genuine diamonds, valued at $50 each, and last prizes in each district are three solid gold watches, valued at $25 each.

The total value of all the eighteen prizes is $3,075, and each gift is well worth working for. It will require some time and effort on the behalf of the various contestants to win out, but the only thing that can possibly be lost in this contest is the time spent in gathering the votes.

During the life of the Morning News voting contest there will be three special vote offers made.

The first offer starts Monday and ends Oct. 14, during which time 20,000 extra votes will be issued you upon each $10 worth of subscriptions you turn in.

The second offer starts Oct. 15 and closes Oct. 28, during which time 18,000 extra votes will be issued you upon each $10 worth of subscriptions you turn in.

The third offer starts Oct. 29 and closes Nov. 11, during which time 16,000 extra votes will be issued you upon each $10 turned in by you.

If you have already turned in any subscriptions you will be given credit for them at the rate of 20,000 votes for each $10 you have paid in. Remember that these special votes are in addition to the regular subscription votes. Also notice that the first offer gives more votes than the second and the second offer gives more votes than the third offer. So you should make every possible effort to secure as many $10 clubs as you can during this first offer, because when the first offer expires you will not obtain so many votes.

There will be no change in the regular schedule of votes as printed upon the front of your subscription book, and there will be no more special offers made and no deviation whatever from the above. It is not necessary that you turn in $10 worth of subscriptions at one time, as the extra votes will not be issued you until the offer expires, at which time we will divide the total cash turned in by you by ten and issue the votes accordingly. For example, if you have turned in $23 worth of subscriptions by Oct. 14, we will issue you 40,000 extra votes, as you will have secured two full clubs and have $3 over which will go in on the second special offer.

Black Silk Net Dance Frock

Designed by Gimbel Bros., New York.

THE straight skirts and wide floating tunics of transparent materials are still in vogue, and the dance frock here featured shows an overdrape of black silk net with a straight foundation of black pussy willow taffeta. This all black frock is very charming because it is fashioned in simple lines and trimming and affords a trim waist line. The bodice rather suggests the basque, which differs slightly from the bodices for the coming autumn, which all have a tendency to turn into short jacket effects. The full, short sleeves are also fashioned in black net. ANNA MAY.

EASTERN BATTLES ARE CENTER OF INTEREST

Vilna Is Nearly Surrounded, but the Germans Delay About Taking the City.

London, Sept. 18.—With the armies in the west and at the Dardanelles remaining at a standstill and participating chiefly in artillery engagements and bomb operations the battles on the eastern front continue to create the greatest interest.

Even these things are not moving so rapidly as they did during the earlier months of summer, although Field Marshal von Hindenburg's offensive in Courland seems to be making considerable headway, and there as in the case of Field Marshal von Mackensen's army further south, more Russian prisoners with machine guns, but no big weapons, are falling into the German net.

Vilna is nearly surrounded and wonder is expressed that the Germans have not already taken the city, which like the other towns evacuated by the Russians has been reduced to an empty shell. Dvinsk too, apparently will go when Vilna falls, although the offensive developed by the Russians along the shores of the Gulf of Riga immediately east of the town of Riga, may compel the Germans to turn their attention in that direction.

In the southeast the Germans claim to have brought the Russian offensive to the end, but it is not likely that any movement of great importance can be taken in that district which the German correspondents describe as a quagmire, through which it next to impossible to move transport wagons, let alone heavy guns.

What seemingly has happened is that the Russians finding that their advance into Galicia was bringing their line out of alignment with the rest of the front have withdrawn to the Sereth river, which was at their back when they began their attacks that drove the Austro-Germans to the Stripa river just north of the Galician frontier.

On the other hand the Russians, reinforced, have become more aggressive in the fortress triangle of Rovno, Dubno and Lutzsk and have compelled the Austrians to retire westward.

There is increased liveliness along the Serbian border, an indication that the long threatened Austro-German attacks with a view to rushing help to the Turks are about to commence. The Serbians express the greatest confidence in their ability to defend the mountain fastnesses through which an invading army would necessarily pass.

The entente powers have presented a new note to Bulgaria, which country having succeeded in getting what she wanted from Turkey without fighting, is believed to be living in the hope that much-desired Macedonia will fall to her in the same way and that she will be aole to maintain her neutrality to the end.

Two Dead and One Shot in Tragedy at Little Rock, Ark.

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 18.—Lafe Huff, 19, shot and wounded Roy Walker this afternoon and when George Ford, county jailer, attempted to arrest him, Huff shot Ford, inflicting a wound from which he died tonight. Huff then killed himself. Walker's wound probably will prove fatal.

Huff was a machinist employed at the local railroad shops. He was married three weeks ago. The only witness of the shooting says he heard Huff order Walker from his home, declaring "you are trying to make trouble between me and my wife." He then shot Walker with a shotgun loaded with buckshot. It is said Walker was a suitor of Mrs. Huff's before her marriage.

Ford was notified and hastened to Huff's home only to be shot down as he entered the yard.

Huff left a note asking his wife to follow him in death, then added a postscript urging her not to kill herself. From this, it is believed he was demented.

Letters from the People

Waco's Opportunity.

To the Waco Morning News:

So much has been said and written recently on Brazos navigation as to invoke the interest if not the judgment of every thinking citizen.

While this enterprise has been before us many years, only a few public-spirited and far-seeing men have labored to secure its accomplishment.

The act of congress in ordering a re-survey of the more important projects of this class has brought this matter to a crisis. The people of the Brazos valley and its tributaries must promptly and vigorously demonstrate the vast possibilities of this enterprise in the transportation of freight, both exports and imports, so that its practical value may be counted against the cost of construction and maintenance.

Several phases will be considered in determining the issue. First, the feasibility; second, the advantages, and third, the desire and the demand of the industries and the people to be affected.

Feasibility can only be judged by practical engineers and the records of like enterprises elsewhere, and we learn by these tests that the Brazos is the most promising inland proposition now considered by the federal government.

If the products of the farms and factories in the Brazos valley territory may have a water rate they can compete in the markets of the world.

All prosperity and progress and even culture are the fruits of sound and successful economy and industrial advancement.

Freight rates enter into the cost of nearly all articles we buy or sell. I have heard a Waco shipper mention a commodity of heavy tonnage whose rate to the gulf is 90 cents, and the rate on the same article from Galveston to Rotterdam is 11 cents. One million dollars annually is probably a low estimate of saving of freight rates by making the Brazos navigable.

But, unless we secure favorable action upon the resurvey of this river, the enterprise will be abandoned by the federal government. Every city, town and county, even political, commercial and industrial organization should give formal expression of its interest this great great enterprise, which will beenfit all the territory affected, and will also result in making Waco a distributing point for a territory as large as Texas.

The unskilled and inexperienced are skeptical and therefore indifferent as to this vital proposition, but in my humble judgment no more potential factor is available now, and we must awake before it is too late, or we shall have a long sleep.

MAKING FUN COSTS MONEY ON NOWADAYS

To the individual who sits on the pyramided boards and seats about the sawdust strewn areana of a circus tent it may not appear that there is much that is sensible and sedate beneath the pates of the clowns who, urged on by the giggles and laughter of the spectators, are fighting a Gettysburg battle of fun with slapsticks and blown-up bladders. However, the clown is a very serious minded person. He generally looks like the saddest man connected with the show and after you get to know him you will find out that it takes a good deal of resourcefulness and fun inventiveness to make a fool of one's self so that the populace may broadly smile.

The clown has always been and will forever be one of the standbys of the circus. He belongs to that eternal firm foundation of the canvas city—the elephant, the peanut and himself. What would a circus be without a clown? It would be as the mint julep without the freshly plucked green leaf, like the Manhattan without the cherry or a baseball game without the bleachers. It just cannot be. Ringling Brothers have always believed in the clown and their big circus has a representative from every voting district in the rampant, rippling republic of funland. This year they have half a hundred of the merry sons of Momus and they tie a laugh to every minute that passes in the running off of the big show.

There are Americans and clowns from every land, most prominent among the foreigners being the famous Deltorelis, who have appeared in every country in the world and who by special command of the Shah of Persia visited the palace and made him laugh until his fez almost lost its tassel. The clown works hard and leads a healthy, happy life, generally has a fine home for the winter and saves his money. But like the rest of humanity he has a complaint. Pete Mardo, one of the best known and funniest clowns in America, says that the cost of fun making has gone just as high in the air as the cost of living, in fact he states that fun making production now costs at least 40 per cent more than it did in the days of the circus of our daddies.

"We clowns must get together soon," said Mardo, "and get materials for making laughing on a new schedule or we will all soon be as ludicrous as a crutch. For instance the last few congresses have put such a high tariff on lumber that a slapstick now costs as much as a champion hitter's baseball bat while blown-up bladders are getting as scarce as real elk teeth and you know these are the clown's implements of warfare when he gets into the battle of fun. Of course there is still the seltzer bottle which never fails to cause a laugh when we squirt a stream of cold water into the eye of a partner, but some of the towns in these parts are so dry that you can't even buy seltzer without a physician's prescription. And look at all of the white and paint we put on our faces. Why those prices have gone so far up that to make yourself look really funny these days it costs almost as much as painting a house! Something's got to be done."

"Well," said Ed Nemo, another good laugh maker, "why not let's all put on our war paint and visit the committee on tariff and after a few stunts to get them in a good humor make an appeal to put laugh making materials on the free list putting smiling and giggling in the reach of the plain people?"

Among the Ringling clowns is Al Miaco, the dean of the profession, who though 71 years old, turns a hand spring with the agility of a boy back of the school house. Then there is Al White, the female impersonator; Jules Turnour, the famous French pantominist; George Hartzell, one of the old fashion singing and talking clowns; Fred Stelling, with his somersaulting dog, and James Sprigg, whom every child in the world knows as the policeman of clownland. All of the rest are old seasoned hippodrome track fun makers so there will be plenty of laughter when the show comes to town.

The big feature of the Ringling Brothers circus this season is the spectacle of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba which is produced with all of the scenic environment effects and gorgeous costuming of grand opera. With more than 1,250 characters there is told in a wordless play the dramatic story of the wisest of Israel's kings. This is followed by a glittering procession and dances by a ballet with four premieres. In the arenic performance which follows there are 125 acts in which 400 world-sought performers appear.

COLORADO RIVER IS FALLING; GUADALUPE IS ON A RAMPAGE

Austin, Texas, Sept. 18.—With the Colorado river again falling slowly, it appeared tonight that further danger from flood had passed. The water in the lake had gone down from a level of sixty-eight feet yesterday to fifty-seven feet tonight. Fear of a further rise from the waters of the Llano and upper Colorado had not, however, passed and watch was kept at the wharf and on the dam tonight.

Great piles of drift still are lodged against the dam. Besides twenty of the twenty-eight large floodgates, it is believed that sixteen of the twenty-six smaller gates have been washed out in the flood. Some of the other gates are twisted. The large gates are fifteen feet high and 18½ feet wide and the small gates six feet high and 18½ feet wide.

The last quadrant at the city reservoir was opened at 6 o'clock this morning. Since yesterday morning the city's water supply has come from the reservoir, no water being pumped into mains from the filtering trenches at the water and light plant. Three quadrants of the reservoir were full yesterday morning. Each of these quadrants holds 2,500,000 gallons of water and two of them have been emptied in the last two days. At this rate the last quadrant will be exhausted by Monday morning and water must then again be pumped from the filtering trenches. There is, however, less use of water on Sundays than during the week and the supply in the reservoir may hold out until Monday at noon.

Guadalupe on Rampage.

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 18.—A cloudburst at the headwaters of the Guadalupe river in Kerr county followed by two days of heavy rains throughout the Gladalupe river, resulted in a disastrous flood. In many places, especially in Kerr and Bandera counties, the river rose thirty and forty feet and swept houses, cattle and farm property to destruction. Various estimates give the damage anywhere from $250,000 to $500,000. Several homes were wrecked by the flood, but no loss of life has been reported. Thousands of head of cattle, goats, sheep and other stock were killed.

Twelve inches of rain fell in Kerr county in less than that many hours. More than a mile of track on the Kerrville division of the San Antonio and Aransas Pass railroad was washed out suspending traffic on twenty miles of the main line and all of the Fredericksburg division.

GOLDSTEIN-MIGELS ARE GETTING READY

Idea of Style Show Was Suggested by I. A. Goldstein on February 18, Last.

As interesting as the circus itself is a visit to the show grounds when the great task of putting up the tents and arranging the thousand-and-one preliminary details is in progress—it gives one an idea of the magnitude of the thing, which can never be appreciated by the visitor who merely occupies a seat in the grandstand. In the same way a visitor at the Goldstein-Migel store last night, if he had made a tour of the "work departments," as well as the selling departments, would have been deeply impressed with the fact that the preparation of a big store like this for its annual fall style event is indeed a tremendous undertaking.

Up on the fourth floor, in the display manager's work rooms, rows and rows of scenery, backgrounds and floral decorations would have greeted your eyes, and an inquiry addressed to the busy window trimmer would have elicited the explanation that he and his assistants have been hard at work for some two months in the preparation of these elaborate stage effects that will serve to enhance the beauty and attractiveness of the merchandise displays that will be made in the show windows. In the millinery and women's ready-to-wear departments, workmen were engaged last night in putting in place the framework that will support the unique decorations which have been planned for these sections of the big store. On other floors the shelves and cases and counters, always bright, clean and attractive, were being brightened up and rearranged to an even more inviting appearance for the gala style days of next week.

Promptly at 7 o'clock last night the big Austin avenue windows of the Goldstein-Migel store were closed to view with heavy curtains, and will remain closed until 7 o'clock Monday evening. Until a late hour last night the lights continued burning in the curtained windows, and the sounds of hammer and saw gave evidence that the window trimmers were busy at their task. And they will continue to be just as busy right up till the unveiling time tomorrow night, for the window displays that are to be made at the Goldstein-Migel store will be the most elaborate ever attempted by this firm.

But the show windows, of course, are only the beginning of the interesting and beautiful presentation of fall fashions which will be offered by the Goldstein-Migel company. Window displays are but a stage setting for the real show, which will consist of a truly magnificent assemblage of women's wear and millinery, fine dress fabrics and dress accessories of every kind, depicting faithfully and elegantly the fall fashions in all their beauty and newness. The store's buyers have been in the eastern markets for months past—some of them being in New York yet—in order to secure every late and novel style feature for the store's fall opening, which will take place on Tuesday and Wednesday, and which the firm hopes, by its elaborate preparations and splendid showing of the new styles, to make the outstanding feature of the entire style show.

The Waco style show, which will make Waco the Mecca of all fashion lovers this week, had its inception at a meeting of the Retail Merchants' association last February. The idea of a big, united style show was suggested by I. A. Goldstein of the Goldstein-Migel company, who had been requested to address the assembled merchants on the business outlook and ways of improving it. In an article headed "Goldstein Wants Style Show for Waco," the Morning News of Feb. 19 quoted Mr. Goldstein as follows:

"Mr. Goldstein made a strong plea for co-operation. In mentioning a number of ways in which the retail merchants may work together for their own good as well as for the good of the city, he suggested a style show. Mr. Goldstein said that in cities that have adopted the plan of holding a style show twice a year all merchants have been benefited and the event has become the feature of each season.

"He urged that instead of each millinery store, each department store, each butcher and each merhant in other lines holding a season opening, that all unite to hold their openings together. The show can be advertised all over the section and people will come from the country and nearby towns. In Los Angeles hundreds went from San Francisco to every style show and San Franciso sent a delegation of business men to study the plan. Louisville also has a successful show.

"The show, by being a community affair, will cause the downtown section to be decorated, the streets especially lighted at night, and the affair made a big three-day event."

The style show is now an assured success, and will undoubtedly become a permanent feature in Waco, just as it has in other cities. It is planned to undertake a spring style show next year, on even a larger scale than the event this fall, and those who are closest to the project, and who have helped to make this week's show such a big occasion, are very enthusiastic over the future of the Waco style show.

Settlement of the Submarine Question Is Prospect Now

Berlin, Sept. 18, Via London.—A full settlement of the submarine question will probably be arranged by negotiations in Washington. Count Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, is in possession of complete information regarding the wishes and policy of Germany so the Associated Press is informed and has been given power to negotiate terms of settlement with the United States subject only to final revision and approval by the home government.

A long report on the submarine situation was received here from Count von Bernstorff Thursday and an equally long message of instructions went forward to the ambassador this morning. Both dispatches were of a nature which seems to make officials confident that the whole submarine problem can be speedily and safely settled.

The form which the negotiations are now taking goes to strengthen this optimism for in such conversations Count con Bernstorff is in a position to communicate many things not adapted to inclusion in a public note but which are of a nature to convince the American government of the good faith behind Germany's assurances and the government's settled determination to remove the sources of the conflict on the submarine questions.

Y. M. B. L. DIRECTORS MEET TUESDAY NIGHT FOR ORGANIZATION

The first meeting of the new directorate of the Young Men's Business League will be held Tuesday night in the league rooms, at which time President W. W. Naman will nominate his chairmen of the ten standing committees. When these appointments are ratified by the remaining elected members, they become members of the board and complete President Naman's cabinet.

President Naman has been busy ever since his election, deciding on what men he desires to have as the appointive members of the board. The committees for which chairmen are to be appointed are finance, transportation, home industry, agriculture, civic improvement, publicity, entertainment, membership, good roads and conventions.

A report will be received from the special committee appointed by President Naman to take charge of the Waco style show this week. General plans will also be discussed for the coming administration and President Naman has several projects which he intends to submit to the directorate.

At the meeting Tuesday night, those having votes will be President Naman, Vice Presidents Perry Duncan, E. C. Blomeyer and A. G. Steele, Treasurer L. E. Bain and Directors J. J. Hutchison, J. M. Penland, J. W. Carlin, E. C. Street, Frank B. Tirey, D. P. Wallace, T. H. Williams, R. J. Windrow, C. P. Link and W. T. Wheeler. The directors elect the secretary.

dence was expressed by many of the conferees that there would be no eventual disagreement, because the traditional policy of the Latin-American governments in any event is to follow the lead of the United States on such questions.

Even those of the conferees who were doubtful themselves as to whether or not the recognition of General Carranza would be advisable, did not hesitate to indicate that if the United States reached such a decision there would be identical and unanimous action as heretofore.

The general opinion of those conferees who would express themselves was that the Carranza government was in the ascendancy from a military point of view and that unless unforeseen circumstances developed the requirements of "material capacity" would be satisfied, but whether or not the Carranza authorities possess the "moral capacity" for stable government is a quetsion which the conferees thought would lend itself to further study and consideration.

The emphasis placed in the formal statement that was issued after the conference on the unwillingness of any of the governments to interfere "directly or indirectly in the internal affairs of Mexico" resulted in many misinterpretations in Latin-America of the original purpose of the conference. The positive statement was added informally by one of the conferees that at no time was moral or physical intervention or the use of force contemplated to compel the factions to enter into an agreement if they themselves were unwilling to do so. The only alternative left, it was stated, was to select the faction which obtained military supremacy.

The situation that may result on the border because of the resentment which General Villa may feel because of the possible recognition of Carranza has been taken into consideration, but it was pointed out by one of the conferees that the Villa faction still has an opportunity to demonstrate the measure of its control and to present an argument as to why the Carranza government should not be recognized.

Secretary Lansing at the conclusion of today's conference sent a long communication to President Wilson, advising him of what had taken place and the members of the diplomatic corps returned to their respective homes. Mr. Lansing left here tonight with Mrs. Lansing for Henderson Harbor, N. Y., for a brief vacation. It is expected he will probably invite representatives of the various factions in Mexico to meet with him on his return to Washington.

U. S. Consul General Phillip Hanna Says Monterey Is Quiet

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 18.—Returning from the border after leaving here Thursday for Monterey after a month's visit to his home in Iowa, United States Consul General Philip Hanna for the northern district of Mexico tonight made this statement:

"Conditions in and around Monterey are better than they have been in a long time, while from a revolutionary standpoint all is quiet. The situation is improving rapidly and confidence is being restored. There is a good opportunity now for American business men in Monterey, especially for those who are acquainted with the situation."

During his sojourn in the United States it is known that Mr. Hanna sent several communications to Washington bearing on the situation in Mexico. Since reahing San Antonio Wednesday evening, it is known that he sent several telegraphic messages to Secretary Lansing relating to conditions in Mexico. It is believed these reports were given to the conference of Pan-American representatives in session in New York. Mr. Hanna was joined here by A. A. Stewart, secretary of the consulate, who came up from Mexico. Today he and his secretary were in conference with Carranza representatives here, but Mr. Hanna declined to discuss what was the matter discussed at the meeting. Carranza representatives said that the meeting was informal and Mexican matters were talked over generally and without official significance.

Demurrer to the State's Testimony in Trust Co. Case

Kansas City, Sept. 18.—A demurrer to the testimony of the prosecution was entered today by attorneys for the defense in the trial in the federal court here of George L. Davis, W. L. Moyer and John W. Beery, former officials of the defunct American Union Trust company, charged with using the mails to defraud.

The government rested its case early this afternoon and the jury was dismissed until Monday while the point of law was argued by counsel of both sides until adjournment.

In presenting their contentions the counsel for the defense affirmed the government had failed to connect the three defendants with any of the conceded frauds. They asserted their clients had entered the trust company after a condition of fraud had been prevailing.

Action probably will be taken on the application for the demurrer when court opens Monday.

Dr. Dumba Defends His Action in a Long Statement

New York, Sept. 18.—Dr. Constantin Theodor Dumba, Austrian-Hungarian ambassador to the United States, whose recall has been asked by this government because of his admitted proposal to instigate strikes in American munition plants, defends his actions in a lengthy letter sent to Secretary Lansing at Washington last Friday and made public by the ambassador here tonight.

Mr. Dumba protests against the request for his recall as unjust and complains of the restrictions imposed by this government upon his communications with his home government. He says that the diplomatic representatives of the allies in this country enjoy uncensored use of the cables, a privilege which is denied him. Mr. Dumba takes exception to Secretary Lansing's charge that he "confessed to having conspired to bring about strikes in American munition works," and declares that he has communicated with his government asking for a leave of absence that he may explain his position.

Douglas Property Brings Good Price

By a deal which was consummated yesterday, F. E. McLarty and W. H. McCullough became the owners of the southwest corner of Washington and Ninth streets, the Douglas Select school property, which is 100 feet square with a twelve-room house on the site.

Prof. S. A. Douglas sold the property for a consideration of $15,000, the deal being handled through Manchester & Ainsworth. It has been decided by Professor Douglas to stop teaching, at least for the present, as his work in this direction has impaired his health. He still has valuable holdings adjoining the property he sold to Messrs. McLarty and McCullough.

The corner which was sold yesterday is a prominent one, and is almost directly across Ninth street from the site chosen for the big building for headquarters of the Texas Telephone company on Ninth street. Ninth street is looking up as coming-in business property, and improvements contemplated at this point show that the next year or two will witness important changes. The new owners of the corner are considering the erection of permanent improvements at an early date.

Care of Kitchenware.

Never allow pots and pans, or dishes, either, to lie around the kitchen over night or even for several hours unwashed. Nothing attracts roaches and ants more quickly than scraps, nor is it good for the pots and pans to stand and let the dirt harden.

The longer pots and pans stay dirty the harder it is to clean them, so it pays in the end to put them under running water as soon as they are emptied and removed from the fire.

Bowls or pans which have held milk, eggs or flour should be rinsed out in cold water because hot water would cook the remains and make them cling to the receptacle.

The boiler in which cereal cooks is always messy to clean, but a little boiling water poured in and allow to stand will help wonderfully to remove the sticky scraps.

A burnt pan should be washed out with boiling water and soda, and be allowed to boil up for a while on the fire before being rinsed.

Tins, and indeed all metal cooking utensils should be laid out to dry on the range shelf for a while before being put away and by the way, even the most careful of cooks is apt to neglect her pot lids, yet these get caked and dusty just as do the pots to which they belong.

A pot once burnt on the bottom is prone to let its contents stick and burn again. Preserving kettles for instance, even with their enamel interiors, should be carefully watched for the mischief once done, subsequent preserves may scorch at any time.

Enamel utensils are pretty and clean looking, but they are spoiled if chipped or scratched, for not only do their stain, but they crack and break off if hard used. They should not be washed with soda, nor should aluminum pans.

A Natural Conclusion.

Pat was out of work, and anxiously asked all his friends if they knew where he could get a job.

"Well," replied one "I've just left the blacksmith down the road. But there's no good going there. No one can stay with him; he's too quick-tempered."

But Pat thought he would give him a trial. So he sallied along the road, and was engaged.

Immediately afterwards the blacksmith drew a red-hot horseshoe out of the fire, and laid it on the anvil. Without waiting for orders, Pat raised his hammer and gave the iron a hefty blow.

The blacksmith was mad with rage. First the red-hot iron, then his hammer went sailing through the window.

But before he could say anything Pat had seized the anvil and thrown it through the window.

"W-w-what did you do that for?" gasped the blacksmith, in angry surprise.

"Sure, now," replied Pat, with an engaging smile, "didn't I think we was going to work outside?"—New York Journal.

Travels "Lower Case."

Michael O'Hearne is back in Pittsburgh. If you don't know him you miss one of the finest original heavers of the well-known blarney. Mike crashed into our composing room yesterday, signaling for work. He carries a union card giving him the countersign to linotype anywhere in this neutral, in a manner of speaking, zone.

"Where are you from now?" acting Commodore Russell asked him.

"Washington, Oshkosh, Butler and Philadelphia, via San Francisco," Michael cannonaded.

Ty Cobb's Hitting Helps the Tigers

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Tyrus Cobb has recovered his batting eye, according to averages published here today. He is making his daily hit or two, and this work is of great help to the Tigers in their struggle to hold the Red Sox within overhauling distance in the American league pennant race. Although far from the .400 mark which he establish and held for so long earlier in the season, Ty has added 7 points to his mark of last week. He still is some fifty points in the lead with an average of .377. Tris Speaker of Boston is the runner up with .320 and Jackson of Chicago is next with .319.

Cobb's chances to establish a new batting mark for the season are slim, but he is almost certain to establish one new mark this year. He is only three bases shy of tying the American league stolen base record of 88 made by Milan of Washington in 1912. Cobb is leading the league with 85. He also leads in runs scored with 133 and number of hits made with 189. Detroit also claims another headliner in Crawford, who leads in total bases with 253. He has made 31 doubles, 19 triples and four homers.

Burns, another Tiger, who has been holding the lead in home runs, has been tied by Oldring of Philadelphia. Each has five. Detroit leads in club batting with .268.

The leading pitchers in the American are Foster, Boston, 18 won, 6 lost; Ruth, Boston, 16 and 6; Shore, Boston, 17 and 7.

Larry Doyle of New York continues to lead the National league batters, with 162 hits for an average of .319. Other leaders are; Luderus, Philadelphia, .316, and Snyder, St. Louis, .314.

Cravath leads in total runs scored with 79 and in total bases with 264, and also the home run column with 22. Carey of Pittsburg leads in stolen bases with 36. St. Louis is first in club batting with .359. The leading pitchers are: Toney, Cincinnati, 13 won, 4 lost; Alexander, Philadelphia, 27 and 9; Mamaux, Pittsburg, 20 and 7.

The leading batters of the Federal league are: Kauff, Brooklyn, .350; Magee, Brooklyn, .342; Fisher, Chicago, .322; Brooklyn leads in club batting with .271. Kauff leads in stolen bases; Magee, with 86, leads in total runs scored, and Hal Chase of Buffalo leads in total bases, with 252, and in home runs, with 17. The leading pitchers are: McConnell of Chicago, 22 won, 9 lost; F. Allen, Pittsburg, 21 and 10; Crandall, St. Louis, 18 and 10.

The .300 batters in the Southern association are: Hendrix of New Orleans, .331; Miller, Mobile, .319; Paulette, Nashville, .302; P. Allison of Memphis and Edmondson of New Orleans, tied with .301, and Burke, Mobile, 300.

New Orleans leads in club batting with .270; Mobile next with .251. Hendrix leads in runs scored with 107, and in total bases with .250. Thomas, New Orleans, leads in homers with 11 and in stolen bases with 44.

The leading pitchers in he Southern are: Cunningham, Chattanooga, 23 won and 12 lost; Weaver, New Orleans, 15 and 8; Smith, New Orleans, 20 and 11; Hogg, Mobile, 20 and 11; Black, Birmingham 18 and 11.

S. M. U. Football Crushed This Year

Dallas, Sept. 18.—The Texas Intercollegiate Athletic association this afternoon ruled that men from other colleges can not play on the Southern Methodist University football team if that team meets other association teams. This practically crushes the hopes of S. M. U. football enthusiasts this year.

DETROIT BUYS FAGAN.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 18.—Raymand Fagan, Oklahoma City right hand pitcher who led the Western Association this year with thirteen victories and no defeats, today signed a contract with the Detroit American league club.

Officials of the Oklahoma City club said Detroit probably also would get Shortstop P. J. Kilduff. Kilduff was considered by the association fans a far better fielder than Roger Hornsby, the Denison infielder who now is playing with the St. Louis Nationals.

Kilduff batted near the .300 mark, and made 19 home runs and thirty-five two-baggers this season.

Leaders in Both Big Leagues Hold Tight to Margins

New York, Sept. 18.—The efforts of clubs with pennant ambitions to cut down the handicap held by the leaders in both major leagues were of no avail today with the single exception of the Boston Nationals, who gained half a game by winning a double-header.

In what was probably the most sensational and bitterly fought contest of the season, the Boston Americans increased their margin of leadership to the three and a half games over the Detroits by winning from the Tigers in a twelve-inning one-run game.

The Red Sox now have taken two out of three games of the series from Detroit with the concluding game to be played Monday. Thus Jennings' hopes to narrow the margin separating his slugging Tigers from first place no longer can be entertained, for even should the Tigers win Monday's game they would leave Boston exactly the same distance ahead as they were when the series was begun—two and one-half games.

The strength of the Red Sox in the box and in the outfield proved insurmountable barriers to the onslaughts of the Tigers' renowned batters, with whom their fiery leader hoped to battle his way to the pennan which he has been striving for since 1909.

Baylor Squad Is Getting Into Shape

Yesterday marked the end of the first week of practice for the Bear football squad. With two good coaches in charge of forty-five good men, a large majority of whom have had experience, the chances for a strong Baylor aggregation seem exceedingly good. The men have been taking two practices a day, in spite of some interference on account of weather conditions and are getting in fair condition, though the weather has as yet been too hot for hard workouts.

Coach Balenti has spent the week working out his backfield men, whom he has had kicking, punting and trying field goals. Balenti was a famous Carlisle kicker in 1908, and he is imparting some of his knowledge and skill to the Baptist backs.

Mosley, the Baylor graduate coach, who has charge of the line, had the men running, falling on the ball and receiving passes, and but for the rain yesterday would have put them to tackling the dummy. This means that a great deal of the preliminary work has been gone through with, and that pretty soon the squad will be running signals and learning what sort of a game Mosley and Balenti are going to train them in this year.

The alumni and students who have been watching practice are very enthusiastic and declare they are pleased with the prospects for 1915.

CAPTAIN RICHARD AGAIN WINNER.

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 18.—Capt. W. H. Richard of the Winchester Rifle and Gun club, successfully defended the Libbey trophy, which he won last year, by repeating his victory over a field of 99 riflemen today. He scored 97 to 1100 yards.

LAST BASEBALL AVERAGES OF THE SEASON FOR TEXAS LEAGUE ISSUED

WACO LEADS IN CLUB BATTING—WALTERS TOPS LEAGUE IN HITTING, FOLLOWED BY JAMES, WACO'S RIGHT FIELDER—STOWE OF FORT WORTH SURPRISINGLY HIGH IN SAFETIES.

The last batch of averages for the season, including all games, has been issued from the office of President W. R. Davidson. Al Walters of the Waco club finished the season on top, followed by Jesse James, right fielder of the Navigators. Walters hit .325 and James .313.

The averages probably were issued after the season's records were carefully gone over, but there are some figures showing unusual reversal of form. One might be noted in the hitting of Stowe, shortstop for Fort Worth, now with the Oakland club. Stowe is a notably weak hitter, though one of the best base stealers in any league. The last records show him hitting .289, about 50 points more than was to have been expected. Tanner hit .282.

Waco led in hitting, as was to be expected. Beaumont followed. Strange to say, the San Antonio club, which finished second, was sixth in hitting.

The Supremacy of Sanger Millinery is More Pronounced in Our Fall Displays Than Ever Before

The supremacy of the Sanger Store as a center for high class, exclusive and distinctive Millinery and at moderate prices, is more strongly emphasized in the displays of new Hats for Fall 1915 than ever before. In the exclusiveness of our Hats, in the immensity of our showing, in the high character of the styles and in the low pricing; in all these important features the showing for Fall in our Millinery Department demonstrates the power and the capacity of the Sanger Store to serve to the best advantage.

Beautiful models are here from every style source, and among them are many smart and becoming creations from the hands of our own artist designers, that show the inspiration of the cleverest of the new ideas brought forth by the world's most noted designers and which ideas our own people have admirably interpreted.

The showing is so large and the individuality of the styles so pronounced as to make detailed description an impossibility. Prominent in the displays are the Pagoda Hat, the Priscilla Hat, Tricorne Toques, oddly shaped small Hats, large Russian Turbans, Hats that are artistically draped with Smocking, Shirring, smart styles with Coque, Gold and Silver ornaments with Fur interlaced. Applique Molfs of Velvet or Silk sewed flatly on Hat drape and portraying one of the newest fancies of Dame Fashion.
